Mellon Replies To Statement About Guffey

Former Secretary Of Treasury Gives Details Of Guffey Transaction

ASSERTS PINCHOT IS MISINFORMED

Mellon Underwrote $75,000 Of Money Used To Save Guffey

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 19.—Andrew W. Mellon, former secretary of the U. S. treasury, gave a detailed reply today to charges by Gov. Gifford Pinchot that Mellon loaned Joseph F. Guffey, Democratic senatorial nominee, money to make a cash payment to the federal government.

Mellon's statement follows:

"Governor Pinchot has evidently been misinformed. Mr. Guffey does not owe me any money and has never owed me any.

"What happened was that Judge Reed, the father of Senator (David A.) Reed, called at my house on a Sunday morning, shortly before I was to leave for Washington to become secretary of the treasury on March 4, 1921. Judge Reed informed me of the difficulty in which Mr. Guffey had become involved in his accounts in the alien property custodian's office. He told me that while Guffey had turned over all his own and his sisters' investments, there was not time for them to be liquidated as cash must be provided immediately if the settlement which Guffey had made with the government was to be concluded before the Wilson administration ended, in a few days' time. Also, Guffey's total assets were not sufficient to raise the sum required without a further guarantee of $150,000.00, which Judge Reed said he would himself underwrite, but felt that he could not afford to risk so large a sum. He asked if I would join him to the extent of underwriting half this amount, or $75,000.00, which I did.

"The liquidation of the Guffey securities eventually provided sufficient funds to cover the sum Judge

Gas Station Bandits Who Made Stop Here Had Abducted Youth

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 19.—Acting on the short-lived kidnaping of an Akron, O., youth, police officials here today went into swift action when it appeared for a time that they had crossed the trail of Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., fugitive kidnaper of Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll, Louisville society leader.

Teletype messages were flashed throughout Pennsylvania and relayed through five eastern states warning all authorities to be on the lookout for two men who kidnaped James Snider, 21, former Akron university student and son of an insurance official, and brought him to Pittsburgh.

Snider, kidnaped at gun-point as he was sitting in his auto in Akron last night, spiked first beliefs that one of his abductors was the Stoll kidnaper. Shown a picture of Robinson, the youth said the picture did not resemble either of his captors.

Snider said the two men held up a filling station on the Butler road near New Castle, Pa., before arriving here where they forced him to leave his car.

Snider could give no reason for his abduction.

Have Conference On Sewer Plans

Union Township Project Is Discussed At Council Meeting Today

Council and a committee of residents from Union township conferred during councilmanic session at city hall today relative to the request of the township to be permitted to connect their sewer system, when built by the RWD, with the sanitary sewer system of the city.

After some discussion Attorney Rufus McKinley and Union township Engineer Harvey Milholland agreed to the city's request that the plan which they arrived at a rate they would like to pay for the privilege be presented to council for the latter's study.

According to the plan of City Engineer Harry Hoskins the city would charge an annual rate of $7.65 for each property which had a sewer connection in Union township.

Harvey Milholland, engineer for the township, advocated the city charging a flat price of about $28.00, for a 40 foot front lot and thereafter the charge per year on any one sewer connection would be about $1.85.

Hoskins said that he had compiled a survey which showed that the sewer system, plant, maintenance and carrying charge on the investment cost each taxpayer in the city $7.65.

The Union township committee was asked to reduce to writing their plan which they agreed to do in the near future.

They got out of the car after he had put the gasoline in the tank and screwed on the cap they pointed a revolver at him.

Dixon was forced into the gasoline station and one of the men rifled the cash register of $4.00.

BELGRADE, Oct. 19.—The mortar that sealed King Alexander's tomb had hardly dried today when rulers and ministers plunged into their favorite sports of juggling international power.

Herman Goering, Prussian chancellor under Hitler, loomed large after months of comparative retirement. He is calling on Dowager Queen Marie of Yugoslavia this afternoon, then conferring with Premier Nikola Usonovitch and Foreign Minister Bogoljub Yefitch.

King Carol, after Yugoslavia's day of deep mourning ended at midnight, called a conference of all the members of the little entente and signatories of the Balkan Pact, except Yugoslavia.

Tension between Yugoslavia and Hungary due to Yugoslavia's belief that Hungary harbored Croatian terrorists, was discussed.

Goering's flight from Berlin and his activities here have led to the conviction in informed circles that he possesses broad authority to act on behalf of Hitler. Germany is known to be wooing Yugoslavia away from French influence following the assassination of Foreign Minister Louis Barthou, who sought to weld a chain around Germany to keep the Reich within bounds.

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Oct. 19.—There must not be such a thing in this country as what you would call an "amateur crook." Every person that is caught in some terrible crime, you find where he has been "paroled, pardoned and pampered" by every jail or insane asylum in the country.

Some of these criminals' records and the places they have been freed from, sounds like the tour of a "one night stand theatrical troop.

It must be awfully "monotonous" belonging to one of these state pardon boards. There is days and days when they just have to sit around waiting for new "criminals to be caught," so they can pardon 'em.

Roosevelt On Virginia Tour

By EUGENE J. CADOU
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—President Roosevelt today began a Virginia tour during which he will dedicate a veterans bureau hospital at Roanoke and receive a degree from the college of William and Mary at Williamsburg.

Although word from the White House was to the effect that no mention would be made of the bonus issue which agitated the American Legion national convention at Miami, Fla., there was some belief that the president would make a veiled reference to the bonus situation.

New Hospital.

The new institution is a neuro-psychiatric hospital for 472 patients, located two miles west of Roanoke. On a site containing 445 acres, 16 buildings are being erected, the style of architecture being an adaptation of the late 17th century Virginia colonial type.

After the ceremonies at Roanoke, the president will go to Williamsburg, Va., where tomorrow he will receive an honorary degree along with Governor Peery.

Williamsburg was founded in 1633 and was the first capital of Virginia until the seat of government was moved to Richmond in 1779. Its college was founded in 1693.

Will Go Fishing.

One of the chief reasons for the attendance of President Roosevelt at the ceremony was the inauguration

Gold Standard Bloc Conference At Brussels

(International News Service)

BRUSSELS, Oct. 19.—Representatives of six nations that have clung to the gold standard met today in what is believed to be a last desperate effort to maintain the gold bloc which, financiers say, is showing signs of breaking up.

France, Keystone of the gold bloc, is understood to face the problem of whether to watch financially weak Belgium and Holland slide off the gold standard, or dig into the French coffers and buy more goods from those countries, in spite of France's inability to absorb her own produce.

Italy, Switzerland, and Luxemburg are the other nations in the gold group, while Poland also intends to be represented.

Any practical measures which would have the effect of forcing Great Britain and the United States back on the gold standard would be welcomed enthusistically by the gold bloc delegates.

Paris, Oct. 19.—France will seek a formula modifying the most-favored nation clause in trade treaties in an effort to benefit the gold bloc nations, it was learned today.

At the same time, France plans to start a world-wide campaign for a general return to the gold standard.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—President Roosevelt today began a Virginia tour during which he will dedicate a veterans bureau hospital at Roanoke and receive a degree from the college of William and Mary at Williamsburg.

Although word from the White House was to the effect that no mention would be made of the bonus issue which agitated the American Legion national convention at Miami, Fla., there was some belief that the president would make a veiled reference to the bonus situation.

Gold Standard Bloc Conference At Brussels

(International News Service)

BRUSSELS, Oct. 19.—Representatives of six nations that have clung to the gold standard met today in what is believed to be a last desperate effort to maintain the gold bloc which, financiers say, is showing signs of breaking up.

France, Keystone of the gold bloc, is understood to face the problem of whether to watch financially weak Belgium and Holland slide off the gold standard, or dig into the French coffers and buy more goods from those countries, in spite of France's inability to absorb her own produce.

Italy, Switzerland, and Luxemburg are the other nations in the gold group, while Poland also intends to be represented.

Any practical measures which would have the effect of forcing Great Britain and the United States back on the gold standard would be welcomed enthusistically by the gold bloc delegates.

Paris, Oct. 19.—France will seek a formula modifying the most-favored nation clause in trade treaties in an effort to benefit the gold bloc nations, it was learned today.

At the same time, France plans to start a world-wide campaign for a general return to the gold standard.

Mellon Replies To Statement About Guffey

ASSERTS PINCHOT IS MISINFORMED

Mellon Underwrote $75,000 Of Money Used To Save Guffey

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 19.—Andrew W. Mellon, former secretary of the U. S. treasury, gave a detailed reply today to charges by Gov. Gifford Pinchot that Mellon loaned Joseph F. Guffey, Democratic senatorial nominee, money to make a cash payment to the federal government.

Mellon's statement follows:

"Governor Pinchot has evidently been misinformed. Mr. Guffey does not owe me any money and has never owed me any.

"What happened was that Judge Reed, the father of Senator (David A.) Reed, called at my house on a Sunday morning, shortly before I was to leave for Washington to become secretary of the treasury on March 4, 1921. Judge Reed informed me of the difficulty in which Mr. Guffey had become involved in his accounts in the alien property custodian's office. He told me that while Guffey had turned over all his own and his sisters' investments, there was not time for them to be liquidated as cash must be provided immediately if the settlement which Guffey had made with the government was to be concluded before the Wilson administration ended, in a few days' time. Also, Guffey's total assets were not sufficient to raise the sum required without a further guarantee of $150,000.00, which Judge Reed said he would himself underwrite, but felt that he could not afford to risk so large a sum. He asked if I would join him to the extent of underwriting half this amount, or $75,000.00, which I did.

"The liquidation of the Guffey securities eventually provided sufficient funds to cover the sum Judge

Gas Station Bandits Who Made Stop Here Had Abducted Youth

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 19.—Acting on the short-lived kidnaping of an Akron, O., youth, police officials here today went into swift action when it appeared for a time that they had crossed the trail of Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., fugitive kidnaper of Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll, Louisville society leader.

Teletype messages were flashed throughout Pennsylvania and relayed through five eastern states warning all authorities to be on the lookout for two men who kidnaped James Snider, 21, former Akron university student and son of an insurance official, and brought him to Pittsburgh.

Snider, kidnaped at gun-point as he was sitting in his auto in Akron last night, spiked first beliefs that one of his abductors was the Stoll kidnaper. Shown a picture of Robinson, the youth said the picture did not resemble either of his captors.

Snider said the two men held up a filling station on the Butler road near New Castle, Pa., before arriving here where they forced him to leave his car.

Snider could give no resason for his abduction.

Have Conference On Sewer Plans

Union Township Project Is Discussed At Council Meeting Today

Council and a committee of residents from Union township conferred during councilmanic session at city hall today relative to the request of the township to be permitted to connect their sewer system, when built by the RWD, with the sanitary sewer system of the city.

After some discussion Attorney Rufus McKinley and Union township Engineer Harvey Milholland agreed to the city's request that the plan which they arrived at a rate they would like to pay for the privilege be presented to council for the latter's study.

According to the plan of City Engineer Harry Hoskins the city would charge an annual rate of $7.65 for each property which had a sewer connection in Union township.

Harvey Milholland, engineer for the township, advocated the city charging a flat price of about $28.00, for a 40 foot front lot and thereafter the charge per year on any one sewer connection would be about $1.85.

Hoskins said that he had compiled a survey which showed that the sewer system, plant, maintenance and carrying charge on the investment cost each taxpayer in the city $7.65.

The Union township committee was asked to reduce to writing their plan which they agreed to do in the near future.

They got out of the car after he had put the gasoline in the tank and screwed on the cap they pointed a revolver at him.

Dixon was forced into the gasoline station and one of the men rifled the cash register of $4.00.

Burial Of King Starts Parleys To Gain Advantage

BELGRADE, Oct. 19.—The mortar that sealed King Alexander's tomb had hardly dried today when rulers and ministers plunged into their favorite sports of juggling international power.

Herman Goering, Prussian chancellor under Hitler, loomed large after months of comparative retirement. He is calling on Dowager Queen Marie of Yugoslavia this afternoon, then conferring with Premier Nikola Usonovitch and Foreign Minister Bogoljub Yeftitch.

King Carol, after Yugoslavia's day of deep mourning ended at midnight, called a conference of all the members of the little entente and signatories of the Balkan Pact, except Yugoslavia.

Tension between Yugoslavia and Hungary due to Yugoslavia's belief that Hungary harbored Croatian terrorists, was discussed.

Goering's flight from Berlin and his activities here have led to the conviction in informed circles that he possesses broad authority to act on behalf of Hitler. Germany is known to be wooing Yugoslavia away from French influence following the assassination of Foreign Minister Louis Barthou, who sought to weld a chain around Germany to keep the Reich within bounds.

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Oct. 19.—There must not be such a thing in this country as what you would call an "amateur crook." Every person that is caught in some terrible crime, you find where he has been "paroled, pardoned and pampered" by every jail or insane asylum in the country.

Some of these criminals' records and the places they have been freed from, sounds like the tour of a "one night stand theatrical troop.

It must be awfully "monotonous" belonging to one of these state pardon boards. There is days and days when they just have to sit around waiting for new "criminals to be caught," so they can pardon 'em.

I try to get a concertor a team of comic chaps, I like to hear the arguing that goes with minstrel scraps. I twist the dials right and left but all I seem to reach is the load of old baloney in some candidating speech. I hear McGloopus tear his hair out there in Iowa, and in New York some speaker wots the world is dark and gray, and in the south or west or north I get the same darn thing, some good old tripe served up in style, with wordy garnishing. Ah me I'll bless the happy day when all returns are in, when I can get some music when my dials I tune in, but that will not be till next month, till then we're in the fix of hearing politics on the air, the weather's fifty six.

New Issues For Women's Clubs

Mrs. John M. Phillips Urges Support Of Sterilization And Birth Control

MENTIONS BOTH IN INAUGURAL

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 19.—A demand by Mrs. John M. Phillips of Pittsburgh, their newly elected president, for support for sterilization and birth control, issues heretofore avoided by the organization, today confronted delegates at the final day of the 39th annual convention of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women.

Mrs. Phillips, the first president in the history of the federation to take such a stand, in her inaugural address last night declared:

"We can no longer avoid the issue of sterilization. It has been a taboo subject long enough. Again we must have the open-mindedness and the intelligence to recognize facts and conditions and begin to cope with them. It is alarming to see our race being depleted in the ranks of our best stock and being replenished with the less desirable at a rapid rate.

Wise, Sane Bill

"When a wise, sane, carefully drafted bill to prevent the feebleminded, degenerates, sexual perverts and the criminally insane from reproducing themselves, is before the legislature, let us put the whole strength of our organization back of it."

On the subject of birth control Mrs. Phillips said:

"Economic conditions make birth control imperative for all classes. It is absurd for thinking women to sit silently and idly by, while doctors and legislators, priests and preachers fuss and squabble over a law which has to do primarily with us. Women are the sufferers from this insane practice of not making information obtainable under regulated conditions."

Bethlehem was chosen for the 1935 meeting place.

Other officers elected and inaugurated were: Mrs. E. C. Barnes, Corry, second vice president; Miss Rebecca Scofield, Warren, northwest district president.

Departmental chairmen appointed were: Mrs. S .D. Pearson, New Castle, garden; Mrs. W. T. Ryman, Girard, literature; Mrs. E. C. Barnes, Corry, citizenship.

ROBINSON KEEPS ONE JUMP AHEAD OF U. S. OFFICERS

While his son continued to slip through the meshes of a far-flung federal net, Thomas H. Robinson, Sr., conferred with legal counsel today on a fight against removal to Kentucky on a federal charge of complicity in the $50,000 ransom kidnaping of Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll.

The gray haired father of the crack-pot Nashville youth who abducted the Kentucky society matron from her Louisville home was released under $25,000 bond last night after being arraigned before United States Commissioner Julian Campbell.

Robinson's former employer, Art J. Dyer, executive of a bridge company, and a Nashville insurance man signed the bond, reduced from $50,000 when Robinson's attorney indicated the larger bond could not be met.

Hearing on the federal attempt to remove the elder Robinson to Kentucky was set for October 26.

Close On Trail

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 19—The cunning of Thomas H. Robinson, Jr. kidnaper of Mrs. Alice Stoll was pitted today against the police skill of Melvin Purvis, U. S. Department of Justice ace who hunted John Dillinger to his death.

For the second time, Robinson, a youthful crack-pot abductor, succeeded at least temporarily in evading the fine-spun net spread out by federal agents, in charge of Purvis.

The government investigators aided by state police, combed Ohio where the former college student was seen at Springfield.

A report that a youth, looking sleepless and nervous, had been seen in a restaurant at Russellville, O. caused a heavy detail of armed agents to descend on the town.

Rich but poor in the possession of tell-tale notes of the $50,000 ransom he collected, Robinson was believed to be hungry, desperate and haggard.

Original Car Abandoned

For three days, since he fled after releasing Mrs. Stoll, Robinson has been but a stone's throw ahead of the federal agents on his trail.

The fugitive was thought to be driving a Ford coupe with an Indiana license plate. The machine in which he perpetrated the kidnaping of the wealthy Louisville woman and in which he escaped was found abandoned in Springfield, O. three witnesses identified him as having been in the latter city.

Every automobile was being searched in southeastern Ohio and all roads were patroiled.

The searchers were warned to expect a battle as Robinson was armed. His past history, a record of arrests for burglary and violent attacks in Nashville, with commitment to an insane asylum, suggested he would fight it out if cornered.

Mrs. Robinson In Jail

Meanwhile, Mrs. Frances Robinson, wife of the hunted kidnaper, remained in jail here charged with being an accomplice.

Her father-in-law, Thomas H. Robinson, Sr., under a similar charge in Nashville, Tenn., was free when he put up a $25,000 bond.

Mrs. Robinson, in a highly hysterical condition, declared she was being made the "goat" in the crime and that she had delivered the ransom money to her husband under an arrangement with federal agents and Tennessee state officials. However, Federal authorities denied that Mrs. Robinson had been acting under their instructions.

Schnader Says He Is Standing In His Own Shoes

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19.—His assertion that he is "not a Pinchot candidate" nor a candidate of any other faction was left with thousands of Philadelphia voters today by Attorney General William A. Schnader, running for the governorship on the Republican ticket.

Intensifying his energetic drive for votes, Schnader addressed two political rallies in this city last night. To one assemblage he declared:

"I am not a Mellon candidate, I am not a Grundy candidate and I am not a Pinchot candidate."

These words were uttered at almost the same time that Governor Gifford Pinchot was reiterating in a sensational speech at Charleroi his plea for Schnader's election on November 6.

"I am standing in my own shoes," the Republican gubernatorial nominee asserted. "I announced my candidacy long before I knew that any of those men would support me."

In the course of his speeches here Schnader assailed his Democratic rival, George H. Earle, and the Democratic senatorial candidate, Joseph F. Guffey, for allegedly "posing" as friends of organized labor.

He reiterated his charge that Earle's refusal to attend the relief conference in New York last summer was directly responsible for the calling of a special session of the legislature, which will cost Pennsylvania's taxpayers $14,400,000.

Drunken Man Swings Knife; Cuts Youth

City Police Arrest Mike Vonaski Following Moravia Street Affray

City police today arrested Mike Vonaski who is charged with inflicting a knife wound on the right forearm of Mike Budai, aged 19, of 109 Miller street, Thursday evening about 11:00 o'clock, on Moravia street, near Gardner avenue.

Following the affray, the youth was removed to the New Castle hospital where the wound received treatment. The young man was able to return to his home Thursday night. According to several eye witnesses, Vonaski, who was intoxicated, was walking along Moravia street swinging a knife. As the man approached Gardner avenue, where a crowd was present, he continued his swinging act, cutting Budai.

Early this morning a warrant was sworn out against Vonaski in the office of Alderman J. Lee Cooper, by Budai's parents.

Install Radiators At New Post Office

Installation of heating radiators had been started at the city's new post office on the diamond today.

Other workmen continued their tasks of installing finish marble and terrazza work and the installation of office woodwork. An aluminum lobby screen was being erected and finish brickwork was being cleaned.

Within a short time, it was thought, the contractors, A. W. Kutsche & Company, will furnish the government with information which will guide the treasury department in the establishment of a dedication date.

Free Parking For Patrons Of Penn Theatre

Cars Will Be Parked Three Hours In Big Garage By New Plan

The Penn theatre announced today thru its manager, M. D. Cohn, a free parking service for both local and out of town patrons.

Arrangements have been made with the Lawrence Auto Co., located at the corner of South and South Mercer street, to park cars of the Penn theatre patrons.

Parking checks are to be taken to the theatre cashier whose stamp will entitle the car owner to three hours free parking, day or night, in the fireproof, steam heated garage of the Lawrence Auto Co.

According to Mr. Cohn, the Penn theatre manager, the congested parking conditions in New Castle, particularly on Saturdays, was the reason for making this special privilege available to the theatre's patrons. Out of town and local patrons will have ample time to see a show and do their shopping in the three-hour limit of the free parking courtesy.

The Lawrence Auto Co. has increased its floor service force in order to be able to efficiently handle the many parkers who attend the theatre. Twenty-four hour oil, gas and repair service will give garage patrons all of their requirements while shopping in New Castle and attending the theatre.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 19—The cunning of Thomas H. Robinson, Jr. kidnaper of Mrs. Alice Stoll was pitted today against the police skill of Melvin Purvis, U. S. Department of Justice ace who hunted John Dillinger to his death.

For the second time, Robinson, a youthful crack-pot abductor, succeeded at least temporarily in evading the fine-spun net spread out by federal agents, in charge of Purvis.

The government investigators aided by state police, combed Ohio where the former college student was seen at Springfield.

A report that a youth, looking sleepless and nervous, had been seen in a restaurant at Russellville, O. caused a heavy detail of armed agents to descend on the town.

Rich but poor in the possession of tell-tale notes of the $50,000 ransom he collected, Robinson was believed to be hungry, desperate and haggard.

Original Car Abandoned

For three days, since he fled after releasing Mrs. Stoll, Robinson has been but a stone's throw ahead of the federal agents on his trail

The fugitive was thought to be driving a Ford coupe with an Indiana license plate. The machine in which he perpetrated the kidnaping of the wealthy Louisville woman and in which he escaped was found abandoned in Springfield, O. three witnesses identified him as having been in the latter city.

Every automobile was being searched in southeastern Ohio and all roads were patroled.

The searchers were warned to expect a battle as Robinson was armed. His past history, a record of arrests for burglary and violent attacks in Nashville, with commitment to an insane asylum, suggested he would fight it out if cornered.

Mrs. Robinson In Jail

Meanwhile, Mrs. Frances Robinson, wife of the hunted kidnaper, remained in jail here charged with being an accomplice.

Her father-in-law, Thomas H. Robinson, Sr., under a similar charge in Nashville, Tenn., was free when he put up a $25,000 bond.

Mrs. Robinson, in a highly hysterical condition, declared she was being made the "goat" in the crime and that she had delivered the ransom money to her husband under an arrangement with federal agents and Tennessee state officials. However, Federal authorities denied that Mrs. Robinson had been acting under their instructions.

Schnader Says He Is Standing In His Own Shoes

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19.—His assertion that he is "not a Pinchot candidate" nor a candidate of any other faction was left with thousands of Philadelphia voters today by Attorney General William A. Schnader, running for the governorship on the Republican ticket.

Intensifying his energetic drive for votes, Schnader addressed two political rallies in this city last night. To one assemblage he declared:

"I am not a Mellon candidate, I am not a Grundy candidate and I am not a Pinchot candidate."

These words were uttered at almost the same time that Governor Gifford Pinchot was reiterating in a sensational speech at Charleroi his plea for Schnader's election on November 6.

"I am standing in my own shoes," the Republican gubernatorial nominee asserted. "I announced my candidacy long before I knew that any of those men would support me."

In the course of his speeches here Schnader assailed his Democratic rival, George H. Earle, and the Democratic senatorial candidate, Joseph F. Guffey, for allegedly "posing" as friends of organized labor.

He reiterated his charge that Earle's refusal to attend the relief conference in New York last summer was directly responsible for the calling of a special session of the legislature, which will cost Pennsylvania's taxpayers $14,400,000.

Free Parking For Patrons Of Penn Theatre

Cars Will Be Parked Three Hours In Big Garage By New Plan

The Penn theatre announced today thru its manager, M. D. Cohn, a free parking service for both local and out of town patrons.

Arrangements have been made with the Lawrence Auto Co., located at the corner of South and South Mercer street, to park cars of the Penn theatre patrons.

Parking checks are to be taken to the theatre cashier whose stamp will entitle the car owner to three hours free parking, day or night, in the fireproof, steam heated garage of the Lawrence Auto Co.

According to Mr. Cohn, the Penn theatre manager, the congested parking conditions in New Castle, particularly on Saturdays, was the reason for making this special privilege available to the theatre's patrons. Out of town and local patrons will have ample time to see a show and do their shopping in the three-hour limit of the free parking courtesy.

The Lawrence Auto Co. has increased its floor service force in order to be able to efficiently handle the many parkers who attend the theatre. Twenty-four hour oil, gas and repair service will give garage patrons all of their requirements while shopping in New Castle and attending the theatre.

MELLON REPLIES TO STATEMENT ABOUT GUFFEY

Reed and I had guaranteed, so that I was never called upon to pay any money.

"Judge Reed's reason for helping Guffey was because of his friendship for Guffey and his sisters. Guffey had been for many years an officer of the Philadelphia company, of which Judge Reed was president. Judge Reed was a very kind-hearted man and was moved to help Guffey in the very serious predicament in which Guffey found himself.

"My only reason for coming into the situation was because Judge Reed asked it and I have a very high esteem for him. I had no reason to do it so far as Guffey was concerned, as I had had no personal or business relations with him then, nor have I had any since."

Wimer Suggests City Inventory

Wants Council To Suggest That RWD Make Inventory Of City Property

City Controller Earl Wimer today recommended in a communication to council at their meeting in city hall that the city take an inventory of all city property. He said none had been taken in recent years and said the work might be included as an RWD "white collar" project. Should this be done, he said he would be able to show the city's assets and liabilities at the end of the year.

The communication was sent to committee.

New Issues For Women's Clubs

Mrs. John M. Phillips Urges Support Of Sterilization And Birth Control

MENTIONS BOTH IN INAUGURAL

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 19.—A demand by Mrs. John M. Phillips of Pittsburgh, their newly elected president, for support for sterilization and birth control, issues heretofore avoided by the organization, today confronted delegates at the final day of the 39th annual convention of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women.

Mrs. Phillips, the first president in the history of the federation to take such a stand, in her inaugural address last night declared:

"We can no longer avoid the issue of sterilization. It has been a taboo subject long enough. Again we must have the open-mindedness and the intelligence to recognize facts and conditions and begin to cope with them. It is alarming to see our race being depleted in the ranks of our best stock and being replenished with the less desirable at a rapid rate.

Wise, Sane Bill

"When a wise, sane, carefully drafted bill to prevent the feebleminded, degenerates, sexual perverts and the criminally insane from reproducing themselves, is before the legislature, let us put the whole strength of our organization back of it."

On the subject of birth control Mrs. Phillips said:

"Economic conditions make birth control imperative for all classes. It is absurd for thinking women to sit silently and idly by, while doctors and legislators, priests and preachers fuss and squabble over a law which has to do primarily with us. Women are the sufferers from this insane practice of not making information obtainable under regulated conditions."

Bethlehem was chosen for the 1935 meeting place.

Other officers elected and inaugurated were: Mrs. E. C. Barnes, Corry, second vice president; Miss Rebecca Scofield, Warren, northwest district president.

Departmental chairmen appointed were: Mrs. S .D. Pearson, New Castle, garden; Mrs. W. T. Ryman, Girard, literature; Mrs. E. C. Barnes, Corry, citizenship.

While his son continued to slip through the meshes of a far-flung federal net, Thomas H. Robinson, Sr., conferred with legal counsel today on a fight against removal to Kentucky on a federal charge of complicity in the $50,000 ransom kidnaping of Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll.

The gray haired father of the crack-pot Nashville youth who abducted the Kentucky society matron from her Louisville home was released under $25,000 bond last night after being arraigned before United States Commissioner Julian Campbell.

Robinson's former employer, Art J. Dyer, executive of a bridge company, and a Nashville insurance man signed the bond, reduced from $50,000 when Robinson's attorney indicated the larger bond could not be met.

Hearing on the federal attempt to remove the elder Robinson to Kentucky was set for October 26.

Free Parking For Patrons Of Penn Theatre

Cars Will Be Parked Three Hours In Big Garage By New Plan

The Penn theatre announced today thru its manager, M. D. Cohn, a free parking service for both local and out of town patrons.

Arrangements have been made with the Lawrence Auto Co., located at the corner of South and South Mercer street, to park cars of the Penn theatre patrons.

Parking checks are to be taken to the theatre cashier whose stamp will entitle the car owner to three hours free parking, day or night, in the fireproof, steam heated garage of the Lawrence Auto Co.

According to Mr. Cohn, the Penn theatre manager, the congested parking conditions in New Castle, particularly on Saturdays, was the reason for making this special privilege available to the theatre's patrons. Out of town and local patrons will have ample time to see a show and do their shopping in the three-hour limit of the free parking courtesy.

The Lawrence Auto Co. has increased its floor service force in order to be able to efficiently handle the many parkers who attend the theatre. Twenty-four hour oil, gas and repair service will give garage patrons all of their requirements while shopping in New Castle and attending the theatre.

The second part was based on the topic, Music, Artists and Composers of Pennsylvania, by Miss Margaret Guy. Miss Evelyn Mitchell discussed Literature, and Center of Culture.

The November meeting will be on the first, at the home of Miss Katherine Elder, on Moody avenue. Miss Marjorie Wettich will arrange the program.

MARY COOPER TO WED JAMES W. PRINGLE

At a charmingly appointed card party, Thursday evening, in her home on Meyer avenue, Mrs. Harvey T. Cooper announced the engagement of her daughter, Mary, to James W. Pringle, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Pringle, Sr., of Tarentum, Pa.

The interesting news was revealed at luncheon time, following a delightful period of 500, at which Miss Hilda Mackey, Mrs. Harry Hildebrand and Mrs. Russell Muder, won pretty trophies.

Baby breath and Talisman roses, effectively combined, centered the dining table, and the places were marked with Talisman rose buds, to which were tied tiny cards bearing the names, "Mary-Lefty." It was further disclosed that November will be the wedding month.

Pink and white tints were used in appointments, with tall pink tapers, in crystal holders, shedding candlelight. Aides were another daughter of the hostess, Dorothy Cooper, and Mrs. P. L. Reeher. A shower of beautiful and useful gifts was tendered the bride-elect as a later feature.

Miss Cooper is a graduate of the New Castle high school and is identified with the Universal Sanitary Mfg. company. Mr. Pringle has been a resident of New Castle for some time, being connected with the Johnson Bronze company.

A lovely affair of Thursday evening that conveys news of wide interest, was a party given by Mrs. William Milsom, in her home on the Youngstown road, in honor of her sister, Mary Ellen Fulkerson, announcing her marriage to Ransford Riddle. The news comes as a surprise to their many friends.

The occasion was in the form of a bridge featured with a shower. Three tables of cards were in play with Mrs. Edward Rainey and Mrs. Clarence Porter winning honors for which they were presented with lovely prizes.

At a fitting time, the guest of honor, Mrs. Riddle, was presented with a number of beautiful gifts of a miscellaneous nature. News of the marriage was cleverly revealed, stating the ceremony was performed on December 27, 1931 at Sharon, Pa., with the Rev. Charles Lundt, officiating.

Mrs. Riddle is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Fulkerson, Pine street, this city, and Mr. Riddle is the son of Mrs. Mary Riddle of the Wilmington road. The former is affiliated with the New Castle Dry Goods Company, and the latter attended Allegheny College and is now in his last year at Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia. Both are graduates of the local High School.

In the neighborhood of forty members of the Little Flower club gathered, surprise fashion, Thursday evening, in the home at 304 South Walnut street, of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mulcahy, nee Mary Woods, in honor of their recent wedding.

An elegant midnight lunch was served by a committee, composed of Mrs. Joseph Carrigan, Mrs. Belle Murphy, Mrs. Fred Flynn, Misses Elizabeth Meegan and Carrie Anderson. Mrs. W. Robinson of Youngstown, was among the guests.

PREMATURE HALLOWE'EN CELEBRATION

MANY auto and store windows are presenting mute evidence that Hallowe'en again is being celebrated ahead of schedule.

The soaping of windows may not cause any serious damage, but the practice certainly provokes the ire of auto owners and store proprietors and puts them to considerable inconvenience.

In some instances, however, the perpetrators smear the soap on the paint of the cars, and anyone who has had the experience of trying to remove it knows that is no easy matter, and the efforts are not always successful and that the cars are damaged.

Parents of most of those who are guilty of the offense probably have cars of their own and a warning that the golden rule is applicable in this case might have a good effect.

Police promise drastic action if perpetrators are caught.

A RECORD VOTE ANTICIPATED

More than four million citizens of this state are qualified to vote at the November election, we are informed by a news item. And it is estimated that of the registration about three million of them will exercise their right of franchise and cast ballots.

That will establish a very commendable record. But it would be much better if all of the four million, with the exception of the few who will be confined to their homes by illness on election day, should go to the polls, and prove the estimators too conservative in their predictions.

CHASING THE RAINBOW

The world bears a great deal of the few who make good in New York City. Of the fate of the rest not so much is heard or said unless a body is found in a gas-filled attic room or floating in the river.

In the course of a year thousands of young folk leave their homes in the country or some smaller city to seek fame, fortune and excitement in New York. A single person cannot live decently in the metropolis for less than $25 a week. Those who fail to land jobs paying as much as this soon find themselves in an environment so depressing and demoralizing as to permanently affect their lives and character.

New York has more inhabitants than it can house, feed and transport. Except for the relatively few who hit the stars, it is no longer the city of opportunity. New York is now big enough to say that of itself.

Aspiring youth should choose some other place in which to go broke. There is no place where the "broke" person is so dead broke as in a great city.

Success comes hardest in a large city, but the greatest successes are won there. So hopeful and adventurous youth will continue leaping into this bruising and breaking maelstrom. They are willing to take the desperate chance.

IMMIGRATION VOTE ANTICIPATED

The secretary of labor has recently recommended unemployment insurance as a remedy for some of our troubles. The workers of America are entitled to better security than they have had, and such insurance has its place in any system designed to give such security. There is, however, a danger in expecting from insurance something that it cannot accomplish.

When a conflagration has swept one of our hastily constructed American cities, causing untold loss and suffering, our desire to prevent such losses in future has not expressed itself solely in more insurance at higher rates. Instead, we have given thought to better construction, realizing that there will be further loss if we erect an agglomeration of fire traps, and that insurance can only distribute this loss.

It is the same with unemployment insurance. If we create unemployment, no amount of unemployment insurance can lessen the loss.

This line of thought does not seem to appeal to Miss Perkins. She appears to have a mind that concentrates too strongly on relieving effects, and pays insufficient attention to basic causes.

The American worker who wants his job to be safe should look for sounder remedies than merely having his job taxed for unemployment insurance. For if unemployment is created, he will bear the loss in one way or another.

Under existing laws, and not counting illegal entries, some 3,300,000 aliens were admitted to the United States between 1922 and 1929. Most of them were seeking jobs in competition with those already here. During the same time hundreds of thousands of workers in this country were being thrown out of work owing to changes and improvements in industry. We did not need more labor. We did need to take proper care of the workers that we had, and we failed to do so.

Massachusetts alone, for example, received over 100,000 such competitors at the very time that a broken labor market in the South was causing a removal of mills to that area, which once gave employment to some 40,000 Massachusetts workers. All this unnecessary burden is now being carried in the state, with industry crippled by high taxation.

Weep and the world will take your last dime.

HOW DO YOU "USE" LIFE?

Mr. A is clever with words. When he gets into trouble, he is almost always able to get out of it by using the right words...So he is frequently in trouble...His cleverness with words is bad for him, bad for his character. He leans too much on that gift. Instead of trying to do the right thing, he does the wrong thing and spellbinds himself out of his difficulty. Thus he uses his talent meanly, selfishly.

Mrs. B has rare executive ability. In any given sitation, she immediately begins to organize material, organize human beings, take command. ...She isn't popular, however...People shy away from her. She has allowed her talent to become a vice, a nuisance to all who know her. She has let it degenerate into "bossiness" and uses it for little things, for petty situations, instead of for large and useful command of life.

Mr. C has what is usually described as a "fine personality"...He is neat, he is fairly good looking, his manners are pleasant, he says the right thing at the right time, he is likable, his mile is a pleasure to behold and it has a warming effect on those who see it in action...Thus he gets what he wants easily...But THAT talent has weakened his character. He receives so much more often than he gives. And his life has been an easy one because people are as friendly to him as they are to a tail-wagging puppy.

Miss D is beautiful...Strangers turn to look at her as she passes by. The boys flock around. The girls frankly envy her. Life has been good to her, solely because of the accidental or inherited conformation of her body. She doesn't need to do anything, make the slightest effort... She has become monstrously selfish, a petulant and imperious and unhappy young woman.

We forget, too often, that our talents are not treasures but obligations. They are not given to us merely for our own sakes, for selfish use, but for other human beings as well. When we use them only selfishly, they disintegrate and we are more weakened than strengthened by their possession. And finally we become miserably unhappy creatures who cannot understand why life has been so "mean" to us.

PERMANENCY

Since Fame is brief and life is long,
And but a little while 'tis plain
However swift, however strong,
The champion can his place retain,
One wonders what there is on earth
Of triumph to outlive its day
Of solid and enduring worth
Which others cannot take away.

It seems with every passing year
We write the record books anew.
Younger and stronger men appear
Some past performance to outdo.
The laurel moves from brow to brow,
Not long the reign of might can last,
For what's considered greatness now
May by tomorrow be surpassed.

Time saps the strength and dims the eye.
Though stout his heart and swift his pace,
Ere many months have journeyed by
Another comes to take his place.
Then what is there from life to gain
Of glory born of work and play
Which man can strive for and retain
And others cannot snatch away?

No man can kinder be than he
Who has it in him to be kind,
Nor can another truer be
Than he who keeps the truth in mind;
Who strives his best from day to day
To play the man and play the friend
Gains fame which none can take away
And shall be honored to the end.

DO YOUR ACTIVITIES UNDERMINE YOUR HEALTH?

How foolish of you, as the years go on, to continue to do something that you know to be aggravating some ailment, or to hold to a habit that you realize does you more harm than good.

The sport in which you engage may be too strenuous, or you may pursue it so vigorously that you injure your health.

Growing habits are adversely affecting certain organs of your body.

You know what these habits are, and that you are weakened thereby.

If you do not curb these habits and the strain to your physical well being, your life will be shortened and made mighty uncomfortable while you do live.

Over-exertion leaves you exhausted and should be a warning.

The use of certain things exhilerates you for a time, gives you false strength and courage and are bound to react unfavorably.

Yet you continue their use heedlessly and foolishly.

You over-stoke your body, clog your physical sewers, shove your body beyond normal capacity. One of several serious results will occur eventually.

Many persons are suffering so much that they would welcome death in preference to what they must endure. They are the victims of their own folly.

How long before you will wake up?

Maybe education pays, but it wasn't the uneducated who got us into this mess.

SUGGESTIONS WANTED

Editor the "Financial Chronicle"
Dear Sir:

A Friend of Mine in New England has a neighbor who has received a Government check for $1,000, this year for not raising hogs. So my friend now wants to go into the business himself, he not being very prosperous just now: he says, in fact, that the idea of not raising hogs appeals to him very strongly.

Of course, he will need a hired man, and that is where I come in. I write to you as to your opinion of the best kind of a farm not to raise hogs on, the best strain of hogs not to raise, and how best to keep an inventory of hogs you are not raising. Also, do you think capital could be raised by issuance of a non-hog-raising gold bond?

The friend who got the thousand dollars got it for not raising 500 hogs. Now, we figure we might easily not raise 1,500 or 2,000 hogs, so you see the possible profits are only limited by the number of hogs we do not raise.

The other fellow had been raising hogs for 40 years and never made more than $400 in any one year. Kind of pathetic, isn't it, to think how he wasted his life raising hogs when he could have made so much more not raising them!

I will thank you for any advice you may offer.

Very truly yours,
HAROLD TRUEMAN

THE MELANCHOLY WORD

In every language there is a word meaning "goodbye" and a term signifying "farewell."

Auf Wiedersehen for the Germans Au Revoir for the French and Adios for the Spanish—these are the familiar teams when travelers are about to depart or when friends end their long associations.

"Goodbye" however is of a temporary nature. It spells the hope that soon there will be another meeting, that the days will not be long before old friends will renew their intimacies.

"Farewell" is more final. It prompted a great English poet to sing of his own death that "there should be no sadness of farewell" because he sensed its tragic finality.

When one says "goodbye" or "farewell" there is inevitably a deep consciousness of the shortness of life. It flutters through the mind like the shadows from the great wings of a flying bird: it strikes at the heart with a strange reality.

That is the reason one is always reluctant to say "farewell" to friends or as the French put it, to say, "adieu." There is always the abiding hope when we part that life will grow better with each and everyone of use as the years roll by—and that some day, some time, in the unfathomable future Fate will bring us face to face again.

FOOD FOR THE SAILORS

When Uncle Sam, in his housewife capacity, goes shopping to provide victuals for the Navy's table the items are somewhat staggering. Imagine a grocery list like this: 500 tons of flour; 2,000,000 pounds of milk; 32 carloads of fresh eggs; 2,000,000 pounds of beef; 1,800,000 pounds of sugar; 200,000 pounds of canned tomatoes; 200,000 pounds of vegetable shortening; 190,000 pounds of apricots; 150,000 pounds of pickles; 700,000 pounds of fresh vegetables and one carload of turkeys. This was just for the fleet when it arrived in Atlantic waters.

REFERRED TO THE AAA

One of our foreign exchanges, the Dublin Evening Mail, throws light on the milk situation which might help in solving the problem in this country. It quotes a city official in these words: "It would be a crying evil to leave the poor people of the city without milk. It would be a wise thing if the city authorities would take the bull by the horns and deal with the matter."

"Sadder but wiser," writes Editor X. A. E. Ender, "millions of people have been flocking back to the country again from the cities. Du Ponts Answer Criticism

NEW YORK, Oct. 19. — The du Ponts will not "take it" lying down. They are beginning to point out that they are in many other businesses—that ammunition merely is a side issue now.

The du Pont magazine, house organ of the vast du Pont interests, remarks in its current issue:

The du Pont company opposition to war is declared in the most emphatic terms (by President Lammot du Pont in the company's annual statement to stockholders). It is stated that "the du Pont company does not want war and has vastly more to gain from peace. Not only the strong natural sympathies of its management, but also the plain business interests of the company lie overwhelmingly in the direction of the continued maintenance of world peace.' "

Before it all ends, the du Ponts may prove their case so well that they may be investigated as manufacturing monopolies rather than as war profiteers. Such are the vicissitudes of men with money these days.

The du Ponts assert that the company's profits for five recent years of peace, 1927-1931, inclusive, exceeded average profits for the four World war years by "approximately $500,000 yearly".

NEW DEAL CRITIC

One of the severest criticisms of the New Deal is contained in "A Short History of the New Deal" by Louis M. Hacker, one of the newer historians.

A review of the book by Dr. Harry Elmer Barnes gives this outline of its reasoning:

"It is Mr. Hacker's thesis that the New Deal is neither revolutionary nor counter revolutionary in its nature. It is an evasion rather than a solution of the class struggle in the United States. It is roughly akin, though probably unconsciously so, to Franch solidarisme. The underlying theory s that all Americans are to be just one big, happy family as the result of the balancing of class interests. Mr. Hacker holds that Roosevelt has not been able to realize this high and noble aspiration, and is inclined to think that neither the president nor anyone else could achieve success with such a plan for the solution of our social ills. He concedes to Roosevelt our rescue from immediate collapse, the patching of some of the more obvious holes in the capitalistic roof, and the curbing of some of the more overt forms of financial piracy. But big business exerts even more effective control over its own operations than it did in 1933, and the effort to balance the interests of capital and labor have thus far mainly favored capital.

"Mr. Hacker does not believe that the country will turn immediately to either fascism or communism. The outcome of the New Deal will not be social justice or prosperity. Unwilling to secure the latter through insistence upon a just division of the social income and adequate mass purchasing power, we are likely to make another and final splurge in the field of industrial and financial imperialism, with war as an almost inevitable result. Such are Mr. Hacker's somewhat pessimistic but highly realistic conclusions."

REVERSE VIEW

A different view of the Roosevelt administration is held by Rabbi Barnett B. Brickner, of Cleveland, who has a potent radio audience.

Rabbi Brickner has this view:

"The great trouble with the collective states in Europe—Communistic Russia, Fascist Italy and Germany—is that they are tyrannical and dictatorial, having crushed liberty and regimented culture and the individual in a way that is sickening and abhorrent to our American habits of thinking and acting.

"Dictatorship is not at all necessary to a collective order.

"The new co-operative commonwealth will socialize the basic industries, the railroads, all systems of transportation and communication, like the telephone and radio, and will nationalize the banks.

"Crime will be minimized because young people will find an honest way of living open to them."

TODAY Is The Day

By CLARK KINNAIRD — Copyright 1934 Central Press

The World War Day-By-Day—Oct. 19, 1918—A truce was declared between Japanese and British forces closing in on Tsingtau and the defenders of the last German posession in the Far East, to permit women and children to leave the city before the bombardment.

Japanese forces had been enduring worse hardships than the noncombatants in the beleagured city. They landed at Lungkow, in the teeth of a heavy rain, which swelled into a terrible tempest and caused the whole district to be flooded as it had not been flooded for a century. The advancing troops had to wade through muddy streams up to their chests; their diet for days at a time consisted of a handful of millet.

Less consideration was being shown noncombatants in the west. Germans, taking Antwerp's government under their control and inflicting rigid regulations upon the citizenry, chopped off the hands of some of those who resisted. The Germans regarded the punishment as pecularly appropriate. Antwerp's name came from Hand-werpen (hand-throwing), because a medieval robber-chief who ruled the city indulged in the practice of cutting off his prisoners hands and throwing them into the Scheldt.

At the same time, Germany was endeavoring to counteract the furious wave of propaganda that the Allies launched against her in neutral countries on the score of her wholesale executions of civilians in occupied Belgium and France. The executions, she claimed, were in all cases justified by international law. The rules of war permit the noncombatant found with arms in his hands to be shot without mercy. Such a rule, it was agreed at the Hague conference in 1907, is necessary for the protection of all noncombatants. If civilians were permitted to fight, no troops would venture to enter a village or town until they had killed or driven out every one in it.

History Up-To-Date—Oct. 19, 1630—The first general court in America, the beginning of Democratic government, was held in Boston. It determined there were 110 freemen in the Colony entitled to a voice in its affairs.

Oct. 19, 1781—Cased colors of 28 British and German (Anspach & Hesse) regiments were surrendered to a squad of 28 Continental army sergeants detailed for the purpose. To spare British officers the indignity of surrendering their flag to non-commissioned men, Washington's aide, Col. Alexander Hamilton, ordered the easign in charge of the squad to receive the colors and in turn deliver them to the sergeants.

American courtesy at the capitulation of the army Gen. Charles Cornwallis, totalling 7,157, to the armies of Lieut. Gen. George Washington and Gen. Jean Baptiste Rochambeau, at Yorktown, Va., was not reciprocated.

Cornwallis, feigned sickness, and sent his sword by Gen. O'Hara. That officer led the vanquished troops out of their intrenchments, and marched them between the two columns of the allied forces. When he arrived at their head he approached Washington to hand him Cornwallis' sword. The commander-in-chief directed him to Gen. Lincoln as his representative.

It was a proud moment for Lin-

ANOTHER "DOLE"

The lonliest outpost in the entire British Empire is said to be the island of Tristan de Cunha, in the middle of the South Atlantic.

There are only a few hundred settlers, on the island representing five nationalities—English, Scotch, Irish, American and Italian. The British government has made frequent offers to remove the entire population from the lonely isle and find homes for them elsewhere, but the islanders refuse to go, even though they must live largely on native fruits and fish. Once every two years, a British ship lands large quantities of canned food, given free to the islanders, to provide a variety in their diet.

Their decision to say may be no great mystery after all, with a mild year-round climate, plenty of fruit to be had for the picking, fishing in abundance in the ocean, and a benevolent government supplying them with other foods free.

PREMATURE HALLOWE'EN CELEBRATION

MANY auto and store windows are presenting mute evidence that Hallowe'en again is being celebrated ahead of schedule.

The soaping of windows may not cause any serious damage, but the practice certainly provokes the ire of auto owners and store proprietors and puts them to considerable inconvenience.

In some instances, however, the perpetrators smear the soap on the paint of the cars, and anyone who has had the experience of trying to remove it knows that is no easy matter, and the efforts are not always successful and that the cars are damaged.

Parents of most of those who are guilty of the offense probably have cars of their own and a warning that the golden rule is applicable in this case might have a good effect.

Police promise drastic action if perpetrators are caught.

A RECORD VOTE ANTICIPATED

More than four million citizens of this state are qualified to vote at the November election, we are informed by a news item. And it is estimated that of the registration about three million of them will exercise their right of franchise and cast ballots.

That will establish a very commendable record. But it would be much better if all of the four million, with the exception of the few who will be confined to their homes by illness on election day, should go to the polls, and prove the estimators too conservative in their predictions.

CHASING THE RAINBOW

The world hears a great deal of the few who make good in New York City. Of the fate of the rest not so much is heard or said unless a body is found in a gas-filled attic room or floating in the river.

In the course of a year thousands of young folk leave their homes in the country or some smaller city to seek fame, fortune and excitement in New York. A single person cannot live decently in the metropolis for less than $25 a week. Those who fail to land jobs paying as much as this soon find themselves in an environment so depressing and demoralizing as to permanently affect their lives and character.

New York has more inhabitants than it can house, feed and transport. Except for the relatively few who hit the stars, it is no longer the city of opportunity. New York is now big enough to say that of itself.

Aspiring youth should choose some other place in which to go broke. There is no place where the "broke" person is so dead broke as in a great city.

Success comes hardest in a large city, but the greatest successes are won there. So hopeful and adventurous youth will continue leaping into this bruising and breaking maelstrom. They are willing to take the desperate chance.

IMMIGRATION VOTE ANTICIPATED

The secretary of labor has recently recommended unemployment insurance as a remedy for some of our troubles. The workers of America are entitled to better security than they have had, and such insurance has its place in any system designed to give such security. There is, however, a danger in expecting from insurance something that it cannot accomplish.

When a conflagration has swept one of our hastily constructed American cities, causing untold loss and suffering, our desire to prevent such losses in future has not expressed itself solely in more insurance at higher rates. Instead, we have given thought to better construction, realizing that there will be further loss if we erect an agglomeration of fire traps, and that insurance can only distribute this loss.

It is the same with unemployment insurance. If we create unemployment, no amount of unemployment insurance can lessen the loss.

This line of thought does not seem to appeal to Miss Perkins. She appears to have a mind that concentrates too strongly on relieving effects, and pays insufficient attention to basic causes.

The American worker who wants his job to be safe should look for sounder remedies than merely having his job taxed for unemployment insurance. For if unemployment is created, he will bear the loss in one way or another.

Under existing laws, and not counting illegal entries, some 3,000,000 aliens were admitted to the United States between 1922 and 1929. Most of them were seeking jobs in competition with those already here. During the same time hundreds of thousands of workers in this country were being thrown out of work owing to changes and improvements in industry. We did not need more labor. We did need to take proper care of the workers that we had, and we failed to do so.

Massachusetts alone, for example, received over 100,000 such competitors at the very time that a broken labor market in the South was causing a removal of mills to that area, which once gave employment to some 40,000 Massachusetts workers. All this unnecessary burden is now being carried in the state, with industry crippled by high taxation.

Weep and the world will take your last dime.

When he gets into trouble, he is almost always able to get out of it by using the right words...So he is frequently in trouble...His cleverness with words is bad for him, bad for his character. He leans too much on that gift. Instead of trying to do the right thing, he does the wrong thing and spellbinds himself out of his difficulty. Thus he uses his talent meanly, selfishly.

Mrs. B has rare executive ability. In any given sitation, she immediately begins to organize material, organize human beings, take command. ...She isn't popular, however...People shy away from her. She has allowed her talent to become a vice, a nuisance to all who know her. She has let it degenerate into "bossiness" and uses it for little things, for petty situations, instead of for large and useful command of life.

Mr. C has what is usually described as a "fine personality"...He is neat, he is fairly good looking, his manners are pleasant, he says the right thing at the right time, he is likable, his mile is a pleasure to behold and it has a warming effect on those who see it in action...Thus he gets what he wants easily...But THAT talent has weakened his character. He receives so much more often than he gives. And his life has been an easy one because people are as friendly to him as they are to a tail-wagging puppy.

Miss D is beautiful...Strangers turn to look at her as she passes by. The boys flock around. The girls frankly envy her. Life has been good to her, solely because of the accidental or inherited conformation of her body. She doesn't need to do anything, make the slightest effort... She has become monstrously selfish, a petulant and imperious and unhappy young woman.

We forget, too often, that our talents are not treasures but obligations. They are not given to us merely for our own sakes, for selfish use, but for other human beings as well. When we use them only selfishly, they disintegrate and we are more weakened than strengthened by their possession. And finally we become miserably unhappy creatures who cannot understand why life has been so "mean" to us.

PERMANENCY

Since Fame is brief and life is long,
And but a little while 'tis plain
However swift, however strong,
The champion can his place retain,
One wonders what there is on earth
Of triumph to outlive its day
Of solid and enduring worth
Which others cannot take away.

It seems with every passing year
We write the record books anew.
Younger and stronger men appear
Some past performance to outdo.
The laurel moves from brow to brow.
Not long the reign of might can last,
For what's considered greatness now
May by tomorrow be surpassed.

Time saps the strength and dims the eye.
Though stout his heart and swift his pace,
Ere many months have journeyed by
Another comes to take his place.
Then what is there from life to gain
Of glory born of work and play
Which man can strive for and retain
And others cannot snatch away?

No man can kinder be than he
Who has it in him to be kind,
Nor can another truer be
Than he who keeps the truth in mind;
Who strives his best from day to day
To play the man and play the friend
Gains fame which none can take away
And shall be honored to the end.

DO YOUR ACTIVITIES UNDERMINE YOUR HEALTH?

How foolish of you, as the years go on, to continue to do something that you know to be aggravating some ailment, or to hold to a habit that you realize does you more harm than good.

The sport in which you engage may be too strenuous, or you may pursue it so vigorously that you injure your health.

Growing habits are adversely affecting certain organs of your body.

You know what these habits are, and that you are weakened thereby.

If you do not curb these habits and the strain to your physical well being, your life will be shortened and made mighty uncomfortable while you do live.

Over-exertion leaves you exhausted and should be a warning.

The use of certain things exhilerates you for a time, gives you false strength and courage and are bound to react unfavorably.

Yet you continue their use heedlessly and foolishly.

You over-stoke your body, clog your physical sewers, shove your body beyond normal capacity. One of several serious results will occur eventually.

Many persons are suffering so much that they would welcome death in preference to what they must endure. They are the victims of their own folly.

How long before you will wake up?

Maybe education pays, but it wasn't the uneducated who got us into this mess.

SUGGESTIONS WANTED

Editor the "Financial Chronicle"
Dear Sir:

A Friend of Mine in New England has a neighbor who has received a Government check for $1,000, this year for not raising hogs. So my friend now wants to go into the business himself, he not being very prosperous just now: he says, in fact, that the idea of not raising hogs appeals to him very strongly.

Of course, he will need a hired man, and that is where I come in. I write to you as to your opinion of the best kind of a farm not to raise hogs on, the best strain of hogs not to raise, and how best to keep an inventory of hogs you are not raising. Also, do you think capital could be raised by issuance of a non-hog-raising gold bond?

The friend who got the thousand dollars got it for not raising 500 hogs. Now, we figure we might easily not raise 1,500 or 2,000 hogs, so you see the possible profits are only limited by the number of hogs we do not raise.

The other fellow had been raising hogs for 40 years and never made more than $400 in any one year. Kind of pathetic, isn't it, to think how he wasted his life raising hogs when he could have made so much more not raising them!

I will thank you for any advice you may offer.

Very truly yours,

THE MELANCHOLY WORD

In every language there is a word meaning "goodbye" and a term signifying "farewell.'

Auf Wiedersehen for the Germans Au Revoir for the French and Adios for the Spanish—these are the familiar teams when travelers are about to depart or when friends end their long associations.

"Goodbye" however is of a temporary nature. It spells the hope that soon there will be another meeting, that the days will not be long before old friends will renew their intimacies.

"Farewell' is more final. It prompted a great English poet to sing of his own death that "there should be no sadness of farewell" because he sensed its tragic finality.

When one says "goodbye" or "farewell" there is inevitably a deep consciousness of the shortness of life. It flutters through the mind like the shadows from the great wings of a flying bird: it strikes at the heart with a strange reality.

That is the reason one is always reluctant to say "farewell" to friends or as the French put it, to say, ". dieu." There is always the abiding hope when we part that life will grow better with each and everyone of use as the years roll by—and that some day, some time, in the unfathomable future Fate will bring us face to face again.

FOOD FOR THE SAILORS

When Uncle Sam, in his housewife capacity, goes shopping to provide victuals for the Navy's table the items are somewhat staggering. Imagine a grocery list like this: 80 tons of flour: 2,000,000 pounds of milk; 32 carloads of fresh eggs: 2,000,000 pounds of beef: 1,800,000 pounds of sugar: 200,000 pounds of canned tomatoes: 200,000 pounds of vegetable shortening; 190,000 pounds of apricots; 150,000 pounds of pickles; 700,000 pounds of fresh vegetables and one carload of turkeys. This was just for the fleet when it arrived in Atlantic waters.

REFERRED TO THE AAA

One of our foreign exchanges, the Dublin Evening Mail, throws light on the milk situation which might help in solving the problem in this country. It quotes a city official in these words: "It would be a crying evil to leave the poor people of the city without milk. It would be a wise thing if the city authorities would take the bull by the horns and deal with the matter."

"Sadder but wiser," writes Editor X. A. E. Ender, "millions of people have been flocking back to the country again from the cities. With factories shut down, jobs gone, hunger staring them in the face and a gloomy future to look forward to, the country again looks good to these people. It is a sign of returning sanity."

Du Ponts Answer Criticism
Earn More In Peace Than In War
EPIC To Spread Nationally

NEW YORK, Oct. 19. — The du Ponts will not "take it" lying down. They are beginning to point out that they are in many other businesses—that ammunition merely is a side issue now.

The du Pont magazine, house organ of the vast du Pont interests, remarks in its current issue:

The du Pont company opposition to war is declared in the most emphatic terms (by President Lammot du Pont in the company's annual statement to stockholders). It is stated that "the du Pont company does not want war and has vastly more to gain from peace. Not only the strong natural sympathies of its management, but also the plain business interests of the company lie overwhelmingly in the direction of the continued maintenance of world peace.' "

Before it all ends, the du Ponts may prove their case so well that they may be investigated as manufacturing monopolies rather than as war profiteers. Such are the vicissitudes of men with money these days.

The du Ponts assert that the company's profits for five recent years of peace, 1927-1931, inclusive, exceeded average profits for the four World war years by "approximately $500,000 yearly".

NEW DEAL CRITIC

One of the severest criticisms of the New Deal is contained in "A Short History of the New Deal" by Louis M. Hacker, one of the newer historians.

A review of the book by Dr. Harry Elmer Barnes gives this outline of its reasoning:

"It is Mr. Hacker's thesis that the New Deal is neither revolutionary nor counter revolutionary in its nature. It is an evasion rather than a solution of the class struggle in the United States. It is roughly akin, though probably unconsciously so, to Frarch solidarisme. The underlying theory s that all Americans are to be just one big, happy family as the result of the balancing of class interests. Mr. Hacker holds that Roosevelt has not been abla to realize this high and noble aspiration, and is inclined to think that neither the president nor anyone else could achieve success with such a plan for the solution of our social ills. He concedes to Roosevelt our rescue from immediate collapse, the patching of some of the more obvious holes in the capitalistic roof, and the curbing of some of the more overt forms of financial piracy. But big business exerts even more effective control over its own operations than it did in 1933, and the effort to balance the interests of capital and labor have thus far mainly favored capital.

"Mr. Hacker does not believe that the country will turn immediately to either fascism or communism. The outcome of the New Deal will not be social justice or prosperity. Unwilling to secure the latter through insistence upon a just division of the social income and adequate mass purchasing power, we are likely to make another and final splurge in the field of industrial and financial imperialism, with war as an almost inevitable result. Such are Mr. Hacker's somewhat pessimistic but highly realistic conclusions."

REVERSE VIEW

A different view of the Roosevelt administration is held by Rabbi Barnett B. Brickner, of Cleveland, who has a potent radio audience.

Rabbi Brickner has this view:

"The great trouble with the collective states in Europe—Communistic Russia, Fascist Italy and Germany—is that they are tyrannical and dictatorial, having crushed liberty and regimented culture and the individual in a way that is sickening and abhorrent to our American habits of thinking and acting.

"Dictatorship is not at all necessary to a collective order.

"The new co-operative commonwealth will socialize the basic industries, the railroads, all systems of transportation and communication, like the telephone and radio, and will nationalize the banks.

"Crime will be minimized because young people will find an honest way of living open to them."

By CLARK KINNAIRD Copyright 1934 Central Press

The World War Day-By-Day—Oct. 19, 1914—A truce was declared between Japanese and British forces closing in on Tsingtau and the defenders of the last German posession in the Far East, to permit women and children to leave the city before the bombardment.

Japanese forces had been enduring worse hardships than the noncombatants in the beleagured city. They landed at Lungkow, in the teeth of a heavy rain, which swelled into a terrible tempest and caused the whole district to be flooded as it had not been flooded for a century. The advancing troops had to wade through muddy streams up to their chests; their diet for days at a time consisted of a handful of millet.

Less consideration was being shown noncombatants in the west. Germans, taking Antwerp's government under their control and inflicting rigid regulations upon the citizenry, chopped off the hands of some of those who resisted. The Germans regarded the punishment as pecularly appropriate. Antwerp's name came from Hand-werpen (hand-throwing), because a medieval robber-chief who ruled the city indulged in the practice of cutting off his prisoners hands and throwing them into the Scheldt.

At the same time, Germany was endeavoring to counteract the furious wave of propaganda that the Allies launched against her in neutral countries on the score of her wholesale executions of civilians in occupied Belgium and France. The executions, she claimed, were in all cases justified by international law. The rules of war permit the noncombatant found with arms in his hands to be shot without mercy. Such a rule, it was agreed at the Hague conference in 1907, is necessary for the protection of all noncombatants. If civilians were permitted to fight, no troops would venture to enter a village or town until they had killed or driven out every one in it.

History Up-To-Date—Oct. 19, 1630—The first general court in America, the beginning of Democratic government, was held in Boston. It determined there were 110 freemen in the Colony entitled to a voice in its affairs.

Oct. 19, 1781—Cased colors of 28 British and German (Anspach & Hesse) regiments were surrendered to a squad of 28 Continental army sergeants detailed for the purpose. To spare British officers the indignity of surrendering their flag to non-commissioned men, Washington's aide, Col. Alexander Hamilton, ordered the ensign in charge of the squad to receive the colors and in turn deliver them to the sergeants.

American courtesy at the capitulation of the army Gen. Charles Cornwallis, totalling 7,157, to the armies of Lieut. Gen. George Washington and Gen. Jean Baptiste Rochambeau, at Yorktown, Va., was not reciprocated.

Cornwallis, feigned sickness, and sent his sword by Gen. O'Hara. That officer led the vanquished troops out of their intrenchments, and marched them between the two columns of the allied forces. When he arrived at their head he approached Washington to hand him Cornwallis' sword. The commander-in-chief directed him to Gen. Lincoln as his representative.

It was a proud moment for Lin-

ANOTHER "DOLE"

The lonliest outpost in the entire British Empire is said to be the island of Tristan de Cunha, in the middle of the South Atlantic.

There are only a few hundred settlers, on the island representing five nationalties—English, Scotch, Irish, American and Italian. The British government has made frequent offers to remove the entire population from the lonely isle and find homes for them elsewhere, but the islanders refuse to go, even though they must live largely on native fruits and fish. Once every two years, a British ship lands large quantities of canned food, given free to the islanders, to provide a variety in their diet.

Their decision to say may be no great mystery after all, with a mild year-round climate, plenty of fruit to be had for the picking, fishing in abundance in the ocean, and a benevolent government supplying them with other foods free.

PREMATURE HALLOWE'EN CELEBRATION

MANY auto and store windows are presenting mute evidence that Hallowe'en again is being celebrated ahead of schedule.

The soaping of windows may not cause any serious damage, but the practice certainly provokes the ire of auto owners and store proprietors and puts them to considerable inconvenience.

In some instances, however, the perpetrators smear the soap on the paint of the cars, and anyone who has had the experience of trying to remove it knows that is no easy matter, and the efforts are not always successful and that the cars are damaged.

Parents of most of those who are guilty of the offense probably have cars of their own and a warning that the golden rule is applicable in this case might have a good effect.

Police promise drastic action if perpetrators are caught.

A RECORD VOTE ANTICIPATED

More than four million citizens of this state are qualified to vote at the November election, we are informed by a news item. And it is estimated that of the registration about three million of them will exercise their right of franchise and cast ballots.

That will establish a very commendable record. But it would be much better if all of the four million, with the exception of the few who will be confined to their homes by illness on election day, should go to the polls, and prove the estimators too conservative in their predictions.

CHASING THE RAINBOW

The world hears a great deal of the few who make good in New York City. Of the fate of the rest not so much is heard or said unless a body is found in a gas-filled attic room or floating in the river.

In the course of a year thousands of young folk leave their homes in the country or some smaller city to seek fame, fortune and excitement in New York. A single person cannot live decently in the metropolis for less than $25 a week. Those who fail to land jobs paying as much as this soon find themselves in an environment so depressing and demoralizing as to permanently affect their lives and character.

New York has more inhabitants than it can house, feed and transport. Except for the relatively few who hit the stars, it is no longer the city of opportunity. New York is now big enough to say that of itself.

Aspiring youth should choose some other place in which to go broke. There is no place where the "broke" person is so dead broke as in a great city.

Success comes hardest in a large city, but the greatest successes are won there. So hopeful and adventurous youth will continue leaping into this bruising and breaking maelstrom. They are willing to take the desperate chance.

IMMIGRATION VOTE ANTICIPATED

The secretary of labor has recently recommended unemployment insurance as a remedy for some of our troubles. The workers of America are entitled to better security than they have had, and such insurance has its place in any system designed to give such security. There is, however, a danger in expecting from insurance something that it cannot accomplish.

When a conflagration has swept one of our hastily constructed American cities, causing untold loss and suffering, our desire to prevent such losses in future has not expressed itself solely in more insurance at higher rates. Instead, we have given thought to better construction, realizing that there will be further loss if we erect an agglomeration of fire traps, and that insurance can only distribute this loss.

It is the same with unemployment insurance. If we create unemployment, no amount of unemployment insurance can lessen the loss.

This line of thought does not seem to appeal to Miss Perkins. She appears to have a mind that concentrates too strongly on relieving effects, and pays insufficient attention to basic causes.

The American worker who wants his job to be safe should look for sounder remedies than merely having his job taxed for unemployment insurance. For if unemployment is created, he will bear the loss in one way or another.

Under existing laws, and not counting illegal entries, some 3,500,000 aliens were admitted to the United States between 1922 and 1929. Most of them were seeking jobs in competition with those already here. During the same time hundreds of thousands of workers in this country were being thrown out of work owing to changes and improvements in industry. We did not need more labor. We did need to take proper care of the workers that we had, and we failed to do so.

Massachusetts alone, for example, received over 100,000 such competitors at the very time that a broken labor market in the South was causing a removal of mills to that area, which once gave employment to some 40,000 Massachusetts workers. All this unnecessary burden is now being carried in the state, with industry crippled by high taxation.

HOW DO YOU "USE" LIFE?

Mr. A is clever with words. When he gets into trouble, he is almost always able to get out of it by using the right words...So he is frequently in trouble...His cleverness with words is bad for him, bad for his character. He leans too much on that gift. Instead of trying to do the right thing, he does the wrong thing and spellbinds himself out of his difficulty. Thus he uses his talent meanly, selfishly.

Mrs. B has rare executive ability. In any given sitation, she immediately begins to organize material, organize human beings, take command. ...She isn't popular, however...People shy away from her. She has allowed her talent to become a vice, a nuisance to all who know her. She has let it degenerate into "bossiness" and uses it for little things, for petty situations, instead of for large and useful command of life.

He receives so much more often than he gives. And his life has been an easy one because people are as friendly to him as they are to a tail-wagging puppy.

Miss D is beautiful...Strangers turn to look at her as she passes by. The boys flock around. The girls frankly envy her. Life has been good to her, solely because of the accidental or inherited conformation of her body. She doesn't need to do anything, make the slightest effort... She has become monstrously selfish, a petulant and imperious and unhappy young woman.

We forget, too often, that our talents are not treasures but obligations. They are not given to us merely for our own sakes, for selfish use, but for other human beings as well. When we use them only selfishly, they disintegrate and we are more weakened than strengthened by their possession. And finally we become miserably unhappy creatures who cannot understand why life has been so "mean" to us.

DO YOUR ACTIVITIES UNDERMINE YOUR HEALTH?

How foolish of you, as the years go on, to continue to do something that you know to be aggravating some ailment, or to hold to a habit that you realize does you more harm than good.

The sport in which you engage may be too strenuous, or you may pursue it so vigorously that you injure your health.

Growing habits are adversely affecting certain organs of your body.

You know what these habits are, and that you are weakened thereby.

If you do not curb these habits and the strain to your physical well being, your life will be shortened and made mighty uncomfortable while you do live.

Over-exertion leaves you exhausted and should be a warning.

The use of certain things exhilerates you for a time, gives you false strength and courage and are bound to react unfavorably.

Yet you continue their use heedlessly and foolishly.

You over-stoke your body, clog your physical sewers, shove your body beyond normal capacity. One of several serious results will occur eventually.

Many persons are suffering so much that they would welcome death in preference to what they must endure. They are the victims of their own folly.

How long before you will wake up?

Maybe education pays, but it wasn't the uneducated who got us into this mess.

SUGGESTIONS WANTED

Editor the "Financial Chronicle"
Dear Sir:

A Friend of Mine in New England has a neighbor who has received a Government check for $1,000, this year for not raising hogs. So my friend now wants to go into the business himself, he not being very prosperous just now: he says, in fact, that the idea of not raising hogs appeals to him very strongly.

Of course, he will need a hired man, and that is where I come in. I write to you as to your opinion of the best kind of a farm not to raise hogs on, the best strain of hogs not to raise, and how best to keep an inventory of hogs you are not raising. Also, do you think capital could be raised by issuance of a non-hog-raising gold bond?

The friend who got the thousand dollars got it for not raising 500 hogs. Now, we figure we might easily not raise 1,500 or 2,000 hogs, so you see the possible profits are only limited by the number of hogs we do not raise.

The other fellow had been raising hogs for 40 years and never made more than $400 in any one year. Kind of pathetic, isn't it, to think how he wasted his life raising hogs when he could have made so much more not raising them!

I will thank you for any advice you may offer.

Very truly yours,
HAROLD TRUEMAN

"IOWA FARMER DIES IN DIVE"

Even the city papers bungle a headline at times. The Sioux City Journal says in thirty-point type: "Iowa Farmer Dies in Dive." One might suspect that the farmer had been keeping bad company, until the context discloses that it was a bona fide dive into the Missouri river that cost him his life.—Dakota Republican

THE MELANCHOLY WORD

In every language there is a word meaning "goodbye" and a term signifying "farewell."

Auf Wiedersehen for the Germans Au Revoir for the French and Adios for the Spanish—these are the familiar teams when travelers are about to depart or when friends end their long associations.

"Goodbye" however is of a temporary nature. It spells the hope that soon there will be another meeting, that the days will not be long before old friends will renew their intimacies.

"Farewell" is more final. It prompted a great English poet to sing of his own death that "there should be no sadness of farewell" because he sensed its tragic finality.

When one says "goodbye" or "farewell" there is inevitably a deep consciousness of the shortness of life. It flutters through the mind like the shadows from the great wings of a flying bird: it strikes at the heart with a strange reality.

That is the reason one is always reluctant to say "farewell" to friends or as the French put it, to say, "adieu." There is always the abiding hope when we part that life will grow better with each and every one of use as the years roll by—and that some day, some time, in the unfathomable future Fate will bring us face to face again.

At times there are enough vegetables on the counter in The News office lobby to make a scuttle of goulash or sumpin. All that is lacking is a soup bone or ham shank.

FOOD FOR THE SAILORS

When Uncle Sam, in his housewife capacity, goes shopping to provide victuals for the Navy's table the items are somewhat staggering. Imagine a grocery list like this: 900 tons of flour: 2,000,000 pounds of milk; 32 carloads of fresh eggs; 2,000,000 pounds of beef; 1,800,000 pounds of sugar; 200,000 pounds of canned tomatoes; 200,000 pounds of vegetable shortening; 190,000 pounds of apricots; 150,000 pounds of pickles; 700,000 pounds of fresh vegetables and one carload of turkeys. This was just for the fleet when it arrived in Atlantic waters.

Don't forget: you should say "Gdzie dzis ids idziesz" in case you wish to ask "Where are you going today" in Polish.

Perhaps it's just as well that Vice President Garner does not talk much. There is plenty of talk without his doing any.

REFERRED TO THE AAA

One of our foreign exchanges, the Dublin Evening Mail, throws light on the milk situation which might help in solving the problem in this country. It quotes a city official in these words: "It would be a crying evil to leave the poor people of the city without milk. It would be a wise thing if the city authorities would take the bull by the horns and deal with the matter."

That saying that there is "honor among thieves" is all bosh; they are no better than the rest of us.

The editor of the Chronotype, of Rice Lake, Wisconsin, thinks that the young folks of today are about fed up with city life and are going back to the farms, where they can at least eat three squares a day, whether they have any money for the movies or not. "Sadder but wiser," writes Editor X. A. E. Ender, "millions of people have been flocking back to the country again from the cities. With factories shut down, jobs gone, hunger staring them in the face and a gloomy future to look forward to, the country again looks good to these people. It is a sign of returning sanity."

Speaking of an acquaintance, the Office Grouch said:

"You all know him. He has a heart of gold—yellow and hard."

Senator Copeland writes: "To make your chin less noticeable, try massaging it with an upward motion." This is sound advice, direct and to the point. And yet the knockers keep saying that the Senators of our day don't measure up to the old standard!

Never tell everything you know. You might be asked for an encore—or a Congressional investigation committee might call on you to make good.

Wouldn't it save time if the government just issued an order reading: "America must unionize."

Du Ponts Answer Criticism
Earn More In Peace Than In War
EPIC To Spread Nationally

Central Press
New York Bureau

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 19. — The du Ponts will not "take it" lying down. They are beginning to point out that they are in many other businesses—that ammunition merely is a side issue now.

The du Pont magazine, house organ of the vast du Pont interests, remarks in its current issue:

The du Pont company opposition to war is declared in the most emphatic terms (by President Lammot du Pont in the company's annual statement to stockholders). It is stated that "the du Pont company does not want war and has vastly more to gain from peace. Not only the strong natural sympathies of its management, but also the plain business interests of the company lie overwhelmingly in the direction of the continued maintenance of world peace.' "

Before it all ends, the du Ponts may prove their case so well that they may be investigated as manufacturing monopolies rather than as war profiteers. Such are the vicissitudes of men with money these days.

The du Ponts assert that the company's profits for five recent years of peace, 1927-1931, inclusive, exceeded average profits for the four World war years by "approximately $500,000 yearly".

SPREADING

Upton Sinclair's EPIC organization plans a nationwide membership campaign, regardless of the outcome of the gubernatorial election in California. The association has been incorporated nationally in Los Angeles.

The EPIC people now talk of Sinclair as a prospective candidate for the vice presidential nomination on the Democratic ticket.

No mention is made of what would become of John Nance Garner, who never has lost a political office in his life.

VANDENBERG

Senator Arthur Vandenberg expects to pull through for re-election in Michigan. If so—he will be very much in the running for the Republican presidential nomination.

* * *

FARLEY'S FAULT?

Democrats on the sidelines say that if Postmaster General Farley, as the Warwick of the Democratic party, could have put the Democratic candidates in Pennsylvania into the victory column—if he had exerted the administration's influence for liberals instead of standpatters, as the nominees.

Farley is "accused" of losing the Maine senatorial election for the same reason.

NEW DEAL CRITIC

One of the severest criticisms of the New Deal is contained in "A Short History of the New Deal" by Louis M. Hacker, one of the newer historians.

A review of the book by Dr. Harry Elmer Barnes gives this outline of its reasoning:

"It is Mr. Hacker's thesis that the New Deal is neither revolutionary nor counter revolutionary in its nature. It is an evasion rather than a solution of the class struggle in the United States. It is roughly akin, though probably unconsciously so, to Fnarch solidarisme. The underlying theory s that all Americans are to be just one big, happy family as the result of the balancing of class interests. Mr. Hacker holds that Roosevelt has not been able to realize this high and noble aspiration, and is inclined to think that neither the president nor anyone else could achieve success with such a plan for the solution of our social ills. He concedes to Roosevelt our rescue from immediate collapse, the patching of some of the more obvious holes in the capitalistic roof, and the curbing of some of the more overt forms of financial piracy. But big business exerts even more effective control over its own operations than it did in 1933, and the effort to balance the interests of capital and labor have thus far mainly favored capital.

"Mr. Hacker does not believe that the country will turn immediately to either fascism or communism. The outcome of the New Deal will not be social justice or prosperity. Unwilling to secure the latter through insistence upon a just division of the social income and adequate mass purchasing power, we are likely to make another and final splurge in the field of industrial and financial imperialism, with war as an almost inevitable result. Such are Mr. Hacker's somewhat pessimistic but highly realistic conclusions."

REVERSE VIEW

A different view of the Roosevelt administration is held by Rabbi Barnett B. Brickner, of Cleveland, who has a potent radio audience.

Rabbi Brickner has this view:

"The great trouble with the collective states in Europe—Communistic Russia, Fascist Italy and Germany—is that they are tyrannical and dictatorial, having crushed liberty and regimented culture and the individual in a way that is sickening and abhorrent to our American habits of thinking and acting.

"Dictatorship is not at all necessary to a collective order.

"The new co-operative commonwealth will socialize the basic industries, the railroads, all systems of transportation and communication, like the telephone and radio, and will nationalize the banks.

"Crime will be minimized because young people will find an honest way of living open to them."

By CLARK KINNAIRD Copyright 1934 Central Press

The World War Day-By-Day—Oct. 19, 1914—A truce was declared between Japanese and British forces closing in on Tsingtau and the defenders of the last German posession in the Far East, to permit women and children to leave the city before the bombardment.

Japanese forces had been enduring worse hardships than the noncombatants in the beleagured city. They landed at Lungkow, in the teeth of a heavy rain, which swelled into a terrible tempest and caused the whole district to be flooded as it had not been flooded for a century. The advancing troops had to wade through muddy streams up to their chests; their diet for days at a time consisted of a handful of millet.

Less consideration was being shown noncombatants in the west. Germans, taking Antwerp's government under their control and inflicting rigid regulations upon the citizenry, chopped off the hands of some of those who resisted. The Germans regarded the punishment as peculiarly appropriate. Antwerp's name came from Hand-werpen (hand-throwing), because a medieval robber-chief who ruled the city indulged in the practice of cutting off his prisoners hands and throwing them into the Scheldt.

At the same time, Germany was endeavoring to counteract the furious wave of propaganda that the Allies launched against her in neutral countries on the score of her wholesale executions of civilians in occupied Belgium and France. The executions, she claimed, were in all cases justified by international law. The rules of war permit the noncombatant found with arms in his hands to be shot without mercy. Such a rule, it was agreed at the Hague conference in 1907, is necessary for the protection of all noncombatants. If civilians were permitted to fight, no troops would venture to enter a village or town until they had killed or driven out every one in it.

History Up-To-Date—Oct. 19, 1630—The first general court in America, the beginning of Democratic government, was held in Boston. It determined there were 110 freemen in the Colony entitled to a voice in its affairs.

Oct. 19, 1781—Cased colors of 28 British and German (Anspach & Hesse) regiments were surrendered to a squad of 28 Continental army sergeants detailed for the purpose. To spare British officers the indignity of surrendering their flag to non-commissioned men, Washington's aide, Col. Alexander Hamilton, ordered the ensign in charge of the squad to receive the colors and in turn deliver them to the sergeants.

Cornwallis, feigned sickness, and sent his sword by Gen. O'Hara. That officer led the vanquished troops out of their intrenchments, and marched them between the two columns of the allied forces. When he arrived at their head he approached Washington to hand him Cornwallis' sword. The commander-in-chief directed him to Gen. Lincoln as his representative.

It was a proud moment for Lin-

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

ANOTHER "DOLE"

The loniliest outpost in the entire British Empire is said to be the island of Tristan de Cunha, in the middle of the South Atlantic.

There are only a few hundred settlers, on the island representing five nationalties—English, Scotch, Irish, American and Italian. The British government has made frequent offers to remove the entire population from the lonely isle and find homes for them elsewhere, but the islanders refuse to go, even though they must live largely on native fruits and fish. Once every two years, a British ship lands large quantities of canned food, given free to the islanders, to provide a variety in their diet.

Their decision to say may be no great mystery after all, with a mild year-round climate, plenty of fruit to be had for the picking, fishing in abundance in the ocean, and a benevolent government supplying them with other foods free.

PENN POWER GIRLS HAVE FALL MEETING

The women's committee of the Pennsylvania Power company, and guests numbering 90, met in the dining room of the First Christian church last evening for a dinner meeting of the Greenville, Sharon and New Castle divisions.

The room was beautifully decorated in the fall tones, and the table appointments cleverly carried out the season's suggestions for which Miss Gertrude Else and her committee were responsible.

L. B. Round, general manager of the Pennsylvania Power company, gave the invocation and Mae Cummings, chairman of the women's committee, acted as toastmistress.

Pep singing, led by Dorothy Lee, was accompanied by Daniel Heitger.

"The Great Rejuvenation" by Thelma Davis and Elizabeth Henry of the Greenville division, was cleverly given.

The Sharon division girls' quartet, composed of Janet Roett, Phyllis Gray, Grace Schell and Grace Woodford, gave several selections followed by a unique playlet, "Selling the Housewife An Electric Range", presented by Emma Jane Roberts and Thelma Quillian of Sharon. This play was written by Miss Roberts.

The guest speaker of the evening, Dr. Elizabeth Veach, of the Overlook Sanitarium, was introduced and gave a very interesting and educational talk on "Mental Hygiene and the Business and Professional Woman."

Messrs. L. B. Round, vice president and general manager; Rufus Moses, division manager, of Sharon, and R. A. Knight, acting division manager, of Greenville, gave remarks in behalf of their respective divisions.

Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Round, Rufus Moses of Sharon, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Knight of Greenville, and Dr. Elizabeth Veach, of New Wilmington.

A. U. R. AUTUMN TEA IS DELIGHTFUL EVENT

Thoughts wandered back to those lines of James Witcomb Riley's "When the frost is on the pumpkin and' the fodder's in the shock" as near one hundred guests of the A. U. R. Girls assembled in the parlors of the Central Presbyterian church on Thursday evening for their annual autumn tea. The parlors were beautifully decorated in scarlet, crimson and gold leaves, and pumpkins peeping through here and there to complete the autumnal atmosphere.

Miss Helen Ewing, president of the auxiliary, greeted the guests in her usual pleasing manner and introduced the entertainment committee: Miss Maude Mitchell and Miss Sarah Rice, Miss Mitchell announcing the program.

Mrs. Benjamin Agnew, accompanied by Miss Lena Richards, sang "I Love Life" by Mana-Zucca, which was so well received she responded with a delightful encore. Two very humorous readings were given by Elizabeth Milholland, "A Church Rummage Sale" and "The Newlyweds Go Fishing."

A vocal trio composed of Virginia Roberts, Ruth Wilkison and Cecelia Hasulak rendered a delightful group of a capella numbers which included "Spin Maiden Spin", "The Goslings" and "American Lullaby" by Gladys Rich, well known to many friends in this city. These young ladies have voices filled with promise and won their audience from the start, responding with an encore.

Mrs. Clinton Keagy, the possessor of a beautiful soprano voice, rendered a delightful group, "Bird Songs at Eve'n Tide", by Coates; "Down In the Forest", by Ronald, and "Pale Moon", by Logan, with Miss Helen Ewing as her accompanist.

At the conclusion of the program refreshments were served by the committee with Mrs. John F. Walters in charge, assisted by Mrs. Henry Bratschie and Mrs. M. E. Battley, each member presiding over her own table. Much credit for the success of the affair is due the president and her two able committees.

coln, who, the previous year, had been compelled to make a humiliating surrender to the royal troops at Charleston. He politely returned the sword to O'Hara to be restored to the beaten general.

All of the battles of the Revolution cost the American army only 7,184 lives, fewer than were killed or died of wounds in a score of individual battles in the war between the states; fewer than were lost in one hour at Chateau Thierry in the world war!

The monetary cost, i. e., the national debt after the Revolution, was $250,000,000 less than the expenditure for unemployed relief in one of these years.

A large part of this indebtedness consisted of advances made by the French and Spanish governments, loans made by private bankers in Holland, and certificates of indebtedness given to French officers and French individuals for their war services. The family of Pierre Beaumarchais, one of those who made large advances of war supplies, had to sue the U. S. government to get their money!

Oct. 19, 1864—Maj. Gen. Phillip Sheridan made the most famous horseback ride in American history. That day Gen. Jubal Early made a sweeping raid down the Shenandoah Valley, designed by Lee to relieve Grant's pressure on Richmond and Petersburg, and barely missed capturing Washington. He demoralized Sheridan's army until "Little Phil" heard the sound of distant cannon fire, pieced together fragmentary reports expertly, dashed 20 miles to the battlefront in three hours, rallied the forces, led a charge, and ended the last advance of the Confederacy.

Ironically, the same day, Confederate invasion reached its northermost point. A band of exiles in Canada started a raid southward into Vermont, ran into disaster.

Notable Nativities—Sir Thomas Browne, b. 1605. He was 29 when he wrote the classic Religio Medici (Religion of a Physician). Lowell called Browne's the most original mind since Shakspere. (If, by the way, anybody thinks we're misspelling the Bard's name, let him prove it!)

PENN POWER GIRLS HAVE FALL MEETING

The women's committee of the Pennsylvania Power company, and guests numbering 90, met in the dining room of the First Christian church last evening for a dinner meeting of the Greenville, Sharon and New Castle divisions.

The room was beautifully decorated in the fall tones, and the table appointments cleverly carried out the season's suggestions for which Miss Gertrude Else and her committee were responsible.

L. B. Round, general manager of the Pennsylvania Power company, gave the invocation and Mae Cummings, chairman of the women's committee, acted as toastmistress.

Pep singing, led by Dorothy Lee, was accompanied by Daniel Heitger.

"The Great Rejuvenation" by Thelma Davis and Elizabeth Henry of the Greenville division, was cleverly given.

The Sharon division girls' quartet, composed of Janet Roett, Phyllis Gray, Grace Schell and Grace Woodford, gave several selections followed by a unique playlet, "Selling the Housewife An Electric Range", presented by Emma Jane Roberts and Thelma Quillian of Sharon. This play was written by Miss Roberts.

The guest speaker of the evening, Dr. Elizabeth Veach, of the Overlook Sanitarium, was introduced and gave a very interesting and educational talk on "Mental Hygiene and the Business and Professional Woman."

Messrs. L. B. Round, vice president and general manager; Rufus Moses, division manager, of Sharon, and R. A. Knight, acting division manager, of Greenville, gave remarks in behalf of their respective divisions.

Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Round, Rufus Moses of Sharon, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Knight of Greenville, and Dr. Elizabeth Veach, of New Wilmington.

A. U. R. AUTUMN TEA IS DELIGHTFUL EVENT

Thoughts wandered back to those lines of James Witcomb Riley's "When the frost is on the pumpkin and' the fodder's in the shock" as near one hundred guests of the A. U. R. Girls assembled in the parlors of the Central Presbyterian church on Thursday evening for their annual autumn tea. The parlors were beautifully decorated in scarlet, crimson and gold leaves, and pumpkins peeping through here and there to complete the autumnal atmosphere.

Miss Helen Ewing, president of the auxiliary, greeted the guests in her usual pleasing manner and introduced the entertainment committee: Miss Maude Mitchell and Miss Sarah Rice, Miss Mitchell an nouncing the program.

Mrs. Benjamin Agnew, accompanied by Miss Lena Richards, sang "I Love Life" by Mana-Zucca, which was so well received she responded with a delightful encore. Two very humorous readings were given by Elizabeth Milholland, "A Church Rummage Sale" and "The Newlyweds Go Fishing."

A vocal trio composed of Virginia Roberts, Ruth Wilkison and Cecelia Hasulak rendered a delightful group of a capella numbers which included "Spin Maiden Spin", "The Goslings" and "American Lullaby" by Gladys Rich, well known to many friends in this city. These young ladies have voices filled with promise and won their audience from the start, responding with an encore.

Mrs. Clinton Keagy, the possessor of a beautiful soprano voice, rendered a delightful group, "Bird Songs at Eve'n Tide", by Coates; "Down In the Forest", by Ronald, and "Pale Moon", by Logan, with Miss Helen Ewing as her accompanist.

At the conclusion of the program refreshments were served by the committee with Mrs. John F. Walters in charge, assisted by Mrs. Henry Bratschie and Mrs. M. E. Battley, each member presiding over her own table. Much credit for the success of the affair is due the president and her two able committees.

coln, who, the previous year, had been compelled to make a humiliating surrender to the royal troops at Charleston. He politely returned the sword to O'Hara to be restored to the beaten general.

All of the battles of the Revolution cost the American army only 7,184 lives, fewer than were killed or died of wounds in a score of individual battles in the war between the states; fewer than were lost in one hour at Chateau Thierry in the world war!

The monetary cost, i. e., the national debt after the Revolution, was $250,000,000 less than the expenditure for unemployed relief in one of these years.

A large part of this indebtedness consisted of advances made by the French and Spanish governments, loans made by private bankers in Holland, and certificates of indebtedness given to French officers and French individuals for their war services. The family of Pierre Beaumarchais, one of those who made large advances of war supplies, had to sue the U. S. government to get their money!

Oct. 19, 1864—Maj. Gen. Phillip Sheridan made the most famous horseback ride in American history. That day Gen. Jubal Early made a sweeping raid down the Shenandoah Valley, designed by Lee to relieve Grant's pressure on Richmond and Petersburg, and barely missed capturing Washington. He demoralized Sheridan's army until "Little Phil" heard the sound of distant cannon fire, pieced together fragmentary reports expertly, dashed 20 miles to the battlefront in three hours, rallied the forces, led a charge, and ended the last advance of the Confederacy.

Ironically, the same day, Confederate invasion reached its northermost point. A band of exiles in Canada started a raid southward into Vermont, ran into disaster.

coln, who, the previous year, had been compelled to make a humiliating surrender to the royal troops at Charleston. He politely returned the sword to O'Hara to be restored to the beaten general.

All of the battles of the Revolution cost the American army only 7,184 lives, fewer than were killed or died of wounds in a score of individual battles in the war between the states; fewer than were lost in one hour at Chateau Thierry in the world war!

The monetary cost, i. e., the national debt after the Revolution, was $250,000,000 less than the expenditure for unemployed relief in one of these years.

A large part of this indebtedness consisted of advances made by the French and Spanish governments, loans made by private bankers in Holland, and certificates of indebtedness given to French officers and French individuals for their war services. The family of Pierre Beaumarchais, one of those who made large advances of war supplies, had to sue the U. S. government to get their money!

Oct. 19, 1864—Maj. Gen. Phillip Sheridan made the most famous horseback ride in American history. That day Gen. Jubal Early made a sweeping raid down the Shenandoah Valley, designed by Lee to relieve Grant's pressure on Richmond and Petersburg, and barely missed capturing Washington. He demoralized Sheridan's army until "Little Phil" heard the sound of distant cannon fire, pieced together fragmentary reports expertly, dashed 20 miles to the battlefront in three hours, rallied the forces, led a charge, and ended the last advance of the Confederacy.

Ironically, the same day, Confederate invasion reached its northermost point. A band of exiles in Canada started a raid southward into Vermont, ran into disaster.

Notable Nativities—Sir Thomas Browne, b. 1605. He was 29 when he wrote the classic Religio Medici (Religion of a Physician). Lowell called Browne's the most original mind since Shakspere. (If, by the way, anybody thinks we're misspelling the Bard's name, let him prove it!)

James Henry Leigh Hunt, b. 1784, author of the oft-quoted Abou Ben Adhem. . . William J. Burns, b. 1861, famed detective. . . Edwin Bjorkman, b. 1886, Norwegian-American novelist. . . Fannie Hurst Danielson, b. 1889, novelist. . . Roger Wolfe Kahn, b. 1907, scion of wealth and musician.

You're Wrong If You Believe—That a volcano is a burning mountain which erupts flames and smoke.

That the lines in a person's palm provide an accurate index of his character.

That Iceland is a bleak, ice-locked, uncivilized spot.

That southern women are more passionate than others.

That all gentle-born southerners say you-all and unaffectedly speak the dialect that professional southerners use.

That beef tea is very nutritious.

"Mercy Pardon" Given Woman

West Virginia Governor Grants Pardon To Woman Dying Of Cancer

(International News Service)

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Oct. 19.—Granted a "mercy pardon", Mrs. Ida May Shaw, 35, was back in her childhood home here Thursday to serve out the remainder of a life sentence started 15 months ago in the West Virginia state penitentiary after she had been convicted of offering $1,000 for the murder of her husband.

Doctors say that a malignant cancer will end that life sentence within a few days.

Two Serve Time.

Mrs. Shaw was brought home in an ambulance accompanied by her mother, Msr. Ellen M. Eddy. She was released from the penitentiary on a "mercy pardon" given by Governor H. C. Kump, who had been advised by physicians that the woman had only a very short time to live.

Msr. Shaw's cousin, Harley Lemmon, and Eddie Crouch, her alleged paramour at the time of her husband's murder, remained behind in prison, Lemmon to serve life and Crouch with still four years to serve under a five-year sentence.

Arthur Shaw, the woman's husband, was shot on June 30, 1933, with his wife, a bride of a few weeks, sitting beside him in the automobile.

Claim To Be Oldest Twins In The State

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 19.—Blushing like two school girls, two 79-year-old twin sisters laid claim here to the title of being the oldest pair of twins in Pennsylvania.

"We are not the sort to boast, but for the sake of record it might be well to set down that we are identical twins and were born in old Allegheny 79 years ago," said Mrs. Minnie Dittmar. Mrs. Dittmar's sister is Mrs. Catherine Vogelsang of Pittsburgh.

Steer In Luck; Has Three Horns

(International News Service)

HERSHEY, Pa., Oct. 19.—A three-horned steer, discovered in a shipment of cattle from Iowa, has been presented to the Hershey Zoological Garden by Walter M. Dunlap, of the Union Stock Yards of Lancaster.

The animal, a Hereford, red and white in color, weighs 300 pounds and is about a year old. It is perfect in every other detail with the exception of the three horns, two of which are eight inches long and the third about three and one-half inches.

Canned Peaches Are Good After 50 Years

(International News Service)

NORTHUMBERLAND, O., Oct. 19.—William P. Cubbage of Northumberland, R. D., is displaying a jar of peaches preserved by his mother, Mrs. Rebecca Cubbage, of Woodside, Del., in September 15, 1884. Aromatic Turkish tobacco

On the sunny slopes of Smyrna . . in the fertile fields of Macedonia . . from the shores of the Black Sea . . that's where the best kinds grow . . the kinds used in making Chesterfields.

THERE are about as many kinds of Turkish tobacco as there are kinds of apples—but they all have a spicy aroma and flavor which seems to "season" a cigarette better than any other kind that grows.

The right Turkish is costly—but it adds something to Chesterfield's milder better taste.

When you go on your next cruise, stop at Smyrna and visit our tobacco factory. We think you will find it interesting.

First Plane May Never Come Back To United States

(International News Service)

DAYTON, O., Oct. 19.—"Grave doubt" if the first plane of the Wright brothers, now in England, will ever be returned to this country was expressed Thursday by Orville Wright before leaving for Washington to attend a meeting of the national advisory committee for aeronautics.

Wright sent the ship to a British museum in 1927 in indignation after labeling of the machine in the Smithsonian institute, withheld from the Wright brothers the credit of making the first airplane.

"I have never in any way committed myself as to where it would be placed if it ever comes back, which I very much doubt," Wright said.

Col. Charles Lindbergh will be recognized by Wright as the only mediator in the controversy, he said.

DISCUSSES LIVE QUESTIONS

New Castle, Pa.
October 18, 1934.

Editor of The News:

Now that the World's Series is over and the election is drawing near, politics will occupy the first page of the daily newspaper.

The legislature to be elected this year will have some hard problems to solve: the tax question is looming up big and the new liquor law will need some repairs.

It is the opinion of the better class of people that the liquor stores are a disgrace to a civilized county and conditions are ten-fold worse than they were in the old days of the saloon. This is not a surprise to the most of us, for we were expecting something of the kind. It is enough to make a wooden Indian laugh out loud to hear the wets talking about temperance and regulating the liquor traffic. As a matter of fact the traffic never was regulated and never will be. You might as well try to regulate an earthquake or a cyclone. Not a single promise that was made by the wets during the fight to repeal the 18th amendment, has ever been kept; not many people expected them to keep their promises. Drunkenness and crime go hand in hand, and have increased.

By the way, what has become of our friends, Dr. Nicolas Murry Butler? It looks as though he has crawled into the hole and pulled the hole in after him.

The wise man said that there was nothing new under the sun but if he was living now, he would have to revise his opinions somewhat. He never knew anything about General Johnson and the NRA. If he were living now he would see the western farmer killing his brood sows and small pigs to raise the price of pork and the southern farmer destroying his own crops, plowing under the cotton. If he was a granger he would hear some mighty interesting subjects for debate such as "What Is the Best Breed of Hogs for A Farmer Not To Raise?" "How Long Will It Take the New Deal To Make the U. S. the Most Thoroughly Bankrupt Nation On Earth?" "Is It Misfortune For A Young Man To Inherit A Farm?"—These are all practical questions, and will no doubt be discussed in the grange meetings during the winter months.

Yours,

Find May Prove Long Lost Grove

Believed Bones Of Signer Of Declaration Of Independence Unearthed

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19.—Belief that the long "lost" grave of Francis Hopkinson, a signer of the Declaration of Independence, has been found in the graveyard of Christ church is supported in an anatomist's examination of bones unearthed there.

Hopkinson's burial place has long been unknown. In the hope of solving this mystery, Dr. Charles Penrose Keith of the church vestry, obtained permission from descendants of the Hopkinson lineage to dig in a plot where a daughter of Hopkinson, Elizabeth Conde, was known to be buried. The skeleton of a man was unearthed.

Dr. Oscar V. Batson, professor of anatomy at the University of Pennsylvania, made a careful study of the remains and determined that the probable height, weight and age of the man and the profile of the skull were in accord with Hopkinson's stature and appearance at the time of his death in 1791.

These conclusions were reported to the Rev. Dr. Louis C. Washburn, rector of Christ church.

To Give Police The "Once-Over"

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 19.—Pittsburgh's police force is in for a new deal at the hands of Bruce Smith, former royal mounted Canadian policeman, who has been hired by the police research commission to look over the city's police situation.

Smith has spent a lifetime studying and subsequently reorganizing police forces. He invariably dons a patrolman's uniform in any town about to be "remodeled" to "get the feel of things".

GINGHAM WITH MAPLE

Washable red, blue or green gingham desk sets are good with maple—kind of light in feeling like the furniture itself. These cute desk sets consist of a big blotter with corners bound in the checked material, a hand blotter, inkwell and paper cutter, all with tops covered in gingham. They can be washed with soap and water, and the sets are nice for the schoolgirl's room, or the odd guest room in the country house.

Have you seen the new drawstring skirts by Schiaparelli? She uses them in her evening models, and they are very trick with the "drawstring" serving as a sash at the back of the skirt.

GINGHAM WITH MAPLE

Washable red, blue or green gingham desk sets are good with maple—kind of light in feeling like the furniture itself. These cute desk sets consist of a big blotter with corners bound in the checked material, a hand blotter, inkwell and paper cutter, all with tops covered in gingham. They can be washed with soap and water, and the sets are nice for the schoolgirl's room, or the odd guest room in the country house.

Have you seen the new drawstring skirts by Schiaparelli? She uses them in her evening models, and they are very trick with the "drawstring" serving as a sash at the back of the skirt.

"Mercy Pardon" Given Woman

West Virginia Governor Grants Pardon To Woman Dying Of Cancer

(International News Service)

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Oct. 19.—Granted a "mercy pardon", Mrs. Ida May Shaw, 35, was back in her childhood home here Thursday to serve out the remainder of a life sentence started 15 months ago in the West Virginia state penitentiary after she had been convicted of offering $1,000 for the murder of her husband.

Doctors say that a malignant cancer will end that life sentence within a few days.

Two Serve Time.

Mrs Shaw was brought home in an ambulance accompanied by her mother, Msr. Ellen M. Eddy. She was released from the penitentiary on a "mercy pardon" given by Governor H. C. Kump, who had been advised by physicians that the woman had only a very short time to live.

Msr. Shaw's cousin, Harley Lemmon, and Eddie Crouch, her alleged paramour at the time of her husband's murder, remained behind in prison, Lemmon to serve life and Crouch with still four years to serve under a five-year sentence.

Arthur Shaw, the woman's husband, was shot on June 30, 1933, with his wife, a bride of a few weeks, sitting beside him in the automobile.

Claim To Be Oldest Twins In The State

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 19.—Blushing like two school girls, two 79-year-old twin sisters laid claim here to the title of being the oldest pair of twins in Pennsylvania.

"We are not the sort to boast, but for the sake of record it might be well to set down that we are identical twins and were born in old Allegheny 79 years ago," said Mrs. Minnie Dittmar. Mrs. Dittmar's sister is Mrs. Catherine Vogelsang of Pittsburgh.

Steer In Luck; Has Three Horns

(International News Service)

HERSHEY, Pa., Oct. 19.—A three-horned steer, discovered in a shipment of cattle from Iowa, has been presented to the Hershey Zoological Garden by Walter M. Dunlap, of the Union Stock Yards of Lancaster.

The animal, a Hereford, red and white in color, weighs 300 pounds and is about a year old. It is perfect in every other detail with the exception of the three horns, two of which are eight inches long and the third about three and one-half inches.

Canned Peaches Are Good After 50 Years

(International News Service)

NORTHUMBERLAND, O., Oct. 19.—William P. Cubbage of Northumberland, R. D., is displaying a jar of peaches preserved by his mother, Mrs. Rebecca Cubbage, of Woodside, Del., in September 15, 1884. The fruit, now 50 years old, has retained its color and appears to be in the same condition as when canned.

Aromatic Turkish tobacco

On the sunny slopes of Smyrna..in the fertile fields of Macedonia..from the shores of the Black Sea..that's where the best kinds grow.. the kinds used in making Chesterfields.

THERE are about as many kinds of Turkish tobacco as there are kinds of apples—but they all have a spicy aroma and flavor which seems to "season" a cigarette better than any other kind that grows.

The right Turkish is costly—but it adds something to Chesterfield's milder better taste.

When you go on your next cruise, stop at Smyrna and visit our tobacco factory. We think you will find it interesting.

First Plane May Never Come Back To United States

(International News Service)

DAYTON, O., Oct. 19.—"Grave doubt" if the first plane of the Wright brothers, now in England, will ever be returned to this country was expressed Thursday by Orville Wright before leaving for Washington to attend a meeting of the national advisory committee for aeronautics.

Wright sent the ship to a British museum in 1927 in indignation after labeling of the machine in the Smithsonian institute, withheld from the Wright brothers the credit of making the first airplane.

"I have never in any way committed myself as to where it would be placed if it ever comes back, which I very much doubt," Wright said.

Col. Charles Lindbergh will be recognized by Wright as the only mediator in the controversy, he said.

DISCUSSES LIVE QUESTIONS

New Castle, Pa.
October 18, 1934.

Editor of The News:

Now that the World's Series is over and the election is drawing near, politics will occupy the first page of the daily newspaper.

The legislature to be elected this year will have some hard problems to solve: the tax question is looming up big and the new liquor law will need some repairs.

It is the opinion of the better class of people that the liquor stores are a disgrace to a civilized county and conditions are ten-fold worse than they were in the old days of the saloon. This is not a surprise to the most of us, for we were expecting something of the kind. It is enough to make a wooden Indian laugh out loud, to hear the wets talking about temperance and regulating the liquor traffic. As a matter of fact the traffic never was regulated and never will be. You might as well try to regulate an earthquake or a cyclone. Not a single promise that was made by the wets during the fight to repeal the 18th amendment, has ever been kept; not many people expected them to keep their promises. Drunkenness and crime go hand in hand, and have increased.

By the way, what has become of our friends, Dr. Nicolas Murry Butler? It looks as though he has crawled into the hole and pulled the hole in after him.

The wise man said that there was nothing new under the sun but if he was living now, he would have to revise his opinions somewhat. He never knew anything about General Johnson and the NRA. If he were living now he would see the western farmer killing his brood sows and small pigs to raise the price of pork and the southern farmer destroying his own crops, plowing under the cotton. If he was a granger he would hear some mighty interesting subjects for debate such as "What Is the Best Breed of Hogs for A Farmer Not To Raise?" "How Long Will It Take the New Deal To Make the U. S. the Most Thoroughly Bankrupt Nation On Earth?" "Is It Misfortune For A Young Man To Inherit A Farm?"—These are all practical questions, and will no doubt be discussed in the grange meetings during the winter months.

Yours,
S. A. COWDEN,
North Beaver Twp.

Find May Prove Long Lost Grove

Believed Bones Of Signer Of Declaration Of Independence Unearthed

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19.—Belief that the long "lost" grave of Francis Hopkinson, a signer of the Declaration of Independence, has been found in the graveyard of Christ church is supported in an anatomist's examination of bones unearthed there.

Hopkinson's burial place has long been unknown. In the hope of solving this mystery, Dr. Charles Penrose Keith of the church vestry, obtained permission from descendants of the Hopkinson lineage to dig in a plot where a daughter of Hopkinson, Elizabeth Conde, was known to be buried. The skeleton of a man was unearthed.

Dr. Oscar V. Batson, professor of anatomy at the University of Pennsylvania, made a careful study of the remains and determined that the probable height, weight and age of the man and the profile of the skull were in accord with Hopkinson's stature and appearance at the time of his death in 1791.

These conclusions were reported to the Rev. Dr. Louis C. Washburn, rector of Christ church.

To Give Police The "Once-Over"

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 19.—Pittsburgh's police force is in for a new deal at the hands of Bruce Smith, former royal mounted Canadian policeman, who has been hired by the police research commission to look over the city's police situation.

Smith has spent a lifetime studying and subsequently reorganizing police forces. He invariably dons a patrolman's uniform in any town about to be "remodeled" to "get the feel of things".

WHITE HOUSE CALLERS MAY PROVE HANDICAP

President Is Capable Host

Personality Impressive To Most Visitors Who Get Into White House

PAST SITUATIONS ARE COMPARED

Central Press
Washington Bureau
1900 S street

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—Few White House visitors, who actually are admitted to the presidential presnce, leave the executive mansion in a frame of mind otherwise than favorable to the administration.

Callers who are turned away frequently leave in a highly embattled frame of mind. Arriving angry, they are still angrier at not getting in.

Those who do get in, however, generally get in because they are recognized by the presidential retainers as the administration's valuable, influential friends. Naturally they are all the friendlier at finding easy access to the White House—which is no small compliment to most folk.

Even those who ring the doorbell in a cautious frame of mind, on being immediately ushered in, generally are placated more or less. They're flattered, to put it plainly. It is flattering to have one's adverse criticisms accepted as of prime importance by so exalted an official as the president of the United States—and but a mighty small proportion of us, if any, are entirely unsusceptible to such flattery.

* * *

WILSON'S DOWNFALL

I have observed this tendency at work in Washington for a long, long time.

It was conspicuously noticeable in its operation under the regime of Woodrow Wilson. President Wilson, as he yielded more and more to the attraction of interests desirous of American participation in the World war, gained important war supporter after important war supporter by the simple procedure of inviting one after another of them into conference with him and offering to them, one after another, a choice between figuring as influential war advisers of the administration or of losing influence altogether by opposing a policy he already had decided to adopt.

He didn't convert quite 100 per cent but he didn't fall far short of it.

President Harding perhaps didn't count, but Presidents Coolidge and Hoover, in succession, gained a deal of backing, that neither logically was entitled to, by taking politico-economic opponents into their counsels and thus transforming them into at least temporary allies.

WAR PSYCHOLOGY

The system worked to near-perfection under President Wilson, for the reason that he had a national war psychology to help him. President Coolidge, in an abnormal era of so-called prosperity, didn't need to resort to it much. President Hoover greatly needed to resort to it, but was handicapped by his personality.

It is a system that President Roosevelt pre-eminently needs to utilize and is pre-eminently qualified to utilize—if he can keep it going.

At winning supporters he is a master. But can he HOLD them? If so, how long?

The psychology he must rely on isn't as dependable as the psychology on which President Wilson relied. President Wilson's was a war-time psychology, which was wholly effective, except as against Eugene V. Debs and a handful of others. President Roosevelt's reliance must be upon a depression-fighting psychology, which isn't so good. This was demonstrated by the fizzling out of General Johnson's Blue Eagle campaign. The general (and maybe the president) reckoned initially that the Blue Eagle would have all the appeal of Liberty Bonds. It didn't. The Blue Eagle has been referred to as a buzzard and so forth. No one would have dared to speak in such fashion of Liberty Bonds.

Yet, individually, President Roosevelt has a lovableness probably surpassing that of any White House predecessor.

EMBARRASSMENT, TOO?

That is his strength—but mayhap it will turn out to be his embarrassment, too.

When a delegation of ultra-liberals visits him, it comes away with assurances that he has swung definitely to the left. The next day a delegation of ultra-reactionaries, whom he has received, reports that he has swung wholly to the right. The market rises emphatically, upon what is interpreted, by a group of gold-bugs he has entertained, as a promise of adhesion to the "sound money" principle. Within 24 hours it slumps, following the issuance of pledges by a party of inflationists that its members construe presidential utterances as foreshadowing further devaluation of the dollar. Or vice versa. On Tuesday labor draws the conclusion, from remarks made at a presidential conference with the Washington correspondents, that shorter hours and higher pay are on the administration program. On Thursday, at a similar conference, the industries get the impresion that the employers' interests are to be given first consideration, as a matter of prime importance.

These shifts have been so cleverly tactical that, as yet, good cheer has preponderated, on both sides, over discouragement.

It is a wonderful performance.

But does it mean anything?—except a marvelous exhibition of political opportunism?—of no particular economic consequence?

Heaven knows. I don't.

10,000,000 Paupers?
Dangerous Vanity.
The Stoll Kidnaping.
Castor Oil Curfew.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

IN TWELVE different states action has been taken to keep from voting all American citizens listed on "relief rolls" on the ground that "as paupers" they should not vote.

President Roosevelt denounces as un-American any such procedure. No man out of work but willing to work can be called a pauper, says the President, and 10,000,000 out of work will say "Amen."

VANITY IS dangerous: the dead King Alexander testifies to it. Before he left his ship at Marseilles, he put on one of two bulletproof vests, that he had always with him.

But the Admiral's uniform chosen for the occasion, fitting in a straight tight line from the shoulder down to the waist, fitted badly over the bullet-proof vest. The King kept on the coat and left off the vest that could have stopped the bullets that went into his heart and lungs.

VANITY HAS done its most serious harm, causing men to exaggrate their own importance and success, and stop trying when their work should have been just beginning.

When a man begins to think that his personal appearance is important or his past achievements are great, he is about "through."

MRS. STOLL kidnaped, returned to her family by federal agents, asks leniency for Mrs. Thos. Robinson Jr. wife of the kidnaper because Mrs. Robinson saved her from death after the ransom money had been paid."

There probably will be little leniency, however, if Mrs. Robinson is proved to have been a conspirator in the kidnaping.

Mrs. Stoll was taken across state lines, which under the federal law, if the victim is mistreated, making kidnaping punishable by death. The actual kidnaper, Thomas H. Robinson, Jr. may escape the full penalty on the ground of insanity. He is a discharged lunatic.

If captured again and locked up, there should be no more "discharge" execept by the undertaker.

THERE IS much recklessness in discharging maniacs and idiots in this country, even when criminal weakness of mind is known.

Stone, locked up as feebleminded after being convicted of various crimes, and discharged proceeded to kill and burn the body of a five year old girl.

The discharge of this kidnaping, alleged lunatic Robinson is one of ten thousand instances.

EDWARDSVILLE, Pa., has a curfew law forbidding children under fourteen to be on the streets, after nine at night.

Violations of the law have diminished rapidly from 50 to 12, since it decided that boys and girls out late must take a dose of castor oil in the town hall, one ounce for the first violation, two for the second and three for the third.

Everybody says it is a splendid idea, but possibly filling children with castor oil and with disgust for law at fourteen may not be so very "splendid."

Mussolini is said to have tried the castor oil inducement on many with success.

A YOUNG vicious fool named Edward Lickwala wrote to Edsel Ford, You are on the spot and if you want to live it will cost you $5,000 Young Mr. Lickwala is now on the spot, and for many years living will not cost him anything, except such work as he may do in prison.

The extortion clause under the federal "Lindbergh Law," will interrupt Mr. Lickwala's kidnaping plans for a considerable length of time.

IN MANY directions you note that crime does not pay even when the criminal imagines himself unusually intelligent.

In the Ohio prison Harry Pierpont so called "brains of the Dillinger mob," sat down in a chair from which he never rose. Within one second the Dillinger "brains" had ceased to operate.

"Brains Pierpont, six feet two, made no last speech, shut his eyes, said nothing as he sat down. He had written to Miss Jessie Levy, lady lawyer who defended him "I'll take this little story with me on my last walk" and he did.

TWO HUNDRED ladies and gentlemen guilty of violating traffic rules were invited by intelligent William J. Farrell to watch a "movie" showing automobile accidents.

Small cars were seen recklessly speeding at crossings, dashing into trucks, dead passengers taken out. A stout blonde lady holding in her little fist a summons for "driving while intoxicated" shut her eyes and groaned in anguish when she saw a car go through a fence, roll down a high cliff, turning end over end, knocking pieces of stone from the face of the rocks as it fell.

There is nothing like visible facts to impress the mind. It learns through the eyes as it cannot learn through the ear. In France schoolboys were taken to a museum planned to show results of vicious living and reckless; immortality, shocking but effective.

IN NEW JERSEY independdent gasoline dealers, enjoying a price war, cut prices yesterday below eight and a half cents a gallon, lowest price in the state's history. The big oil companies keep out of the price war.

Should it occur to the government that gasoline sold for eight cents could well stand the tax of eight cents, the independent price cutters would grieve.

EMBARRASSMENT, TOO?

That is his strength—but mayhap it will turn out to be his embarrassment, too.

When a delegation of ultra-liberals visits him, it comes away with assurances that he has swung definitely to the left. The next day a delegation of ultra-reactionaries, whom he has received, reports that he has swung wholly to the right. The market rises emphatically, upon what is interpreted, by a group of gold-bugs he has entertained, as a promise of adhesion to the "sound money" principle. Within 24 hours it slumps, following the issuance of pledges by a party of inflationists that its members construe presidential utterances as foreshadowing further devaluation of the dollar. Or vice versa. On Tuesday labor draws the conclusion, from remarks made at a presidential conference with the Washington correspondents, that shorter hours and higher pay are on the administration program. On Thursday, at a similar conference, the industries get the impresion that the employers' interests are to be given first consideration, as a matter of prime importance.

These shifts have been so cleverly tactical that, as yet, good cheer has preponderated, on both sides, over discouragement.

It is a wonderful performance.

But does it mean anything?—except a marvelous exhibition of political opportunism?—of no particular economic consequence?

Heaven knows. I don't.

10,000,000 Paupers?
Dangerous Vanity.
The Stoll Kidnaping.
Castor Oil Curfew.
3y ARTHUR BRISBANE

IN TWELVE different states action has been taken to keep from voting all American citizens listed on "relief rolls" on the ground that "as paupers" they should not vote.

President Roosevelt denounces as un-American any such procedure. No man out of work but willing to work can be called a pauper, says the President, and 10,000,000 out of work will say "Amen."

VANITY IS dangerous: the dead King Alexander testifies to it. Before he left his ship at Marseilles, he put on one of two bulletproof vests, that he had always with him.

But the Admiral's uniform chosen for the occasion, fitting in a straight tight line from the shoulder down to the waist, fitted badly over the bullet-proof vest. The King kept on the coat and left off the vest that could have stopped the bullets that went into his heart and lungs.

VANITY HAS done its most serious harm, causing men to exaggrate their own importance and success, and stop trying when their work should have been just beginning.

When a man begins to think that his personal appearance is important or his past achievements are great, he is about "through."

MRS. STOLL kidnaped, returned to her family by federal agents, asks leniency for Mrs. Thos. Robinson Jr. wife of the kidnaper because Mrs. Robinson saved her from death after the ransom money had been paid."

There probably will be little leniency, however, if Mrs. Robinson is proved to have been a conspirator in the kidnaping.

Mrs. Stoll was taken across state lires, which under the federal law, if the victim is mistreated, making kidnaping punishable by death. The actual kidnaper, Thomas H. Robinson, Jr. may escape the full penalty on the ground of insanity. He is a discharged lunatic.

If captured again and locked up, there should be no more "discharge" execept by the undertaker.

THERE IS much recklessness in discharging maniacs and idiots in this country, even when criminal weakness of mind is known.

Stone, locked up as feebleminded after being convicted of various crimes, and discharged proceeded to kill and burn the body of a five year old girl.

The discharge of this kidnaping, alleged lunatic Robinson is one of ten thousand instances.

EDWARDSVILLE, Pa., has a curfew law forbidding children under fourteen to be on the streets, after nine at night.

Violations of the law have diminished rapidly from 50 to 12, since it decided that boys and girls out late must take a dose of castor oil in the town hall, one ounce for the first violation, two for the second and three for the third.

Everybody says it is a splendid idea, but possibly filling children with castor oil and with disgust for law at fourteen may not be so very "splendid."

Mussolini is said to have tried the castor oil inducement on many with success.

A YOUNG vicious fool named Edward Lickwala wrote to Edsel Ford, You are on the spot and if you want to live it will cost you $5,000 Young Mr. Lickwala is now on the spot, and for many years living will not cost him anything, except such work as he may do in prison.

The extortion clause under the federal "Lindbergh Law," will interrupt Mr. Lickwala's kidnaping plans for a considerable length of time.

IN MANY directions you note that crime does not pay even when the criminal imagines himself unusually intelligent.

In the Ohio prison Harry Pierpont so called "brains of the Dillinger mob," sat down in a chair from which he never rose. Within one second the Dillinger "brains" had ceased to operate.

"Brains Pierpont, six feet two, made no last speech, shut his eyes, said nothing as he sat down. He had written to Miss Jessie Levy, lady lawyer who defended him "I'll take this little story with me on my last walk" and he did.

TWO HUNDRED ladies and gentlemen guilty of violating traffic rules were invited by intelligent William J. Farrell to watch a "movie" showing automobile accidents.

Small cars were seen recklessly speeding at crossings, dashing into trucks, dead passengers taken out. A stout blonde lady holding in her little fist a summons for "driving while intoxicated" shut her eyes and groaned in anguish when she saw a car go through a fence, roll down a high cliff, turning end over end, knocking pieces of stone from the face of the rocks as it fell.

There is nothing like visible facts to impress the mind. It learns through the eyes as it cannot learn through the ear. In France schoolboys were taken to a museum planned to show results of vicious living and reckless, immortality, shocking but effective.

IN NEW JERSEY independdent gasoline dealers, enjoying a price war, cut prices yesterday below eight and a half cents a gallon, lowest price in the state's history. The big oil companies keep out of the price war.

Should it occur to the government that gasoline sold for eight cents could well stand the tax of eight cents, the independent price cutters would grieve.

Controller Asks Thayer Company For More Facts

Asks On What Bill For $24,280 For Court House Plans Is Based

ARTICLE FIVE OF CONTRACT GIVEN

County Controller, R. C. McCaslin has sent a letter to the Thayer Company, architects, and a copy to the county commissioners, relative to the claim of the Thayer Company for $24,280 commission for drawing plans for a new court house.

The letter is as follows:

"My Attorney, Orville Brown, has advised me that the resolution of the county commissioners of August 24th, 1934 sets forth that it is not the intention of the commissioners that you do any more work upon plans and specifications for a new court house. But the resolution goes no further than this. I take it that I am not to be left to conjecture in this matter and that, if your claim is made exclusively on the basis of the second paragraph of article 5 of the agreement, I should be more definitely advised. I am sending a copy of this letter to the county commissioners.

"I trust that you and the county commissioners may be able to advance this matter to a point where I can investigate the claim further and pass on it."

The second paragraph of article referred to in the above letter relates to the agreement made by the commissioners with the Thayer Company. It says "If the construction or completion of the building should be suspended, abandoned, or unreasonably postponed, or if after approval of the preliminary sketches, the owner should for any cause decide to sever its relations with the architects, it may by resolution terminate this contract, then in either of the above cases, the owner shall pay the architects such fees, reimbursements and compensations as shall be payable under this agreement, for the work done, and such part of any further payments, as the work done bears to the whole work required to be done to entitle the architects to such further payment, plus an amount equal to one per cent of the cost or estimated cost of the building, in lieu of any prospective profits, and as liquidated damages for any loss sustained by termination of this contract, and such sums so paid shall be in full discharge and satisfaction of all liability of the owner under this agreement; provided that in the case of the resumption of work to be determined upon, the owner may, by resolution resume its relations with the architects under this contract and in such event all payments previously made shall be held to be payments on account of the architects total fee and compensation."

When it became evident that no site would be approved for a new court house the county commissioners passed a resolution to the effect that the Thayer company should not do any more work in connection with the plans and specifications under their contract. The Thayer company was given a copy of the resolution.

The matter next came up when the Thayer Company presented a bill to the county controller setting forth that about 95 per cent of the work had been done, and claiming $34,280 under the above article 5 of the contract. This amount is in addition to the $7,300 already paid the architects for preliminary plans.

The county controller and his attorney, Orville Brown feel that there should be some more specific statement of claim, before they will be able to pass judgment on the merits of the bill as presented.

Observance Of Navy Day Planned

Annual Celebration Will Be Conducted At Naval Stations October 27

In 1922, recognizing the great interest of the American public in its Navy, President Harding designated 27 October as Navy Day.

This date was chosen by the Navy League, first, because it was the anniversary of the Continental Congress, authorization for the first expenditures for building our Continental Navy, and secondly, because it is the anniversary of the late Theodore Roosevelt, former secretary of the navy and President of the United States.

Because of the late Theodore Roosevelt's enthusiam, far-sightedness and active advocacy for measures to strengthen the Navy, he has often been called "The Father of the Modern-Day Navy."

Navy Yards and stations throughout the country will be open to all visitors on this day, which falls on a Saturday this year. An extensive program if interesting features is being arranged by the Navy Yard, Philadelphia, details of which will be published in the near future.

The U. S. S. Minneapolis, a new 10,000-ton cruiser, which was built at the Philadelphia Navy Yard, and which has recently returned from making a foreign shake-down cruise, will be open to visitors at Philadelphia.

Brotzman got his start when he was given a pet lamb by a neighbor when a boy of three.

Examine Pupils Of County Schools

Completing Work Of Examining First Year Pupils In Rural Districts

Work is being completed in Lawrence county by three doctors, who are engaged in health inspections of the children who entered the first grade this year who had not been previously examined by the emergency child health committee or Parent-Teacher Association May Day activities.

The doctors engaged in the work and the districts they are covering are as follows:

Dr. E. D. Jackson: Bessemer, North Beaver township, Little Beaver township and Wayne township.

Dr. G. E. Seal: Plaingrove, Shenango Township, South New Castle Borough, Taylor township, Union township.

Dr. H. M. Hart: Wilmington township and New Wilmington.

Approximately 340 pupils are being examined by the doctors in this program, authorized by the Department of Public Instruction.

On Court House Hill

Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard reports that there are now only 21 prisoners in the county jail, 19 men and 2 women. This is the lowest number for some time.

Perry Snyder, superintendent of the county home, with his crew of helpers from the home have dug 750 bushels of potatoes. The turnout was above estimates.

The county commissioners report that repairs have been completed on the Means bridge near New Wilmington. The bridge needed new planks and other repairs.

Charter for the Silverman Economy Shoe Shop has been recorded at the register and recorder's office. The incorporators are David Silverman and Rose Silverman of this city and Abe Brody of Punxsutawney. Capital stock is $10,000, divided into 100 shares of the par value of $100 per share.

Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard has secured from the printer large copies of the election proclamation to be posted in conspicious places. The proclamation contains a list of candidates and the locations of the different election precincts of the county.

The register and recorder's office has been a busy place this week with attorneys closing many Home Owners loans. In many cases it is necessary to get releases of claims subsequent to the mortgage already on a property before the Home Owers-corporation mortgage can be recorded.

County commissioners, with their attorney, William McElwee, were out on the Youngstown hill yesterday, securing releases from persons who believe that their properties have been damaged. Agreements have been reached with regard to some of the claims, but there are others who want more than the commissioners believe is justified, and viewers may have to be appointed.

Clerks in the prothonotary's office are busy filing the latest batch of delinquent tax claims presented by the collector from Shenango township. There are over one-hundred of these claims.

Another term of common pleas court is scheduled to begin on November 12. It is expected that the list of cases will be pretty well cleaned up at this session. It is said that the trial list is more nearly cleaned up here than in any court in Western Pennsylvania.

During the past few days a number of persons have visited the county commissioners office complaining that their water has been shut off for non-payment of bills, and wanting the commissioners to do something. As the applicants have been persons residing within the city and appeared able to work, they were referred to the relief headquarters in the knitting mill building.

A marriage license was issued this week to a man 75 years of age and a woman 66. The man lived in Florida and the woman in Youngstown.

An opinion from the Superior court was received by Prothonotary R. M. Campbell yesterday in the case of the General Motors Acceptance Corporation against J. Clyde Gilfillan, guardian of Mary Elizabeth Gilfillan, in which the higher court sustained the decision of Judge James L. Chambers. The case was based on a sheriff's interpleader, the question being whether a claim of Mary Elizabeth Gilfillan against Ralph Hartman, took precedence over a claim of the General Motors Acceptance corporation, to an automobile. The claim of the General Motors Acceptance corporation, was sustained.

Controller Asks Thayer Company For More Facts

ARTICLE FIVE OF CONTRACT GIVEN

County Controller, R. C. McCaslin has sent a letter to the Thayer Company, architects, and a copy to the county commissioners, relative to the claim of the Thayer Company for $24,280 commission for drawing plans for a new court house.

The letter is as follows:

"My Attorney, Orville Brown, has advised me that the resolution of the county commissioners of August 24th, 1934 sets forth that it is not the intention of the commissioners that you do any more work upon plans and specifications for a new court house. But the resolution goes no further than this. It says "If the construction or completion of the building should be suspended, abandoned, or unreasonably postponed, or if after approval of the preliminary sketches, the owner should for any cause decide to sever its relations with the architects, it may by resolution terminate this contract, then in either of the above cases, the owner shall pay the architects such fees, reimbursements and compensations as shall be payable under this agreement, for the work done, and such part of any further payments, as the work done bears to the whole work required to be done to entitle the architects to such further payment, plus an amount equal to one per cent of the cost or estimated cost of the building, in lieu of any prospective profits, and as liquidated damages for any loss sustained by termination of this contract, and such sums so paid shall be in full discharge and satisfaction of all liability of the owner under this agreement; provided that in the case of the resumption of work to be determined upon, the owner may, by resolution resume its relations with the architects under this contract and in such event all payments previously made shall be held to be payments on account of the architects total fee and compensation."

When it became evident that no site would be approved for a new court house the county commissioners passed a resolution to the effect that the Thayer company should not do any more work in connection with the plans and specifications under their contract. The Thayer company was given a copy of the resolution.

The matter next came up when the Thayer Company presented a bill to the county controller setting forth that about 95 per cent of the work had been done, and claiming $34,280 under the above article 5 of the contract. This amount is in addition to the $7,800 already paid the architects for preliminary plans.

The county controller and his attorney, Orville Brown feel that there should be some more specific statement of claim, before they will be able to pass judgment on the merits of the bill as presented.

During the past few days a number of persons have visited the county commissioners office complaining that their water has been shut off for non-payment of bills, and wanting the commissioners to do something. As the applicants have been persons residing within the city and appeared able to work, they were referred to the relief headquarters in the knitting mill building.

A marriage license was issued this week to a man 75 years of age and a woman 66. The man lived in Florida and the woman in Youngstown.

An opinion from the Superior court was received by Prothonotary R. M. Campbell yesterday in the case of the General Motors Acceptance Corporation against J. Clyde Gilfillan, guardian of Mary Elizabeth Gilfillan, in which the higher court sustained the decision of Judge James S. Chambers. The case was based on a sheriff's interpleader, the question being whether a claim of Mary Elizabeth Gilfillan against Ralph Hartman, took precedence over a claim of the General Motors Acceptance corporation, to an automobile. The claim of the General Motors Acceptance corporation, was sustained.

WHITE HOUSE CALLERS MAY PROVE HANDICAP

President Is Capable Host

PAST SITUATIONS ARE COMPARED

Central Press
Washington Bureau
1900 S street

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—Few White House visitors, who actually are admitted to the presidential presnce, leave the executive mansion in a frame of mind otherwise than favorable to the administration.

Callers who are turned away frequently leave in a highly embattled frame of mind. Arriving angry, they are still angrier at not getting in.

Those who do get in, however, generally get in because they are recognized by the presidential retainers as the administration's valuable, influential friends. Naturally they are all the friendlier at finding easy access to the White House—which is no small compliment to most folk.

Even those who ring the doorbell in a cautious frame of mind, on being immediately ushered in, generally are placated more or less. They're flattered, to put it plainly. It is flattering to have one's adverse criticisms accepted as of prime importance by so exalted an official as the president of the United States—and but a mighty small proportion of us, if any, are entirely unsusceptible to such flattery.

* * *

I have observed this tendency at work in Washington for a long, long time.

It was conspicuously noticeable in its operation under the regime of Woodrow Wilson. President Wilson, as he yielded more and more to the attraction of interests desirous of American participation in the World war, gained important war supporter after important war supporter by the simple procedure of inviting one after another of them into conference with him and offering to them, one after another, a choice between figuring as influential war advisers of the administration or of losing influence altogether by opposing a policy he already had decided to adopt.

He didn't convert quite 100 per cent but he didn't fall far short of it.

President Harding perhaps didn't count, but Presidents Coolidge and Hoover, in succession, gained a deal of backing, that neither logically was entitled to, by taking politico-economic opponents into their counsels and thus transforming them into at least temporary allies.

WAR PSYCHOLOGY

The system worked to near-perfection under President Wilson, for the reason that he had a national war psychology to help him. President Coolidge, in an abnormal era of so-called prosperity, didn't need to resort to it much. President Hoover greatly needed to resort to it, but was handicapped by his personality.

It is a system that President Roosevelt pre-eminently needs to utilize and is pre-eminently qualified to utilize—if he can keep it going.

At winning supporters he is a master. But can he HOLD them? If so, how long?

The psychology he must rely on isn't as dependable as the psychology on which President Wilson relied. President Wilson's was a war-time psychology, which was wholly effective, except as against Eugene V. Debs and a handful of others. President Roosevelt's reliance must be upon a depression-fighting psychology, which isn't so good. This was demonstrated by the fizzling out of General Johnson's Blue Eagle campaign. The general (and maybe the president) reckoned initially that the Blue Eagle would have all the appeal of Liberty Bonds. It didn't. The Blue Eagle has been referred to as a buzzard and so forth. No one would have dared to speak in such fashion of Liberty Bonds.

Yet, individually, President Roosevelt has a lovableness probably surpassing that of any White House predecessor.

* * *

EMBARRASSMENT, TOO?

That is his strength—but mayhap it will turn out to be his embarrassment, too.

When a delegation of ultra-liberals visits him, it comes away with assurances that he has swung definitely to the left. The next day a delegation of ultra-reactionaries, whom he has received, reports that he has swung wholly to the right. The market rises emphatically, upon what is interpreted, by a group of gold-bugs he has entertained, as a promise of adhesion to the "sound money" principle. Within 24 hours it slumps, following the issuance of pledges by a party of inflationists that its members construe presidential utterances as foreshadowing further devaluation of the dollar. Or vice versa. On Tuesday labor draws the conclusion, from remarks made at a presidential conference with the Washington correspondents, that shorter hours and higher pay are on the administration program. On Thursday, at a similar conference, the industries get the impresion that the employers' interests are to be given first consideration, as a matter of prime importance.

These shifts have been so cleverly tactical that, as yet, good cheer has preponderated, on both sides, over discouragement.

It is a wonderful performance.

But does it mean anything?—except a marvelous exhibition of political opportunism?—of no particular economic consequence?

Heaven knows. I don't.

10,000,000 Paupers?
Dangerous Vanity.
The Stoll Kidnaping.
Castor Oil Curfew.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

IN TWELVE different states action has been taken to keep from voting all American citizens listed on "relief rolls" on the ground that "as paupers" they should not vote.

President Roosevelt denounces as un-American any such procedure. No man out of work but willing to work can be called a pauper, says the President, and 10,000,000 out of work will say "Amen."

VANITY IS dangerous: the dead King Alexander testifies to it. Before he left his ship at Marseilles, he put on one of two bulletproof vests, that he had always with him.

But the Admiral's uniform chosen for the occasion, fitting in a straight tight line from the shoulder down to the waist, fitted badly over the bullet-proof vest. The King kept on the coat and left off the vest that could have stopped the bullets that went into his heart and lungs.

VANITY HAS done its most serious harm, causing men to exaggrate their own importance and success, and stop trying when their work should have been just beginning.

When a man begins to think that his personal appearance is important or his past achievements are great, he is about "through."

MRS. STOLL kidnaped, returned to her family by federal agents, asks leniency for Mrs. Thos. Robinson Jr. wife of the kidnaper because Mrs. Robinson saved her from death after the ransom money had been paid."

There probably will be little leniency, however, if Mrs. Robinson is proved to have been a conspirator in the kidnaping.

Mrs. Stoll was taken across state lines, which under the federal law, if the victim is mistreated, making kidnaping punishable by death. The actual kidnaper, Thomas H. Robinson, Jr. may escape the full penalty on the ground of insanity. He is a discharged lunatic.

If captured again and locked up, there should be no more "discharge" excepy by the undertaker.

THERE IS much recklessness in discharging maniacs and idiots in this country, even when criminal weakness of mind is known.

Stone, locked up as feebleminded after being convicted of various crimes, and discharged proceeded to kill and burn the body of a five year old girl.

The discharge of this kidnaping, alleged lunatic Robinson is one of ten thousand instances.

EDWARDSVILLE, Pa., has a curfew law forbidding children under fourteen to be on the streets, after nine at night.

Violations of the law have diminished rapidly from 50 to 12, since it decided that boys and girls out late must take a dose of castor oil in the town hall, one ounce for the first violation, two for the second and three for the third.

Everybody says it is a splendid idea, but possibly filling children with castor oil and with disgust for law at fourteen may not be so very "splendid."

Mussolini is said to have tried the castor oil inducement on many with success.

A YOUNG vicious fool named Edward Lickwala wrote to Edsel Ford, You are on the spot and if you want to live it will cost you $5,000 Young Mr. Lickwala is now on the spot, and for many years living will not cost him anything, except such work as he may do in prison.

The extortion clause under the federal "Lindbergh Law," will interrupt Mr. Lickwala's kidnaping plans for a considerable length of time.

IN MANY directions you note that crime does not pay even when the criminal imagines himself unusually intelligent.

In the Ohio prison Harry Pierpont so called "brains of the Dillinger mob," sat down in a chair from which he never rose. Within one second the Dillinger "brains" had ceased to operate.

"Brains Pierpont, six feet two, made no last speech, shut his eyes, said nothing as he sat down. He had written to Miss Jessie Levy, lady lawyer who defended him "I'll take this little story with me on my last walk" and he did.

TWO HUNDRED ladies and gentlemen guilty of violating traffic rules were invited by intelligent William J. Farrell to watch a "movie" showing automobile accidents.

Small cars were seen recklessly speeding at crossings, dashing into trucks, dead passengers taken out. A stout blonde lady holding in her little fist a summons for "driving while intoxicated" shut her eyes and groaned in anguish when she saw a car go through a fence, roll down a high cliff, turning end over end, knocking pieces of stone from the face of the rocks as it fell.

There is nothing like visible facts to impress the mind. It learns through the eyes as it cannot learn through the ear. In France schoolboys were taken to a museum planned to show results of vicious living and reckless, immortality, shocking but effective.

IN NEW JERSEY independdent gasoline dealers, enjoying a price war, cut prices yesterday below eight and a half cents a gallon, lowest price in the state's history. The big oil companies keep out of the price war.

Should it occur to the government that gasoline sold for eight cents could well stand the tax of eight cents, the independent price cutters would grieve.

Accusations By Governor Pinchot Denied By Guffey

(International News Service)

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Oct. 19.—A vehement, categorical denial today was Joseph F. Guffey's answer to the charge of Gov. Gifford Pinchot at Charleroi last night that the Democratic senatorial candidate had obtained funds from Andrew W. Mellon to square his accounts with the federal government following his indictment for embezzlement in 1922.

Declaring the governor's accusation was "absolutely untrue," Guffey in a statement here last night said:

"I have never in my life received or borrowed a dollar from Andrew W. Mellon, from any member of the Mellon family, or from any associates of Mellon.

"I have no obligation financially, politically or socially to any of the Mellons."

Charging the governor was "again singing his hymn of hate," Guffey continued:

"It is humiliating to all good citizens of Pennsylvania to see this once fine stature of a man being used by his former enemies to do their dirty work in this campaign, degrading the office and bringing his long political career to a shameful end.

"I wish that I, in common with the rest of you, could turn away my face and not notice this sad spectacle.

"But, it is my duty to the great cause which I represent to answer the absolutely untruthful statements of the governor."

Referring to the governor's charge that the absence of campaign attacks upon David R. Reed, his Republican opponent, constituted proof that both were "puppets" of Mellon, Guffey said that before the present campaign opened he and Reed had reached an understanding to confine their speeches to issues rather than personalities.

Accusations By Governor Pinchot Denied By Guffey

(International News Service)

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Oct. 19.—A vehement, categorical denial today was Joseph F. Guffey's answer to the charge of Gov. Gifford Pinchot at Charlerol last night that the Democratic senatorial candidate had obtained funds from Andrew W. Mellon to square his accounts with the federal government following his indictment for embezzlement in 1922.

Declaring the governor's accusation was "absolutely untrue," Guffey in a statement here last night said:

"I have never in my life received or borrowed a dollar from Andrew W. Mellon, from any member of the Mellon family, or from any associates of Mellon.

"I have no obligation financially, politically or socially to any of the Mellons."

Charging the governor was "again singing his hymn of hate," Guffey continued:

"It is humiliating to all good citizens of Pennsylvania to see this once fine stature of a man being used by his former enemies to do their dirty work in this campaign, degrading the office and bringing his long political career to a shameful end.

"I wish that I, in common with the rest of you, could turn away my face and not notice this sad spectacle.

"But, it is my duty to the great cause which I represent to answer the absolutely untruthful statements of the governor."

Referring to the governor's charge that the absence of campaign attacks upon David R. Reed, his Republican opponent, constituted proof that both were "puppets" of Mellon, Guffey said that before the present campaign opened he and Reed had reached an understanding to confine their speeches to issues rather than personalities.

Controller Asks Thayer Company For More Facts

ARTICLE FIVE OF CONTRACT GIVEN

County Controller, R. C. McCaslin has sent a letter to the Thayer Company, architects, and a copy to the county commissioners, relative to the claim of the Thayer Company for $24,280 commission for drawing plans for a new court house.

The letter is as follows:

"My Attorney, Orville Brown, has advised me that the resolution of the county commissioners of August 24th, 1934 sets forth that it is not the intention of the commissioners that you do any more work upon plans and specifications for a new court house. But the resolution goes no further than this. I take it that I am not to be left to conjecture in this matter and that, if your claim is made exclusively on the basis of the second paragraph of article 5 of the agreement, I should be more definitely advised. I am sending a copy of this letter to the county commissioners.

"I trust that you and the county commissioners may be able to advance this matter to a point where I can investigate the claim further and pass on it."

The second paragraph of article 5 referred to in the above letter relates to the agreement made by the commissioners with the Thayer Company. It says "If the construction or completion of the building should be suspended, abandoned, or unreasonably postponed, or if after approval of the preliminary sketches, the owner should for any cause decide to sever its relations with the architects, it may by resolution terminate this contract, then in either of the above cases, the owner shall pay the architects such fees, reimbursements and compensations as shall be payable under this agreement, for the work done, and such part of any further payments, as the work done bears to the whole work required to be done to entitle the architects to such further payment, plus an amount equal to one per cent of the cost or estimated cost of the building, in lieu of any prospective profits, and as liquidated damages for any loss sustained by termination of this contract, and such sums so paid shall be in full discharge and satisfaction of all liability of the owner under this agreement; provided that in the case of the resumption of work to be determined upon, the owner may, by resolution resume its relations with the architects under this contract and in such event all payments previously made shall be held to be payments on account of the architects total fee and compensation."

When it became evident that no site would be approved for a new court house the county commissioners passed a resolution to the effect that the Thayer company should not do any more work in connection with the plans and specifications under their contract. The Thayer company was given a copy of the resolution.

The matter next came up when the Thayer Company presented a bill to the county controller setting forth that about 95 per cent of the work had been done, and claiming $24,280 under the above article 5 of the contract. This amount is in addition to the $7,800 already paid the architects for preliminary plans.

The county controller and his attorney, Orville Brown feel that there should be some more specific statement of claim, before they will be able to pass judgment on the merits of the bill as presented.

Observance Of Navy Day Planned

Annual Celebration Will Be Conducted At Naval Stations October 27

In 1922, recognizing the great interest of the American public in its Navy, President Harding designated 27 October as Navy Day.

This date was chosen by the Navy League, first, because it was the anniversary of the Continental Congress, authorization for the first expenditures for building our Continental Navy, and secondly, because it is the anniversary of the late Theodore Roosevelt, former secretary of the navy and President of the United States.

Because of the late Theodore Roosevelt's enthusiam, far-sightedness and active advocacy for measures to strengthen the Navy, he has often been called "The Father of the Modern-Day Navy."

Navy Yards and stations throughout the country will be open to all visitors on this day, which falls on a Saturday this year. An extensive program if interesting features is being arranged by the Navy Yard, Philadelphia, details of which will be published in the near future.

The U. S. S. Minneapolis, a new 10,000-ton cruiser, which was built at the Philadelphia Navy Yard, and which has recently returned from making a foreign shake-down cruise, will be open to visitors at Philadelphia.

Pet Lamb Started This Sheep Farmer

(International News Service)

SUSQUEHANNA, Pa., Oct. 19.—William Brotzman, a farmer of near Rush, has owned sheep continuously for 73 years and has lived on his present farm for 53 years, according to a report by Charles R. Sims, district dog law enforcement agent.

Brotzman got his start when he was given a pet lamb by a neighbor when a boy of three.

Examine Pupils Of County Schools

Completing Work Of Examing First Year Pupils In Rural Districts

Work is being completed in Lawrence county by three doctors, who are engaged in health inspections of the children who entered the first grade this year who had not been previously examined by the emergency child health committee or Parent-Teacher Association May Day activities.

The doctors engaged in the work and the districts they are covering are as follows:

Dr. E. D. Jackson: Bessemer, North Beaver township, Little Beaver township and Wayne township.

Dr. G. E. Seal: Plaingrove, Shenango Township, South New Castle Borough, Taylor township, Union township.

Dr. H. M. Hart: Wilmington township and New Wilmington.

Approximately 340 pupils are being examined by the doctors in this program, authorized by the Department of Public Instruction.

On Court House Hill

Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard reports that there are now only 21 prisoners in the county jail, 19 men and 2 women. This is the lowest number for some time.

Perry Snyder, superintendent of the county home, with his crew of helpers from the home have dug 750 bushels of potatoes. The turnout was above estimates.

The county commissioners report that repairs have been completed on the Means bridge near New Wilmington. The bridge needed new planks and other repairs.

Charter for the Silverman Economy Shoe Shop has been recorded at the register and recorder's office. The incorporators are David Silverman and Rose Silverman of this city and Abe Brody of Punxsutawney. Capital stock is $10,000, divided into 100 shares of the par value of $100 per share.

Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard has secured from the printer large copies of the election proclamation to be posted in conspicious places. The proclamation contains a list of candidates and the locations of the different election precincts of the county.

The register and recorder's office has been a busy place this week with attorneys closing many Home Owners loans. In many cases it is necessary to get releases of claims subsequent to the mortgage already on a property before the Home Owers-corporation mortgage can be recorded.

County commissioners, with their attorney, William McElwee, were out on the Youngstown hill yesterday, securing releases from persons who believe that their properties have been damaged. Agreements have been reached with regard to some of the claims, but there are others who want more than the commissioners believe is justified, and viewers may have to be appointed.

Clerks in the prothonotary's office are busy filing the latest batch of delinquent tax claims presented by the collector from Shenango township. There are over one-hundred of these claims.

Another term of common pleas court is scheduled to begin on November 12. It is expected that the list of cases will be pretty well cleaned up at this session. It is said that the trial list is more nearly cleaned up here than in any court in Western Pennsylvania.

During the past few days a number of persons have visited the county commissioners office complaining that their water has been shut off for non-payment of bills, and wanting the commissioners to do something. As the applicants have been persons residing within the city and appeared able to work, they were referred to the relief headquarters in the knitting mill building.

A marriage license was issued this week to a man 75 years of age and a woman 66. The man lived in Florida and the woman in Youngstown.

An opinion from the Superior court was received by Prothonotary R. M. Campbell yesterday in the case of the General Motors Acceptance Corporation against J. Clyde Gilfillan, guardian of Mary Elizabeth Gilfillan, in which the higher court sustained the decision of Judge James J. Chambers. The case was based on a sheriff's interpleader, the question being whether a claim of Mary Elizabeth Gilfillan against Ralph Hartman, took precedence over a claim of the General Motors Acceptance corporation, to an automobile. The claim of the General Motors Acceptance corporation, was sustained.

Shoots Lover And Commits Suicide

SOUGHT TO END FIVE-YEAR ROMANCE

(International News Service)

UPPER DARBY, Pa., Oct. 19.—An attractive 35-year-old divorcee's desire to end her five-year friendship with an automobile salesman, according to police, precipitated a shooting tragedy today.

The spurned suitor, Ross G. Eby, 35, died this morning in Delaware county hospital from self-inflicted bullet wounds in the abdomen and brain.

The woman, Mrs. Mabel Pease, 35-year-old stenographer, lay in the same hospital, near death. She was shot in the abdomen by her rejected admirer a few minutes before he turned the revolver upon himself.

Hold Little Hope

Doctors held little hope for her recovery.

The shooting occurred in Manoa, Haverford township, witnesses said, they saw Mrs. Pease jump out of Eby's car and run toward them, screaming for help.

Pursuing the fleeing woman, Eby fired just as she turned around toward him. Then, he drove off while the wounded stenographer was rushed to the hospital.

A few minutes later a police squad found Eby seated against a telephone pole, bleeding from his suicidal wounds.

Secretary Ickes Is Disappointed

Government Is Unable To Block Unloading Of Gasoline At Bayonne, N. J.

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19—Secretary of Interior Ickes is "disappointed" at the outcome of the government's attempt to block the unloading of gasoline at Bayonne, N. J., from two tankers.

The government's attempt was based on the suspicion the tankers carried illegally produced oil but the U. S. District Court at Trenton, dismissed the case for lack of sufficient evidence.

"Our people did not handle those cases," Ickles observed today. "They are in the hands of the department of justice, so that it would not be up to me to comment further."

Dissatisfaction

It was recalled that considerable dissatisfaction beneath the surface, was caused by the decision to put prosecutions in the department of justice's jurisdiction, rather than leaving it with the oil administration.

Ickles blamed the current New York and New Jersey war in the gasoline industry on the "pressure of hot oil shipped in from East Texas." Efforts of the government to check illegal pumping of oil in this area have been blocked. Agents of the oil administration were in some cases barred from access to records and in others, threatened by armed guards in the well areas.

Air Mail Control Change Demand Made By Industry

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—The aviation industry was virtually united today in a drive to take control of air mail from Postmaster General Farley, who annulled the domestic contracts last winter.

A bi-partisan commission, with power to fix rates and award contracts, is recommended by most of the leading air mail operators as a means of avoiding another upheaval such as the contract annullment.

The operators are attempting to persuade the president's aviation commission to make this recommendation for congressional action. They are urging speed, describing the condition of the industry as critical.

According to the police report of their actions the women, who are sisters, were taken to the A. C. club, Long avenue, last night and they displayed a .22 calibre revolver. Police were notified and arrested them in Moravia street. The revolver was found in Louise Fleming's blouse.

She told the mayor in police court she had borrowed the revolver, which was loaded, from a male friend for her protection. A box of cartridges she threw out of the cruiser car was found and was part of the evidence against her.

Accusations By Governor Pinchot Denied By Guffey

(International News Service)

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Oct. 19.—A vehement, categorical denial today was Joseph F. Guffey's answer to the charge of Gov. Gifford Pinchot at Charleroi last night that the Democratic senatorial candidate had obtained funds from Andrew W. Mellon to square his accounts with the federal government following his indictment for embezzlement in 1922.

Declaring the governor's accusation was "absolutely untrue," Guffey in a statement here last night said:

"I have never in my life received or borrowed a dollar from Andrew W. Mellon, from any member of the Mellon family, or from any associates of Mellon.

"I have no obligation financially, politically or socially to any of the Mellons."

Charging the governor was "again singing his hymn of hate," Guffey continued:

"It is humiliating to all good citizens of Pennsylvania to see this once fine stature of a man being used by his former enemies to do their dirty work in this campaign, degrading the office and bringing his long political career to a shameful end.

"I wish that I, in common with the rest of you, could turn away my face and not notice this sad spectacle.

"But, it is my duty to the great cause which I represent to answer the absolutely untruthful statements of the governor."

Referring to the governor's charge that the absence of campaign attacks upon David R. Reed, his Republican opponent, constituted proof that both were "puppets" of Mellon, Guffey said that before the present campaign opened he and Reed had reached an understanding to confine their speeches to issues rather than personalities.

District Y Men Meet Here Today

Association Officers From Seven Cities Attend; Discuss Problems

That today's economic conditions present to the Young Men's Christian association inescapable challenge to expand its clubwork among youth was the keynote thought expressed in an informal discussion on "Y. M. C. A. Clubwork" at today's Central West District Employed Officers' conference, in session at the local association this morning and this afternoon.

Philo C. Dix, general secretary of the Pennsylvania Y. M. C. A., who came with Mrs. Dix from Harrisburg, led the open forum on club development.

The conference, embracing the seven associations of the Central West district, opened at 10 this morning and was to adjourn about 3 this afternoon. The visiting Y officers and their wives were served dinner in the Y banquet hall.

Present today as guests of R. L. Meermans, general secretary here, were the following general secretaries: John M. Durno, Butler; A. H. Shook, Tarentum; W. H. Seybolt, New Kensington, and L. H. McCollough, New Brighton. Other conference members are H. M. Caldwell of the Coraopolis association and F. C. Benner of the Sewickley branch, and Mr. Meermans.

Charge Woman Carried Revolver

Ann and Louise Fleming, said to be from Cincinnati but who have been here several weeks, were arrested by police in Moravia street early this morning and today were sentenced by Mayor Mayne in police court to pay a fine of $25 each, in default of which they were ordered committed to the county jail for 30 days.

According to the police report of their actions the women, who are sisters, were taken to the A. C. club, Long avenue, last night and they displayed a .22 calibre revolver. Police were notified and arrested them in Moravia street. The revolver was found in Louise Fleming's blouse.

She told the mayor in police court she had borrowed the revolver, which was loaded, from a male friend for her protection. A box of cartridges she threw out of the cruiser car was found and was part of the evidence against her.

Shoots Lover And Commits Suicide

SOUGHT TO END FIVE-YEAR ROMANCE

(International News Service)

UPPER DARBY, Pa., Oct. 19.—An attractive 35-year-old divorcee's desire to end her five-year friendship with an automobile salesman, according to police, precipitated a shooting tragedy today.

The spurned suitor, Ross G. Eby, 35, died this morning in Delaware county hospital from self-inflicted bullet wounds in the abdomen and brain.

The woman, Mrs. Mabel Pease, 35-year-old stenographer, lay in the same hospital, near death. She was shot in the abdomen by her rejected admirer a few minutes before he turned the revolver upon himself.

Hold Little Hope

Doctors held little hope for her recovery.

The shooting occurred in Manoa, Haverford township, witnesses said, they saw Mrs. Pease jump out of Eby's car and run toward them, screaming for help.

Pursuing the fleeing woman, Eby fired just as she turned around toward him. Then, he drove off while the wounded stenographer was rushed to the hospital.

A few minutes later a police squad found Eby seated against a telephone pole, bleeding from his suicidal wounds.

Secretary Ickes Is Disappointed

Government Is Unable To Block Unloading Of Gasoline At Bayonne, N. J.

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19—Secretary of Interior Ickes is "disappointed" at the outcome of the government's attempt to block the unloading of gasoline at Bayonne, N. J., from two tankers.

The government's attempt was based on the suspicion the tankers carried illegally produced oil but the U. S. District Court at Trenton, dismissed the case for lack of sufficient evidence.

"Our people did not handle those cases," Ickles observed today. "They are in the hands of the department of justice, so that it would not be up to me to comment further."

Dissatisfaction

It was recalled that considerable dissatisfaction beneath the surface, was caused by the decision to put prosecutions in the department of justice's jurisdiction, rather than leaving it with the oil administration.

Ickles blamed the current New York and New Jersey war in the gasoline industry on the "pressure of hot oil shipped in from East Texas." Efforts of the government to check illegal pumping of oil in this area have been blocked. Agents of the oil administration were in some cases barred from access to records and in others, threatened by armed guards in the well areas.

The youngsters gave their rapt attention as they heard all about the "Wizard Pupil" and "The Wolf and the Blacksmith." Air Mail Control Change Demand Made By Industry

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—The aviation industry was virtually united today in a drive to take control of air mail from Postmaster General Farley, who annulled the domestic contracts last winter.

A bi-partisan commission, with power to fix rates and award contracts, is recommended by most of the leading air mail operators as a means of avoiding another upheaval such as the contract annulment.

The operators are attempting to persuade the president's aviation commission to make this recommendation for congressional action. They are urging speed, describing the condition of the industry as critical.

House Rentals Are On Increase

Seen As Actual Factor In Recovery From Depression In U. S.

MAY GIVE SPURT TO HOME BUILDING

Central Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—The topsy-turviness of up-to-date recovery reasoning is illuminatingly brought out in recent reports to the National Association of Real Estate boards from leading realtors thruout the country, concerning rental levels in their various widely-scattered localities.

These reports show conclusively that rentals are rising very generally; not everywhere, but as a rule; less on some classes of premises than on others, but more or less, as to nearly all classes; from five to 10 per cent, on an average, and in a few, but not many areas even a little more than 10 per cent. In the main, the tendency decidedly is upward.

The National Association of Real Estate boards, through its secretary, Herbert U. Nelson, recognizes that this is bad news to the rank-and-file of family and rent-paying business budgeteers—bad momentarily. Yet it is good news, Secretary Nelson argues, from the standpoint of recovery economics; and thus, in the long run, says Secretary Nelson, it will prove to be good news to the whole American people.

Basis Of Optimism

The real estate boards' logic is that all-around recovery awaits, largely, a revival in building activities—which cannot be expected as the boards see the situation, until rentals reach an altitude to make it an inducement to realty owners to build, for the sake of profit, from their tenants, on their construction investments.

With rising rentals, the realtors are confident that land owners will sense such a prospect, and begin building.

It is a school of thought that seems to me to be based on a boom psychology.

Correctly Speaking—

"Less" should not be used in place of "fewer". Say "Fewer men were hurt", not "Less men were hurt".

Coal Tonnage Shows A Slight Increase

(International News Service)

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 19.—Slight increases in Monongahela railway and Monongahela river coal and commerce shipments were reported for August over July.

Rail coal tonnage aggregated 795,950 tons, an increase of 41,100 tons over July, while river tonnage jumped 24,490 tons to 544,935 tons.

Weak shelled eggs are laid by hens not getting enough grit or vitamin D. Oyster shells or limestone grit should be kept before the birds all the time.

New Confession Made By Killer

Move For First Degree Indictment Against Slayer Of Nancy Jean Costigan

(International News Service)

MOUNT VERNON, N. Y., Oct. 19.—Westchester county authorities Thursday were to move for a first degree murder indictment against Lawrence Stone, 24, as a result of a new confession in which an altered version is given of the manner in which 5-year-old Nancy Jean Costigan was killed and her body stuffed into an apartment house furnace.

Stone's new statement, according to Assistant District Attorney Thomas D. Scobel, Jr., provided what has been lacking—a reason for the crime. It is said to have caused Scoble to discard the previous theory that Nancy was murdered after being criminally assaulted.

The prosecutor was silent regarding Stone's explanation.

"I am writing to express the appreciaton of the boys for the bats and balls. It is indeed a great pleasure in knowing we are remembered so kindly by you each baseball season, and your generous thought is warmly appreciated by one and all of us inmates.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 19.—How can life be made easier for newspaper editors?

That question will be discussed by delegates to the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women here, Oct. 15 to 19, who will attend a press conference on the opening day. Its only purpose is to advise the club women how to prepare news items of their local organizations for newspapers.

Mrs. W. H. Coates, of Chester, originator of the press school for club women, will explain "how to sense and how to write news for the press."

Chest Drive Is Being Planned

New Wilmington To Have Community Canvas Next Month

OTHER NEWS OF COLLEGE TOWN

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Oct. 19.—With an almost unanimous attendance present at the fire hall last night, preparations for a coming Community Chest drive assumed proportions that promise to meet the budget in a short time.

The last chest drive was made in 1932 and members of the board of control were vehemently in favor of a new drive to add funds to the depleted coffers of the Welfare association.

The members of the board of control, including Walt Whiman, Mrs. Nell McDonald, Dr. H. M. Hart, C. B. White, Fred Williamson, Mrs. William McElwee and Mrs. Mary Hutchison, have chosen 16 solicitors to aid them in the drive for funds. The group includes Burgess Wallace McKean, Verdon Mitchell, Thomas Mansell, Robert Weber, Dr. Black, William White, Colonel Dan McQuiston, Marian Ferver, Mary Lou Anderson, Mrs. Elmer Newton, Mrs. R. C. McCaslin, Jane Lico, Mrs. John Orr, Marjorie Gilliland, Edwin Anderson and Russell Wilson.

The drive will in all probability begin in November following the general election next month.

GRANGE MEETING

Wilmington grange will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McFarland on the Pulaski road on Thursday evening, October 25.

RETURN FROM TRIP

Spending a delightful two months traveling through the scenic west, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Braham have concluded a motor trip that consumed several thousand miles. They spent the two months visiting relatives in western states and spent some time in Mexico.

HOSTESS

Mrs. John Semple is in the role of hostess this evening to the members of the Macanna club, who will gather at her home on North Market street for their regular monthly meeting.

Walter A. Shaffer, president of the organization, is in charge of the program.

MINOR ACCIDENT

Word has been received here of a slight accident in Westmoreland, Cal., involving three local people, namely, Mr. and Mrs. George Robinson and John Rotgaber. The Pennsylvania car was in a sand storm and the occupants were unable to see clearly. They came upon a two-car wreck and immediately stopped. One occupant of the wrecked cars motioned for the car to drive around and proceed. Mr. Robinson did as directed, only to find another car approaching his. He swerved to the right but not in time to avoid losing one front fender and part of the running board.

HONOR ROLL ANNOUNCED

The first honor roll of the current year, as announced by Prof. Walt Whitman this week, shows that the sophomore class leads the list with five members in the "cum laude" group. Seniors and freshmen are credited with three each while the junior class boasts of only one on the roll. Seniors include Edward Borowicz, Ruth Johns, Mary Lafferty. Miss Jean Nevin was the only junior whose name appeared on the list. Sophomores include Elizabeth Rotgaber, Nina Jane Smith, George Byrne, John Davis and Francis Johnson. Freshmen who won honors are Howard Dinsmore, Aileen Cheers and Mary Beth McLaughry.

SUNDAY THEMES

Church services will have an unusual interest this week judging from the texts adopted by the ministers of the various congregations. Rev. Leslie Mountford of Mercer will address the members of the United Presbyterian congregation at their regular church service on Sunday morning.

Rev. W. P. Byers has chosen as his theme "America's Greatest Need". This is Family Day for this denomination and all families are requested to sit together.

Rev. Milo M. Mook of the Methodist church will speak on "Breaking Jail".

Davis Says Reed Will Be Re-elected

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 19—U. S. Senator James J. Davis entered Pennsylvania's hectic political campaign today with attacks on the "new deal" and predictions that David A. Reed, Senior Solon from the Keystone state, would be re-elected by a "handsome majority."

"Our standards of living can be raised only through strong emphasis upon productive activity," Davis asserted. "We need a 'more work' plan rather than a 'share the poverty' program.

"Too much of our recent legislation has been nothing more than ropes with which to bind Samson."

Davis stated that Attorney General William A. Schnader, Republican nominee for governor, had informed him that the words of the state constitution "to him means "now."

MIAMI PREPARES FOR LEGIONNAIRES

Pinchot Scores Joseph Guffey

Blistering Speech At Charleroi Is Challenge To Democratic Candidate

FARLEY IS ALSO HIT BY PINCHOT

(International News Service)

CHARLEROI, Pa., Oct. 19.—Both major party candidates for the United States Senate from Pennsylvania were listed by Gov. Gifford Pinchot today as political "puppets" of Andrew W. Mellon.

Of the two, Governor Pinchot last night selected United States Senator David A. Reed, Republican renominee, as "the best of a bad bargain" and openly endorsed him for reelection to a third term.

Support for Reed was voiced during the executive's speech here in which he made the sensational charge that Mellon helped Joseph F. Guffey, Democratic new deal opponent of Reed, obtain $400,000 to make restitution to the federal government of interest money on alien property sales during the war.

Reed Above Board

"Reed is Mellon's man openly and above board," the governor declared. "Guffey is Mellon's man secretly and below board.

"On one side you have Reed, the Mellon man, with a record of honest devotion to wrong principles, and on the other Guffey the Mellon man, with a record of no devotion to any principle.

"I ask you whether you want a hand in sending Joe Guffey to the senate to work out his debt to Andy Mellon, or whether you want a hand in keeping him out of the senate?"

It was the first time during the campaign that Governor Pinchot had mentioned by name the man who crushed, in its third spark of rebirth, the executive's lifelong ambition to reach the senate. In doing so, Governor Pinchot made it plain that he had not retreated from his belief that the senior senator is an "errand boy for Mellon."

Another speech was scheduled on the executive's itinerary tonight, at Ford City. Tomorrow, he will address rallies at Homer City, Clymer and Carrolltown.

Can't Stand Guffey

Plunging directly into his explanation of the phrase, "I can't stand Guffey," Governor Pinchot declared he still believed all the accusations he had made against Reed during the primary fight.

"Reed is a reactionary, dyed in the wool," he said. "I am against nearly every policy he stands for.

"But the deciding thing is Guffey and his record."

The governor then referred again to his challenge to the Democratic candidate to explain where he obtained the money with which he repaid the government the interest on funds Guffey handled as director of sales in the alien property custodian's office. Guffey was indicted for embezzlement in 1922 for alleged misuse of this money. The case was nol prossed in 1930.

Continuing, Governor Pnchot said:

"Guffey apparently is not going to tell you where he got the money. All right, if he won't, I will.

"Guffey got that money from Andrew W. Mellon, and two or three Pittsburgh men who have gone to the country from which no traveler returns.

Challenge Guffey

"I challenge Guffey to deny that statement, and I challenge Andrew W. Mellon to deny that statement.

"And that is not all.

"Guffey never paid that money back.

"Now at last you see the situation as it is.

"Dave Reed is openly the representative of Mellon and the Mellon trusts in the United States Senate.

"Guffey is Mellon's under-cover man. Guffey is the shameless vehicle by which Andrew W. Mellon, holding the whip of the great debt Guffey owes him, can get his under-cover work done at Washington."

After completing his accusation against Guffey, Governor Pinchot asserted that he did not believe President Roosevelt was responsible for selecting the Democratic candidates in this state, and charged that the ticket was handpicked by Postmatser General James A. Farley, Democrat national chairman.

Assails Farley

"Farley's idea is that any Democrat is good enough for any position," the governor said. "That is why the Democrats of Pennsylvania are saddled with the unfit Guffey and the misfit Earle."

Governor Pinchot briefly reiterated his endorsement of Attorney General William A. Schnader, Republican gubernatorial candidate, and his denunciation of George H. Earle, the Democratic opponent of Schnader.

Pittsburgh, Oct. 19.—Andrew W. Mellon today considered replying to Gov. Gifford Pinchot's charge that the former secretary of the treasury loaned money to Joseph F. Guffey to refund to the federal government.

Guffey, Democratic nominee for U. S. Senator, according to the governor, had been indicted in 1922 for appropriating funds from the alien property custodian's office.

When informed of Governor Pinchot's statement, Mellon said he would not reply immediately. He indicated that if he made an answer it would be a complete one.

Coupe Is Wrecked In Highway Crash Near Portersville

James Gibson, New Castle R. D. 6, Is Driver Of Truck Hit

One person was severly injured and a car completely demolished, with damage amounting to $600, in a rear-end collision between a coupe and a truck tractor and trailer yesterday on the Perry highway near Portersville.

Arthur P. Schultz, of 415 High St., Bethlehem suffered numerous cuts and bruises and was severely shaken in the crash.

According to the investigation officer State Highway Patrolman H. J. Harper, a truck driven by James Gibson of New Castle, R. D. 6 carrying a heavy load, was south bound on the Perry highway. Schultz, driving a light coupe was also speeding south.

Schultz told Patrolman Harper that he had just turned out his lights and that he saw the truck ascending a grade, but believed it was farther ahead. Swinging out, he was too late, having misjudged his distance and crashed into the rear end of the truck tractor with its trailer. So violent was the force of the impact that the truck was driven ahead 15 feet, the rear axle knocked a foot out of line.

The motor of the coupe was driven back through the floor boards and came to a stop a few inches from the driver's seat. The coupe a 1934 model with only 5,000 miles registered on the speedometer, was demolished.

Old Age Pension Office To Open On October 26

Citizens who expect to apply for old age pensions will be able to do so at the officers of the Mothers Assistance Fund which will be opened in the court house about Ostober 26. In the meantime applicants are urged not to apply to individual members of the board.

No time will be saved by applying now. All that can be done is to take the time of the board member who in turn will have to file the application when the office opens on October 26.

Applicants are asked to follow these suggestions in order to save the board's time. When the office opens on October 26 every facility will be provided to care for applicants and to get their applications through for settlement.

Coupe Is Wrecked In Highway Crash Near Portersville

James Gibson, New Castle R. D. 6, Is Driver Of Truck Hit

One person was severly injured and a car completely demolished, with damage amounting to $600, in a rear-end collision between a coupe and a truck tractor and trailer yesterday on the Perry highway near Portersville.

Arthur P. Schultz, of 415 High St., Bethlehem suffered numerous cuts and bruises and was severely shaken in the crash.

According to the investigation officer State Highway Patrolman H. J. Harper, a truck driven by James Gibson of New Castle, R. D. 6 carrying a heavy load, was south bound on the Perry highway. Schultz, driving a light coupe was also speeding south.

Schultz told Patrolman Harper that he had just turned out his lights and that he saw the truck ascending a grade, but believed it was farther ahead. Swinging out, he was too late, having misjudged his distance and crashed into the rear end of the truck tractor with its trailer. So violent was the force of the impact that the truck was driven ahead 15 feet, the rear axle knocked a foot out of line.

The motor of the coupe was driven back through the floor boards and came to a stop a few inches from the driver's seat. The coupe a 1934 model with only 5,000 miles registered on the speedometer, was demolished.

House Rentals Are On Increase

Seen As Actual Factor In Recovery From Depression In U. S.

MAY GIVE SPURT TO HOME BUILDING

Central Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—The topsy-turviness of up-to-date recovery reasoning is illuminatingly brought out in recent reports to the National Association of Real Estate boards from leading realtors thruout the country, concerning rental levels in their various widely-scattered localities.

These reports show conclusively that rentals are rising very generally; not everywhere, but as a rule; less on some classes of premises than on others, but more or less, as to nearly all classes; from five to 10 per cent, on an average, and in a few, but not many areas even a little more than 10 per cent. In the main, the tendency decidedly is upward.

The National Association of Real Estate boards, through its secretary, Herbert U. Nelson, recognizes that this is bad news to the rank-and-file of family and rent-paying business budgeteers—bad momentarily. Yet it is good news, Secretary Nelson argues, from the standpoint of recovery economics; and thus, in the long run, says Secretary Nelson, it will prove to be good news to the whole American people.

Basis Of Optimism

The real estate boards' logic is that all-around recovery awaits, largely, a revival in building activities—which cannot be expected, as the boards see the situation, until rentals reach an altitude to make it an inducement to realty owners to build, for the sake of profit, from their tenants, on their construction investments.

With rising rentals, the realtors are confident that land owners will sense such a prospect, and begin building.

It is a school of thought that seems to me to be based on a boom psychology.

Correctly Speaking—

"Less" should not be used in place of "fewer". Say "Fewer men were hurt", not "Less men were hurt".

New Confession Made By Killer

Move For First Degree Indictment Against Slayer Of Nancy Jean Costigan

(International News Service)

MOUNT VERNON, N. Y., Oct. 19.—Westchester county authorities Thursday were to move for a first degree murder indictment against Lawrence Stone, 24, as a result of a new confession in which an altered version is given of the manner in which 5-year-old Nancy Jean Costigan was killed and her body stuffed into an apartment house furnace.

Stone's new statement, according to Assistant District Attorney Thomas D. Scobel, Jr., provided what has been lacking—a reason for the crime. It is said to have caused Scoble to discard the previous theory that Nancy was murdered after being criminally assaulted.

The prosecutor was silent regarding Stone's explanation.

HEAR Y. M. C. A. MAN TODAY

The Senior Hi-Y club held chapel this morning for the high school boys. The devotionals were read by the club president, Herman Kitchen. The main speaker of the program was Philo C. Dix, general secretary of the State Y. M. C. A. in Harrisburg. In his address he told of the variety of work done throughout the whole state.

James Fox played a delightful piano solo. Harry McClellan, boys' secretary of the New Castle Y. M. C. A., gave some closing remarks touching upon the future activities of the Ne-Ca-Hi-Y club.

REPRESENTATIVES MEET

The student representatives held a meeting Monday, third period, in the auditorium of the Senior high school. Officers were elected.

A report from the handbook committee was given by Richard Louer. A complaint committee was appointed to consult with the office upon various matters.

TESTS FOR CHEERLEADERS

At the beginning of the semester, Teachers Donald Copson and Robert Mills were placed in charge of the selection of cheerleaders for the high school. Among various qualifications were popularity, scholarship and appearance. Above all, they were required to display enthusiasm. Elimination contests were held and those chosen were: Bud Perdue, George Chip, James Dart, Howard Updegraff and Rud Shiner. It is the intention of Mr. Mills that each year experienced cheerleaders shall be available. Aside from the students encouraging the team, the townspeople will be able to cheer also at the next game under the leadership of two of these boys.

GIRL RESERVES ARE ACTIVE

The Senior Girl Reserves have up until this date been conducting a 'get acquainted' movement throughout the school. After their annual membership drive, they held a sophomore tea for the sole purpose of interesting new girls in the organization. Following recognition night, the club held a skating party. HEAR Y. M. C. A. MAN TODAY

The Senior Hi-Y club held chapel this morning for the high school boys. The devotionals were read by the club president, Herman Kitchen. The main speaker of the program was Philo C. Dix, general secretary of the State Y. M. C. A. in Harrisburg. In his address he told of the variety of work done throughout the whole state.

James Fox played a delightful piano solo. Harry McClellan, boys' secretary of the New Castle Y. M. C. A., gave some closing remarks touching upon the future activities of the Ne-Ca-Hi-Y club.

REPRESENTATIVES MEET

The student representatives held a meeting Monday, third period, in the auditorium of the Senior high school. Officers were elected.

A report from the handbook committee was given by Richard Louer. A complaint committee was appointed to consult with the office upon various matters.

TESTS FOR CHEERLEADERS

At the beginning of the semester, Teachers Donald Copson and Robert Mills were placed in charge of the selection of cheerleaders for the high school. Among various qualifications were popularity, scholarship and appearance. Above all, they were required to display enthusiasm. Elimination contests were held and those chosen were: Bud Perdue, George Chip, James Dart, Howard Updegraff and Rud Shiner. It is the intention of Mr. Mills that each year experienced cheerleaders shall be available. Aside from the students encouraging the team, the townspeople will be able to cheer also at the next game under the leadership of two of these boys.

Pinchot Scores Joseph Guffey

FARLEY IS ALSO HIT BY PINCHOT

(International News Service)

CHARLEROI, Pa., Oct. 19.—Both major party candidates for the United States Senate from Pennsylvania were listed by Gov. Gifford Pinchot today as political "puppets" of Andrew W. Mellon.

Of the two, Governor Pinchot last night selected United States Senator David A. Reed, Republican renominee, as "the best of a bad bargain" and openly endorsed him for reelection to a third term.

Support for Reed was voiced during the executive's speech here in which he made the sensational charge that Mellon helped Joseph F. Guffey, Democratic new deal opponent of Reed, obtain $400,000 to make restitution to the federal government of interest money on alien property sales during the war.

Reed Above Board

"Reed is Mellon's man openly and above board," the governor declared. "Guffey is Mellon's man secretly and below board.

"On one side you have Reed, the Mellon man, with a record of honest devotion to wrong principles, and on the other Guffey the Mellon man, with a record of no devotion to any principle.

"I ask you whether you want a hand in sending Joe Guffey to the senate to work out his debt to Andy Mellon, or whether you want a hand in keeping him out of the senate?"

It was the first time during the campaign that Governor Pinchot had mentioned by name the man who crushed, in its third spark of rebirth, the executive's lifelong ambition to reach the senate. In doing so, Governor Pinchot made it plain that he had not retreated from his belief that the senior senator is an "errand boy for Mellon."

Another speech was scheduled on the executive's itinerary tonight, at Ford City. Tomorrow, he will address rallies at Homer City, Clymer and Carrolltown.

Can't Stand Guffey

Plunging directly into his explanation of the phrase, "I can't stand Guffey," Governor Pinchot declared he still believed all the accusations he had made against Reed during the primary fight.

"Reed is a reactionary, dyed in the wool," he said. "I am against nearly every policy he stands for.

"But the deciding thing is Guffey and his record."

The governor then referred again to his challenge to the Democratic candidate to explain where he obtained the money with which he repaid the government the interest on funds Guffey handled as director of sales in the alien property custodian's office. Guffey was indicted for embezzlement in 1922 for alleged misuse of this money. The case was nol prossed in 1930.

Continuing, Governor Pinchot said:

"Guffey apparently is not going to tell you where he got the money. All right, if he won't, I will.

"Guffey got that money from Andrew W. Mellon, and two or three Pittsburgh men who have gone to the country from which no traveler returns.

Challenge Guffey

"I challenge Guffey to deny that statement, and I challenge Andrew W. Mellon to deny that statement.

"And that is not all.

"Guffey never paid that money back.

"Now at last you see the situation as it is.

"Dave Reed is openly the representative of Mellon and the Mellon trusts in the United States Senate.

"Guffey is Mellon's under-cover man. Guffey is the shameless vehicle by which Andrew W. Mellon, holding the whip of the great debt Guffey owes him, can get his under-cover work done at Washington."

After completing his accusation against Guffey, Governor Pinchot asserted that he did not believe President Roosevelt was responsible for selecting the Democratic candidates in this state, and charged that the ticket was handpicked by Postmatser General James A. Farley, Democrat national chairman.

Assails Farley

"Farley's idea is that any Democrat is good enough for any position," the governor said. "That is why the Democrats of Pennsylvania are saddled with the unfit Guffey and the misfit Earle."

Governor Pinchot briefly reiterated his endorsement of Attorney General William A. Schnader, Republican gubernatorial candidate, and his denunciation of George H. Earle, the Democratic opponent of Schnader.

Pittsburgh, Oct. 19.—Andrew W. Mellon today considered replying to Gov. Gifford Pinchot's charge that the former secretary of the treasury loaned money to Joseph F. Guffey to refund to the federal government.

Guffey, Democratic nominee for U. S. Senator, according to the governor, had been indicted in 1922 for appropriating funds from the alien property custodian's office.

When informed of Governor Pinchot's statement, Mellon said he would not reply immediately. He indicated that if he made an answer it would be a complete one.

Citizens who expect to apply for old age pensions will be able to do so at the officers of the Mothers Assistance Fund which will be opened in the court house about Ostober 26. In the meantime applicants are urged not to apply to individual members of the board.

Applicants are asked to follow these suggestions in order to save the board's time. When the office opens on October 26 every facility will be provided to care for applicants and to get their applications through for settlement.

The matter finally was referred to a committee.

Coupe Is Wrecked In Highway Crash Near Portersville

James Gibson, New Castle R. D. 6, Is Driver Of Truck Hit

One person was severly injured and a car completely demolished, with damage amounting to $600, in a rear-end collision between a coupe and a truck tractor and trailer yesterday on the Perry highway near Portersville.

Arthur P. Schultz, of 415 High St., Bethlehem suffered numerous cuts and bruises and was severely shaken in the crash.

According to the investigation officer State Highway Patrolman H. J. Harper, a truck driven by James Gibson of New Castle, R. D. 6 carrying a heavy load, was south bound on the Perry highway. Schultz, driving a light coupe was also speeding south.

Schultz told Patrolman Harper that he had just turned out his lights and that he saw the truck ascending a grade, but believed it was farther ahead. Swinging out, he was too late, having misjudged his distance and crashed into the rear end of the truck tractor with its trailer. So violent was the force of the impact that the truck was driven ahead 15 feet, the rear axle knocked a foot out of line.

The motor of the coupe was driven back through the floor boards and came to a stop a few inches from the driver's seat. The coupe a 1934 model with only 5,000 miles registered on the speedometer, was demolished.

About Two Hundred Thousand Meals Are Served In One Year

Aide Society Will Try To Assist Jameson Hospital By Sponsoring Donation Days

Here are some interesting facts on the Jameson Memorial hospital food problem and the food donation days which are on the calendar for Friday annd Saturday of next week, October 26 and 27, as written by Dr. W. W. Bissell, the hospital superintendent:

"The Jameson Memorial Hospital Aide Society is organizing its annual fall ingathering of food supplies for next week, a most important aid to feeding-care of the sick.

"Many do not realize the magnitude of food requirements of our hospital. During 1933 our hospital served 196,883 meals—more meals than were served in any 100 families averaging five persons each in our community. If each of these 100 families consumed 50 glasses of jellies and preserves during the year one might estimate the requirement of our hospital at 5000 glasses and jars of similar delicacies. The requirement is not that great, of course, because not all sick persons are indulged with the delicacies of health. Truthfully, however, it can be said that no hospital, not even the Jameson Memorial hospital with its host of friends, has ever been supplied with enough good home-packed fruits and jams, relishes and pickles to go around.

"By carefully dividing a six ounce glass of jelly with a "nearness" approaching a stingy helping, 12 can be served. If there are 48 sick people in the hospital who might enjoy a little jelly once a day it is easy to see that 1,500 glasses are required for the year. If the supply is 500 glasses, jelly can be served twice a week—if care is used to divide a glass into 12 portions.

"The real point however is the pleasure that comes to sick people whose palates are tickled out of just one little glass of jelly. Really, this is so genuine that it is worth while to walk a mile or more to give even just one glass."

DECENCY LEAGUE TO GET BACKING SUNDAY EVENING

Nationalities Will Join In Rally At Tigers Hall; Want Clean Films

Throwing their support behind the nation-wide League of Decency movement, young people of at least 11 nationalities here have arranged for a mass meeting Sunday evening, October 21, in the Tigers club hall, South Mill street, at which aims and objects of the group will be presented. It will open at 8.

The public, leaders say, is welcome to attend.

The league here will join with others throughout the country to demand that the stage be made more attractive; and that the different nationalities are educated and taught to protest against indecent stage plays and films that appear.

Nationalities to be represented Sunday evening will be American, Italian, German, Polish, Slovak, Hungarian, Russian, Greek, Croatians, Syrian and Rumanian, it is reported. More, it is believed, will join in the movement later.

The United States takes from 70 per cent to 90 per cent of Mexico's exports.

About Two Hundred Thousand Meals Are Served In One Year

Aide Society Will Try To Assist Jameson Hospital By Sponsoring Donation Days

Here are some interesting facts on the Jameson Memorial hospital food problem and the food donation days which are on the calendar for Friday annd Saturday of next week, October 26 and 27, as written by Dr. W. W. Bissell, the hospital superintendent:

"The Jameson Memorial Hospital Aide Society is organizing its annual fall ingathering of food supplies for next week, a most important aid to feeding-care of the sick.

"Many do not realize the magnitude of food requirements of our hospital. During 1933 our hospital served 196,883 meals—more meals than were served in any 100 families averaging five persons each in our community. If each of these 100 families consumed 50 glasses of jellies and preserves during the year one might estimate the requirement of our hospital at 5000 glasses and jars of similar delicacies. The requirement is not that great, of course, because not all sick persons are indulged with the delicacies of health. Truthfully, however, it can be said that no hospital, not even the Jameson Memorial hospital with its host of friends, has ever been supplied with enough good home-packed fruits and jams, relishes and pickles to go around.

"By carefully dividing a six ounce glass of jelly with a "nearness" approaching a stingy helping, 12 can be served. If there are 48 sick people in the hospital who might enjoy a little jelly once a day it is easy to see that 1,500 glasses are required for the year. If the supply is 500 glasses, jelly can be served twice a week—if care is used to divide a glass into 12 portions.

"The real point however is the pleasure that comes to sick people whose palates are tickled out of just one little glass of jelly. Really, this is so genuine that it is worth while to walk a mile or more to give even just one glass."

DECENCY LEAGUE TO GET BACKING SUNDAY EVENING

Nationalities Will Join In Rally At Tigers Hall; Want Clean Films

Throwing their support behind the nation-wide League of Decency movement, young people of at least 11 nationalities here have arranged for a mass meeting Sunday evening, October 21, in the Tigers club hall, South Mill street, at which aims and objects of the group will be presented. It will open at 8.

The public, leaders say, is welcome to attend.

The league here will join with others throughout the country to demand that the stage be made more attractive; and that the different nationalities are educated and taught to protest against indecent stage plays and films that appear.

Nationalities to be represented Sunday evening will be American, Italian, German, Polish, Slovak, Hungarian, Russian, Greek, Croatians, Syrian and Rumanian, it is reported. More, it is believed, will join in the movement later.

The United States takes from 70 per cent to 90 per cent of Mexico's exports.

HEAR Y. M. C. A. MAN TODAY

The Senior Hi-Y club held chapel this morning for the high school boys. The devotionals were read by the club president, Herman Kitchen. The main speaker of the program was Philo C. Dix, general secretary of the State Y. M. C. A. in Harrisburg. In his address he told of the variety of work done throughout the whole state.

James Fox played a delightful piano solo. Harry McClellan, boys' secretary of the New Castle Y. M. C. A., gave some closing remarks touching upon the future activities of the Ne-Ca-Hi-Y club.

REPRESENTATIVES MEET

The student representatives held a meeting Monday, third period, in the auditorium of the Senior high school. Officers were elected.

A report from the handbook committee was given by Richard Louer. A complaint committee was appointed to consult with the office upon various matters.

TESTS FOR CHEERLEADERS

At the beginning of the semester, Teachers Donald Copson and Robert Mills were placed in charge of the selection of cheerleaders for the high school. Among various qualifications were popularity, scholarship and appearance. Above all, they were required to display enthusiasm. Elimination contests were held and those chosen were: Bud Perdue, George Chip, James Dart, Howard Updegraff and Rud Shiner. It is the intention of Mr. Mills that each year experienced cheerleaders shall be available. Aside from the students encouraging the team, the townspeople will be able to cheer also at the next game under the leadership of two of these boys.

GIRL RESERVES ARE ACTIVE

The Senior Girl Reserves have up until this date been conducting a 'get acquainted' movement throughout the school. After their annual membership drive, they held a sophomore tea for the sole purpose of interesting new girls in the organization. Following recognition night, the club held a skating party. All these items on their semester program were for the purpose of acquainting the girls with each other. An educational and entertaining program is being planned by the cabinet staff. The Girl Reserves staff consists of: President, Betty Rice; vice president, Pauline Booker; secretary, Betty Nicholson; treasurer, Betty McConahy.

CHAPEL FOR NEWCOMERS

A chapel was held Thursday for the sophomores and the new junior B's at the high school. This chapel was planned by a committee from the Student Council and a faculty committee, with the purpose of giving to these students a glimpse of all the school activities. The master of ceremonies was Ralph Davies, and the following gave short speeches: Edythe Cowden spoke for the Student Council and its representatives; Donna Jean Beall for Girl Reserves, Herman Kitchen for the Hi-Y, John Thomas on the Squad System, Ruth Stevenson for the annual staff and News, and James Hartland spoke on Senatus Romanus.

The band and orchestra, and other school activities used actions rather than words to explain themselves.

REPORTS ISSUED TODAY

Grade reports covering the first six weeks of school were handed to students today for delivery to parents for examination. They must be signed and returned to school.

PREPARING FOR EXHIBIT

Busy working out plans for the art exhibition which Senior high will sponsor on October 29, 30 and 31 and November 1 and 2, a committee comprised of faculty members was hard at work today, Principal F. L. Orth reports. Reproductions of paintings of some of the world's renowned artists will be on display that week.

New Police Radio System Is Working Most Effectively Here

Commencing on or about November 1, there will become effective an interchange of police radio messages between the cities of Youngstown and New Castle, thus forging another progressive link in police work in this section, it was reported today.

The police department of Youngstown has already placed a receiver in the radio department and now receives every message that is sent from the local station. As soon as arrangements can be completed the local police department will install a receiving set here to catch calls from Youngstown.

Heretofore, all communications between the two cities and there are generally several each day, and at different periods of year highly important calls, long distance telephone calls have been made. Under the proposed new system, police efficiency will be increased decidedly.

Station Here Is Ready

The New Castle station, call WPGT, was dreamed of several years ago but dd not materialize until this year. Police radio station prices were received from various concerns and the prices for installing the system ranged from $2,400, upwards, according to Police Chief J. F. Haven.

Haven conceived the idea of purchasing the material and having the CWA provide an electrician capable of building the station. After discussing the matter with city and CWA officials the station was decided upon and Wayne Sines, expert electrician and licensed radio operator, was assigned the job.

In fact his knowledge was so expert that he purchased the latest equipment for the city's station at a cost of $750.00. His wages were paid by the CWA. In addition to this he acted as a teacher to five members of the police department who passed tests as third class telephone radio operators.

Station Approved

Following completion of the station and the successful tests enjoyed by the men the federal radio commission sent an inspector here and he formally approved of the station and since its 30 days test trial it has operated without a "hitch."

The transmitting station is located in the rear of the office of the sergeant of police. It occupies a small brick, vault-like room. Entrance to the transmitting station is barred to all but authorized persons. The "mike" or "mouthpiece" is at the office of the sergeants of police.

His room is shut off during a broadcast from the police courtroom by a door, the upper portion of which is composed of glass which prevents noise from the courtroom when he ends out his message.

The call he sends out goes to five pieces of police department cars, three of which are cruiser machines, the fourth a fast touring car used for patrol purposes; and the fifth a motorcycle. The three cruiser cars were purchased recently; likewise the motorcycle.

Whenever the officer sends out a call the officers (and there are always two, excepting on the motorcycle) catch the message and write it down on a report sheet they carry for this purpose. The call also goes through a master radio receiving set in the police chief's office.

Report Messages

The sergeant writes down on his report sheet the tme he sends out the call and when the officers report off at the duration of their eight hours work the latter's report sheet is compared with that of the sergeant. They go to the chief of police for daily inspection.

Should the report sheets not conform the officers would be called before the chief. However, this has not occurred so far because the equipment has worked splendidly and the men have been "on their ears." They receive a test call every 30 minutes, regardless of whether or not it is on police chases.

If any of the "cars" miss a test or "time call" (so-called because the time is stated by WPGT) it shows up on the sergeant's report as having been transmitted and on the cruiser car officer's report as not having been received.

And should two successive calls be missed it then becomes necessary for an inspection of equipment to be made and Wayne Sines, who is in charge of the station is called into action. He is available day and night. His wages would be provided by the city. As yet he has not been called.

Police Broadcasters

The regular police "broadcasters" are Sergeants M. J. Young, Grover C. Syling and James Steiner. Lieutenant Ralph Criswell and Chief of Detectives Willis McMullen are also among the five licensed operators. Any member of the department can send out a call providing a licensed operator is present.

The station was put into formal action about two weeks ago. Since that time it has resulted in several quick captures. Recently a man who wounded another man was captured within five minutes after the call was sent to a cruiser which was a mile distant from the scene.

When the Youngstown and New Castle departments are coupled by radio, it will prove quite effective in helping to apprehend criminals who commit crimes in one state and flee into the other. Messages will find cruiser cars combing all highways leading into this city or Youngstown.

Many Calls Made

Due to the proximity of Hallowe'en the use of the radio has increased during the past few days. Aproximately 70 broadcasts were made Wednesday. The 4 p. m.-12 midnight period calls for the most calls as it is between these hours that most activities of a police nature occur.

The system has proved more effective than the foot patrolman or the old system of telephoning the police department for the "patrol wagon." If the latter was out, no help could be given until one of them returned to the police bureau due to lack of communication.

As the police situation now stands, the cruisers, motorcycle and sometimes the touring car used for patrol are in operation or stationed in different sections and the car nearest the scene is dispatched to the trouble zone thus saving valuable time.

The radio system was enhanced by the city securing three new police cars and a new motorcycle. Five automatic, high powered rifles were bought and these added to the equipment which consists of all kinds of gas weapons, a machine gun and shotguns for close range work.

The local call is WPGT. It is a 50 watt station and operates on a frequency of 2482 kilocycles.

New Testimony In Hauptmann Case Expected

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—The full bench of the appellate division of the New York state courts was to hear today Bruno Richard Hauptmann's appeal against extradition order which would send him to New Jersey to stand trial for the murder of the infant son of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

At the hearing James M. Fawcett, counsel for the phlegmatic carpenter, was expected to present new evidence tending to show that Hauptmann worked all day at the Majestic apartments, March 1, 1932, the date of the famous crime.

Without introducing new witnesses, New Jersey was reported prepared to establish through the medium of workmen's time cards that Hauptmann worked at the Majestic apartments until 11:30 a. m. on the day of the kidnaping and then left abruptly, although he did not return home.

The defense's new evidence will be in the nature of testimony by Joseph M. Furcht, former superintendent at the Majestic apartments, who is reported to have signed an affidavit in which he states Hauptmann worked under him from 8 a. m. until 5 p. m. on the day of the kidnaping.

On the basis of this affidavit, Fawcett asked Supreme Court Justice Francis Martin for permission to introduce new testimony at today's hearing before the appellate division. The jurist advised Fawcett to go before the full appellate bench for the hearing of a preliminary motion on the request. This hearing will be held prior to the appeal at 2 p. m. from Justice Hammer's denial of a writ of habeas corpus in Hauptmann's fight against extradition.

Fawcett revealed that a defense fund of $10,000 had been furnished by Hauptmann's wife, Anna. He added that $3,000 of this money had already been spent.

A curious feature concerning Hauptmann's finances is that last December he pleaded poverty in failing to complete payment on a $300 settlement he made after an automobile accident.

No cosmetic ever requires half so much skill in its application as rouge. For whether you use the dry, paste or liquid rouge, you've got to know just where and how to blend it on your skin, just how much to use for your particular type, and just what shade harmonizes best with your natural coloring.

New Testimony In Hauptmann Case Expected

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—The full bench of the appellate division of the New York state courts was to hear today Bruno Richard Hauptmann's appeal against extradition order which would send him to New Jersey to stand trial for the murder of the infant son of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

At the hearing James M. Fawcett, counsel for the phlegmatic carpenter, was expected to present new evidence tending to show that Hauptmann worked all day at the Majestic apartments, March 1, 1932, the date of the famous crime.

Without introducing new witnesses, New Jersey was reported prepared to establish through the medium of workmen's time cards that Hauptmann worked at the Majestic apartments until 11:30 a. m. on the day of the kidnaping and then left abruptly, although he did not return home.

The defense's new evidence will be in the nature of testimony by Joseph M. Furcht, former superintendent at the Majestic apartments, who is reported to have signed an affidavit in which he states Hauptmann worked under him from 8 a. m. until 5 p. m. on the day of the kidnaping.

On the basis of this affidavit, Fawcett asked Supreme Court Justice Francis Martin for permission to introduce new testimony at today's hearing before the appellate division. The jurist advised Fawcett to go before the full appellate bench for the hearing of a preliminary motion on the request. This hearing will be held prior to the appeal at 2 p. m. from Justice Hammer's denial of a writ of habeas corpus in Hauptmann's fight against extradition.

Fawcett revealed that a defense fund of $10,000 had been furnished by Hauptmann's wife, Anna. He added that $3,000 of this money had already been spent.

A curious feature concerning Hauptmann's finances is that last December he pleaded poverty in failing to complete payment on a $300 settlement he made after an automobile accident.

About Two Hundred Thousand Meals Are Served In One Year

Aide Society Will Try To Assist Jameson Hospital By Sponsoring Donation Days

Here are some interesting facts on the Jameson Memorial hospital food problem and the food donation days which are on the calendar for Friday annd Saturday of next week, October 26 and 27, as written by Dr. W. W. Bissell, the hospital superintendent:

"The Jameson Memorial Hospital Aide Society is organizing its annual fall ingathering of food supplies for next week, a most important aid to feeding-care of the sick.

"Many do not realize the magnitude of food requirements of our hospital. During 1933 our hospital served 196,883 meals—more meals than were served in any 100 families averaging five persons each in our community. If each of these 100 families consumed 50 glasses of jellies and preserves during the year one might estimate the requirement of our hospital at 5000 glasses and jars of similar delicacies. The requirement is not that great, of course, because not all sick persons are indulged with the delicacies of health. Truthfully, however, it can be said that no hospital, not even the Jameson Memorial hospital with its host of friends, has ever been supplied with enough good home-packed fruits and jams, relishes and pickles to go around.

"By carefully dividing a six ounce glass of jelly with a "nearness" approaching a stingy helping, 12 can be served. If there are 48 sick people in the hospital who might enjoy a little jelly once a day it is easy to see that 1,500 glasses are required for the year. If the supply is 500 glasses, jelly can be served twice a week—if care is used to divide a glass into 12 portions.

"The real point however is the pleasure that comes to sick people whose palates are tickled out of just one little glass of jelly. Really, this is so genuine that it is worth while to walk a mile or more to give even just one glass."

DECENCY LEAGUE TO GET BACKING SUNDAY EVENING

Nationalities Will Join In Rally At Tigers Hall; Want Clean Films

Throwing their support behind the nation-wide League of Decency movement, young people of at least 11 nationalities here have arranged for a mass meeting Sunday evening, October 21, in the Tigers club hall, South Mill street, at which aims and objects of the group will be presented. It will open at 8.

The public, leaders say, is welcome to attend.

The league here will join with others throughout the country to demand that the stage be made more attractive; and that the different nationalities are educated and taught to protest against indecent stage plays and films that appear.

Nationalities to be represented Sunday evening will be American, Italian, German, Polish, Slovak, Hungarian, Russian, Greek, Croatians, Syrian and Rumanian, it is reported. More, it is believed, will join in the movement later.

The United States takes from 70 per cent to 90 per cent of Mexico's exports.

THE KEY TO WRIGLEY'S SPEARMINT TO QUALITY GUM

New Police Radio System Is Working Most Effectively Here

Commencing on or about November 1, there will become effective an interchange of police radio messages between the cities of Youngstown and New Castle, thus forging another progressive link in police work in this section, it was reported today.

The police department of Youngstown has already placed a receiver in the radio department and now receives every message that is sent from the local station. As soon as arrangements can be completed the local police department will install a receiving set here to catch calls from Youngstown.

Heretofore, all communications between the two cities and there are generally several each day, and at different periods of year highly important calls, long distance telephone calls have been made. Under the proposed new system, police efficiency will be increased decidedly.

Station Here Is Ready

The New Castle station, call WPGT, was dreamed of several years ago but dd not materialize until this year. Police radio station prices were received from various concerns and the prices for installing the system ranged from $2,400, upwards, according to Police Chief J. F. Haven.

Haven conceived the idea of purchasing the material and having the CWA provide an electrician capable of building the station. After discussing the matter with city and CWA officials the station was decided upon and Wayne Sines, expert electrician and licensed radio operator, was assigned the job.

In fact his knowledge was so expert that he purchased the latest equipment for the city's station at a cost of $750.00. His wages were paid by the CWA. In addition to this he acted as a teacher to five members of the police department who passed tests as third class telephone radio operators.

Station Approved

Following completion of the station and the successful tests enjoyed by the men the federal radio commission sent an inspector here and he formally approved of the station and since its 30 days test trial it has operated without a hitch."

The transmitting station is located in the rear of the office of the sergeant of police. It occupies a small brick, vault-like room. Entrance to the transmitting station is barred to all but authorized persons. The "mike" or "mouthpiece" is at the office of the sergeants of police.

His room is shut off during a broadcast from the police courtroom by a door, the upper portion of which is composed of glass which prevents noise from the courtroom when he ends out his message.

The call he sends out goes to five pieces of police department cars, three of which are cruiser machines, the fourth a fast touring car used for patrol purposes; and the fifth a motorcycle. The three cruiser cars were purchased recently; likewise the motorcycle.

Whenever the officer sends out a call the officers (and there are always two, excepting on the motorcycle) catch the message and write it down on a report sheet they carry for this purpose. The call also goes through a master radio receiving set in the police chief's office.

Report Messages

The sergeant writes down on his report sheet the tme he sends out the call and when the officers report off at the duration of their eight hours work the latter's report sheet is compared with that of the sergeant. They go to the chief of police for daily inspection.

Should the report sheets not conform the officers would be called before the chief. However, this has not occurred so far because the equipment has worked splendidly and the men have been "on their ears." They receive a test call every 30 minutes, regardless of whether or not it is on police chases.

If any of the "cars" miss a test or "time call" (so-called because the time is stated by WPGT) it shows up on the sergeant's report as having been transmitted and on the cruiser car officer's report as not having been received.

And should two successive calls be missed it then becomes necessary for an inspection of equipment to be made and Wayne Sines, who is in charge of the station is called into action. He is available day and night. His wages would be provided by the city. As yet he has not been called.

Police Broadcasters

The regular police "broadcasters" are Sergeants M. J. Young, Grover C. Syling and James Steiner. Lieutenant Ralph Criswell and Chief of Detectives Willis McMullen are also among the five licensed operators. Any member of the department can send out a call providing a licensed operator is present.

The station was put into formal action about two weeks ago. Since that time it has resulted in several quick captures. Recently a man who wounded another man was captured within five minutes after the call was sent to a cruiser which was a mile distant from the scene.

When the Youngstown and New Castle departments are coupled by radio, it will prove quite effective in helping to apprehend criminals who commit crimes in one state and flee into the other. Messages will find cruiser cars combing all highways leading into this city or Youngstown.

Many Calls Made

Due to the proximity of Hallowe'en the use of the radio has increased during the past few days. Aproximately 70 broadcasts were made Wednesday. The 4 p. m.-12 midnight period calls for the most calls as it is between these hours that most activities of a police nature occur.

The system has proved more effective than the foot patrolman or the old system of telephoning the police department for the "patrol wagon." If the latter was out, no help could be given until one of them returned to the police bureau due to lack of communication.

As the police situation now stands, the cruisers, motorcycle and sometimes the touring car used for patrol are in operation or stationed in different sections and the car nearest the scene is dispatched to the trouble zone thus saving valuable time.

The radio system was enhanced by the city securing three new police cars and a new motorcycle. Five automatic, high powered rifles were bought and these added to the equipment which consists of all kinds of gas weapons, a machine gun and shotguns for close range work.

The local call is WPGT. It is a 50 watt station and operates on a frequency of 2482 kilocycles.

New Testimony In Hauptmann Case Expected

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—The full bench of the appellate division of the New York state courts was to hear today Bruno Richard Hauptmann's appeal against extradition order which would send him to New Jersey to stand trial for the murder of the infant son of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

At the hearing James M. Fawcett, counsel for the phlegmatic carpenter, was expected to present new evidence tending to show that Hauptmann worked all day at the Majestic apartments, March 1, 1932, the date of the famous crime.

Without introducing new witnesses, New Jersey was reported prepared to establish through the medium of workmen's time cards that Hauptmann worked at the Majestic apartments until 11:30 a. m. on the day of the kidnaping and then left abruptly, although he did not return home.

The defense's new evidence will be in the nature of testimony by Joseph M. Furcht, former superintendent at the Majestic apartments, who is reported to have signed an affidavit in which he states Hauptmann worked under him from 8 a. m. until 5 p. m. on the day of the kidnaping.

On the basis of this affidavit, Fawcett asked Supreme Court Justice Francis Martin for permission to introduce new testimony at today's hearing before the appellate division. The jurist advised Fawcett to go before the full appellate bench for the hearing of a preliminary motion on the request. This hearing will be held prior to the appeal at 2 p. m. from Justice Hammer's denial of a writ of habeas corpus in Hauptmann's fight against extradition.

Fawcett revealed that a defense fund of $10,000 had been furnished by Hauptmann's wife, Anna. He added that $3,000 of this money had already been spent.

A curious feature concerning Hauptmann's finances is that last December he pleaded poverty in failing to complete payment on a $300 settlement he made after an automobile accident.

Health Week

"Cancer is preventable," declares a bulletin of the Lawrence County Medical society, which is celebrating the annual Pennsylvania Health Week sponsored by the Medical society of the State of Pennsylvania.

"Cancer of the skin," says the bulletin, "is a disease of the older age groups, is not contagious, is a product of prolonged irritation and is in the beginning a slow process, allowing plenty of time for interference if attended to when first suspected. Don't delay!

Throughout the state today there will be a series of addresses by eminent doctors before service clubs, schools, parent teachers groups and other assemblies, in an endeavor to make Pennsylvania Health Week one of significance in giving added stimulus to preventive medicine.

New Castle Lodge To Join In National Membership Campaign

ALFRED M. COHEN

Power Company Man Speaks To Y's Men

Y Club Hears Dingledy Tell Utility's Work; Youngstown Men Guests

Declaring that "storms are the bane of an electric company's existence and constitute its major source of trouble," Paul G. Dingledy, assistant to the general manager of the Pennsylvania Power company, sketched in detail before the Y's Men's club in the Y. M. C. A. last night the emergency moves the company swiftly makes when power goes off.

The elaborate communications system set up to allow company power dispatchers to anticipate storms was described by Mr. Dingledy. He declared that even though the storms may hardly threaten there are emergency men posted throughout the district to act in case a power line goes down under a falling tree or the wind.

The speaker used a large map to show the extent of the Pennsylvania Power lines and he traced the current from its generation source at the Toronto, O., plant to homes here.

District Governor Judd Yeager of the Y's Men, of Youngstown, and Chester Potts, past regional director, were guests here last night. The club plans a Hallowe'en "poverty party" for Thursday, Oct. 25. The wives and lady friends of members are to be guests. Ralph Huffman is in charge.

Former Students And Alumni Returning For Event At Westminster

FULL PROGRAM FOR SATURDAY

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Oct. 19.—Alumni and former students from nearby as well as distant points are on their way to Westminster college today for the annual homecoming day Saturday. Many will arrive tonight, since the program of activities really starts at 7:15 with a bonfire and pep rally.

Following the rally, Professor A. T. Cordray's little theatre group will present three short plays at 8:15. Two or three fraternities also have initiations and social hours planned later in the evening.

Tomorrow morning at 10:30, a field hockey game between the senior and junior women's teams will be played on the campus field. Miss Nandeen Love, director of athletics for women, will be in charge.

Alumni luncheons will be served at the various fraternity houses and in the sorority suites at 1 o'clock. The football game, with Thiel's strong team as opponent, will start at 2:30.

Following the grid game, a reception and tea for all alumni and former students will be held in Browne hall. Dinner will be served in Browne hall and in fraternity houses at 6 o'clock. Two dramatic productions will be staged for alumni in the little theatre at 7:15.

Parties in Browne hall and in the gymnasium at 8:15 will complete the day's activities. Invitations have been sent all alumni of the five fraternities and seven sororities and 3,000 copies of the alumni magazine containing information about homecoming, were mailed last week to alumni and former students.

Health Week

"Cancer is preventable," declares a bulletin of the Lawrence County Medical society, which is celebrating the annual Pennsylvania Health Week sponsored by the Medical society of the State of Pennsylvania.

"Cancer of the skin," says the bulletin, "is a disease of the older age groups, is not contagious, is a product of prolonged irritation and is in the beginning a slow process, allowing plenty of time for interference if attended to when first suspected. Don't delay!

Throughout the state today there will be a series of addresses by eminent doctors before service clubs, schools, parent teachers groups and other assemblies, in an endeavor to make Pennsylvania Health Week one of significance in giving added stimulus to preventive medicine.

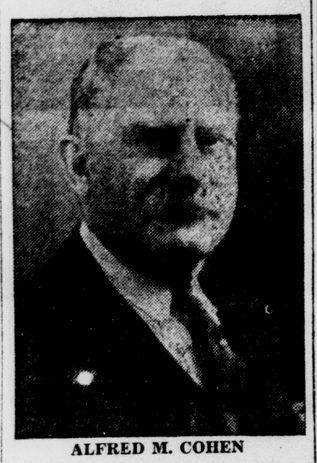
New Castle Lodge To Join In National Membership Campaign



ALFRED M. COHEN

Y Club Hears Dingledy Tell Utility's Work; Youngstown Men Guests

Declaring that "storms are the bane of an electric company's existence and constitute its major source of trouble," Paul G. Dingledy, assistant to the general manager of the Pennsylvania Power company, sketched in detail before the Y's Men's club in the Y. M. C. A. last night the emergency moves the company swiftly makes when power goes off.

The elaborate communications system set up to allow company power dispatchers to anticipate storms was described by Mr. Dingledy. He declared that even though the storms may hardly threaten there are emergency men posted throughout the district to act in case a power line goes down under a falling tree or the wind.

The speaker used a large map to show the extent of the Pennsylvania Power lines and he traced the current from its generation source at the Toronto, O., plant to homes here.

District Governor Judd Yeager of the Y's Men, of Youngstown, and Chester Potts, past regional director, were guests here last night. The club plans a Hallowe'en "poverty party" for Thursday, Oct. 25. The wives and lady friends of members are to be guests. Ralph Huffman is in charge.

Says Sentiment Trend Is Against "New Deal"

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19—Public sentiment is turning against the new deal and Roosevelt politics in general, Henry P. Fletcher, chairman of the Republican National Committee, asserted today, citing the latest Literary Digest poll to substantiate his statement.

"The new deal, as was expected, is sinking fast," said Fletcher. "It's unsound foundation of quack economics made this inevitable. In spite of crack-down threats, of the Tammanyized use of government funds to aid its political candidates, public sentiment is running strongly against the new deal.

"This is the information contained in the latest poll of the Literary Digest. It shows 17 states voting a majority opposed to President Roosevelt's acts and policies. This is a change from an earlier poll showing 47 states approving these policies "on the whole."

"The new deal has tried to prime the business pump with a perfectly staggering out-pouring of the taxpayer's money and at the same time has tied down the pump handle by destroying the people's confidence in the integrity of our money and discouraging business.

"The poll shows that the people are fed up with ballyhoo. They want results. They are not getting results and they know that they can't get them from a dishonest and fluctuating dollar and the crazy patch-work of the thousand and one bureaus and agencies which the new deal has set up to control our lives."

Mrs. Ella Black Says "Public Disgusted With Present Liquor Setup"

(International News Service)

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Oct. 19.—Declaring the general public "is disguested' with the liquor setup, Mrs. Ella Boucher Black, president of the Pennsylvania Womens Christion Temperance Union, today mapped out a fight to restore prohibition.

Addressing approximately 3 0 0 delegates at the annual convention of the union, Mrs. Black said:

"Until we can again have national prohibition, we shall dry up as best as we can by local option, here a little, there a little, and leave to God the punishment of those responsible for conditions we cannot control."

Freighter Asks For Help, Member Of Crew Is Ill

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 19—Radio pleas for further medical advice were flashed here today from the Dollar liner freighter Stanley Dollar, 800 miles at sea. Aboard the ship in a critical condition is Chief Engineer Ross, who apparently suffered a paralytic stroke which has weakened his heart and made the victim susceptible to pneumonia.

For the last three days Dr. M. J. White, commanding officer of the Marine hospital, has been making a grim fight—via the ether waves—to save Ross' life.

Ross' condition became worse today and the freighter flashed a call intercepted by the coast guard here, asking for help from any nearby vessel with a doctor aboard.

Plane Designer Gives Out Facts

Igor Sikorsky, Tells Federal Aviation Commission About New War Planes

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—A new type of aerial warfare, with giant airplanes dropping a barrage of bombs over industrial areas, battleships, and even against land troops, was pictured to the Federal Aviation commission today by Igor Sikorsky, Bridgeport, Conn., plane manufacturer.

An enemy flotilla of big bombers, operating from mid-ocean, he said, could create havoc in a great industrial area such as New York.

Could Wreak Havoc

"Only one group would create a state of turmoil and the loss of several thousand lives," he said. "Each airplane would carry perhaps 100 bombs of 200 pounds each. Each ship would cover a line one mile long. Eighteen such lines across Manhattan would create tremendous loss.

"The best defense is more ships of the same type. They would have to stop the enemy in mid-ocean, because enemy planes would operate from airplane carriers or a naval squadron 1,000 miles off shore."

Air attack in the future on battleships, he said, would be made by a fleet of airplanes covering a specified area, rather than each airplane aiming individually at the target.

"The battleship would be certain to be put out of commission," he said.

King, Queen And Prince, Inspect Air Derby Planes

Royal Sponsorship Given To 21 Planes In Race For Melbourne

(International News Service)

MILDENHALL AIRPORT, Eng., Oct. 19.—The London to Melbourne air race, the most spectacular mass flight in history was given virtual royal sponsorship today when King George, Queen Mary and the Prince of Wales inspected the 21 planes which will start in the epic venture tomorrow.

The Prince of Wales inspected the 18 planes from Britain and other nations and the three from the United States with keen interest, witnessing an aerial acrobatic display by Johnny Wright of the United States and accepting a model of the plane Col. Roscoe Turner will use.

The visit of the king and queen was a surprise one. They motored over from Newmarket, where they have been attending the race meeting, arriving here late in the afternoon.

Gasoline War Is Spreading Fast

Gasoline War Which Started In New Jersey Has Spread Into Pennsylvania

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 19—The gasoline war which has been raging in New Jersey today spread to Pennsylvania, Delaware, Tennessee and Maryland as important steps were taken to end the demoralized situation in refined products.

Overnight developments included the entrance of President Roosevelt into the crisis and the beginning of a strong peace movement in New Jersey where directors of the independent garage, oil and allied dealers association agreed on a stabilization proposal and planned to present it to the major companies for approval.

Relief Mining Left To State

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—State relief mining of coal will be left to the state to decide, Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, said today.

He said he had only read in the newspapers of the proposed Pennsylvania plan, by James A. Gorman. He is leaving the project to the state administrator to pass on, he said.

St. Columbian was one of the most learned and eloquent of the many missionaries whom Ireland sent to the continent during the Dark Ages.

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19—Public sentiment is turning against the new deal and Roosevelt politics in general, Henry P. Fletcher, chairman of the Republican National Committee, asserted today, citing the latest Literary Digest poll to substantiate his statement.

"The new deal, as was expected, is sinking fast," said Fletcher. "It's unsound foundation of quack economics made this inevitable. In spite of crack-down threats, of the Tammanyized use of government funds to aid its political candidates, public sentiment is running strongly against the new deal.

"This is the information contained in the latest poll of the Literary Digest. It shows 17 states voting a majority opposed to President Roosevelt's acts and policies. This is a change from an earlier poll showing 47 states approving these policies "on the whole."

"The new deal has tried to prime the business pump with a perfectly staggering out-pouring of the taxpayer's money and at the same time has tied down the pump handle by destroying the people's confidence in the integrity of our money and discouraging business.

"The poll shows that the people are fed up with ballyhoo. They want results. They are not getting results and they know that they can't get them from a dishonest and fluctuating dollar and the crazy patch-work of the thousand and one bureaus and agencies which the new deal has set up to control our lives."

Mrs. Ella Black Says "Public Disgusted With Present Liquor Setup"

(International News Service)

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Oct. 19.—Declaring the general public "is disguested' with the liquor setup, Mrs. Ella Boucher Black, president of the Pennsylvania Womens Christion Temperance Union, today mapped out a fight to restore prohibition.

Addressing approximately 3 0 0 delegates at the annual convention of the union, Mrs. Black said:

"Until we can again have national prohibition, we shall dry up as best as we can by local option, here a little, there a little, and leave to God the punishment of those responsible for conditions we cannot control."

Freighter Asks For Help, Member Of Crew Is Ill

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 19—Radio pleas for further medical advice were flashed here today from the Dollar liner freighter Stanley Dollar, 800 miles at sea. Aboard the ship in a critical condition is Chief Engineer Ross, who apparently suffered a paralytic stroke which has weakened his heart and made the victim susceptible to pneumonia.

For the last three days Dr. M. J. White, commanding officer of the Marine hospital, has been making a grim fight—via the ether waves—to save Ross' life.

Ross' condition became worse today and the freighter flashed a call intercepted by the coast guard here, asking for help from any nearby vessel with a doctor aboard.

Plane Designer Gives Out Facts

Igor Sikorsky, Tells Federal Aviation Commission About New War Planes

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—A new type of aerial warfare, with giant airplanes dropping a barrage of bombs over industrial areas, battleships, and even against land troops, was pictured to the Federal Aviation commission today by Igor Sikorsky, Bridgeport, Conn., plane manufacturer.

An enemy flotilla of big bombers, operating from mid-ocean, he said, could create havoc in a great industrial area such as New York.

Could Wreak Havoc

"Only one group would create a state of turmoil and the loss of several thousand lives," he said. "Each airplane would carry perhaps 100 bombs of 200 pounds each. Each ship would cover a line one mile long. Eighteen such lines across Manhattan would create tremendous loss.

"The best defense is more ships of the same type. They would have to stop the enemy in mid-ocean, because enemy planes would operate from airplane carriers or a naval squadron 1,000 miles off shore."

Air attack in the future on battleships, he said, would be made by a fleet of airplanes covering a specified area, rather than each airplane aiming individually at the target.

"The battleship would be certain to be put out of commission," he said.

(International News Service)

MILDENHALL AIRPORT, Eng., Oct. 19.—The London to Melbourne air race, the most spectacular mass flight in history was given virtual royal sponsorship today when King George, Queen Mary and the Prince of Wales inspected the 21 planes which will start in the epic venture tomorrow.

The Prince of Wales inspected the 18 planes from Britain and other nations and the three from the United States with keen interest, witnessing an aerial acrobatic display by Johnny Wright of the United States and accepting a model of the plane Col. Roscoe Turner will use.

The visit of the king and queen was a surprise one. They motored over from Newmarket, where they have been attending the race meeting, arriving here late in the afternoon.

Gasoline War Is Spreading Fast

Gasoline War Which Started In New Jersey Has Spread Into Pennsylvania

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 19—The gasoline war which has been raging in New Jersey today spread to Pennsylvania, Delaware, Tennessee and Maryland as important steps were taken to end the demoralized situation in refined products.

Overnight developments included the entrance of President Roosevelt into the crisis and the beginning of a strong peace movement in New Jersey where directors of the independent garage, oil and allied dealers association agreed on a stabilization proposal and planned to present it to the major companies for approval.

Relief Mining Left To State

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—State relief mining of coal will be left to the state to decide, Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, said today.

Health Week

"Cancer is preventable," declares a bulletin of the Lawrence County Medical society, which is celebrating the annual Pennsylvania Health Week sponsored by the Medical society of the State of Pennsylvania.

"Cancer of the skin," says the bulletin, "is a disease of the older age groups, is not contagious, is a product of prolonged irritation and is in the beginning a slow process, allowing plenty of time for interference if attended to when first suspected. Don't delay!

Throughout the state today there will be a series of addresses by eminent doctors before service clubs, schools, parent teachers groups and other assemblies, in an endeavor to make Pennsylvania Health Week one of significance in giving added stimulus to preventive medicine.

Power Company Man Speaks To Y's Men

Y Club Hears Dingledy Tell Utility's Work; Youngstown Men Guests

Declaring that "storms are the bane of an electric company's existence and constitute its major source of trouble," Paul G. Dingledy, assistant to the general manager of the Pennsylvania Power company, sketched in detail before the Y's Men's club in the Y. M. C. A. last night the emergency moves the company swiftly makes when power goes off.

The elaborate communications system set up to allow company power dispatchers to anticipate storms was described by Mr. Dingledy. He declared that even though the storms may hardly threaten there are emergency men posted throughout the district to act in case a power line goes down under a falling tree or the wind.

The speaker used a large map to show the extent of the Pennsylvania Power lines and he traced the current from its generation source at the Toronto, O., plant to homes here.

District Governor Judd Yeager of the Y's Men, of Youngstown, and Chester Potts, past regional director, were guests here last night. The club plans a Hallowe'en "poverty party" for Thursday, Oct. 25. The wives and lady friends of members are to be guests. Ralph Huffman is in charge.

Will Get Auto Plates Sooner

Department Makes Arrangements To Distribute Licenses Early

APPLICATIONS NOW IN MAILS

HARRISBURG, Oct. 19.—Motorists who want their 1935 license plates early will be able to get them soon under a new policy of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles.

The first 500,000 applications for 1935 tags will be mailed out this week and thereafter a daily average of more than 100,000 will be maintained.

Through a new procedure being tried this year, the license plates will be sold as rapidly as the applications, correctly filled out and accompanied by the proper checks or money orders, are returned.

A total of 2,200,000 applications for 1934 tags are being prepared by the Graphotype Section of the Bureau. These cover the 1,760,000 motor vehicles licensed for 1934, together with vehicles for which registrations were obtained in the previous two years but were not renewed.

Bureau officials emphasize that under the new policy it will be physically impossible to prepare and mail all applications within the next week or so. They estimate that the last batch of renewal forms cannot be mailed out until late this month and urge owners not to become impatient if they do not receive their applications immediately.

Owners who have moved since they obtained 1934 license plates are urged to make certain that in returning the renewal forms, they write their new address on the large section of the form. This will permit the bureau to make the necessary change in address while issuing the 1935 registration and will insure immediate receipt of the new license plates.

The Christian At Prayer

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Romans 12:12—"Continuing steadfastly in prayer."

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Oct. 21 is Matt. 6:5-15; Ephesians 3:14-21, the Golden Text being Rom. 12:12, "Continuing steadfastly in prayer.")

Dr. ALVIN E. BELL

Coleridge said of prayer "The act of praying in its most perfect form is the very highest energy of which the human mind is capable."

The Master's Precept on Prayer

The disciples must often have thought of their Master's prayer life as was said of his teaching, "No man prayeth as this man." Accordingly they came to him with the request, "Lord, teach us to pray." In response to this request he gave them the model prayer we call "the Lord's Prayer" which he had earlier embodied in his Sermon on the Mount. We may well study it as the Master's precept on prayer. It may be regarded as an ideal "table on contents" for every true prayer, for herein we find the true essentials of prayer, viz adoration, supplication, confession, intercession and praise. In this prayer we find set forth successively the relation of Father and Child." Our Father who art in Heaven, hallowed be thy name," the Sovereign-subject relation: "the kingdom come," the Master-servant relation: "thy will be precept: "For this cause I bow my knees unto the Father, from whom every family in heaven and on earth is named." There follows a prayer for plentitude, which embodies the most stupendous request imaginable, viz, "that ye may be filled unto all the fullness of God." What greater petition could be dreamed of than this? It was so great that in preparation for it, Paul felt the need of the Holy Spirit's powerful reinforcement: "that he would grant you, according to the riches of his glory, that ye may be strengthened with power through his Spirit in the inward man." He also felt the need of Christ's preparatory illumination: "that Christ may dwell in your hearts through faith, to the end that ye may be strong to apprehend —and to know the love of Christ that passeth knowledge." All this preparation and illumination was to lead to the consummation of their being filled with the divine plentitude: "that ye may be filled unto all the fullness of God." Achieving this one must say, "Non plus ultra," No more beyond."

AROUND CITY HALL

Police chronology for 24 hours ending at 3:30 p. m. October 18, 22 arrests on charges as follows: Violation of traffic regulations, 14; exceeding speed limit, 7; and drunkenness, 1.

Due to four house entries in the Seventh Ward city detectives and patrolmen are maintaining a sharp vigil in the hope of apprehending the person or persons responsible. Although entry was made to four residences the total cash loot secured amounted to $6.35. Should the party or parties be captured they will discover that crime doesn't pay.

City police are watching for a gang of boys whom are said to be pulling one of the worst stunts that a mind could hatch. It is said they have waited at the Boyles avenue bridge for automobiles to pass beneath the span and then throw flaming newspapers at the automobile. If the boys are caught and the stunt can be tied to them they can expect no leniency.

All members of city council are furnished monthly with a report of the financial condition of the city. The reports are compiled in the office of the Finance Director, Albert A. Hoyland. During the past few months Hoyland warned against the expenditure of unnecessary monies, in the hope of being able to pay salaries in cash.

Mayor Mayne remarked yesterday that "two weeks from today I'll be tired." He was looking forward to the hunting season. Annually on the first day of the season he secures his trusty shotgun and tramps into the fields hereabouts. As yet he has not returned without a bunny. The city's chief executive has always been a lover of outdoor life.

Will Get Auto Plates Sooner

APPLICATIONS NOW IN MAILS

HARRISBURG, Oct. 19.—Motorists who want their 1935 license plates early will be able to get them soon under a new policy of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles.

The first 500,000 applications for 1935 tags will be mailed out this week and thereafter a daily average of more than 100,000 will be maintained.

Through a new procedure being tried this year, the license plates will be sold as rapidly as the applications, correctly filled out and accompanied by the proper checks or money orders, are returned.

A total of 2,200,000 applications for 1934 tags are being prepared by the Graphotype Section of the Bureau. These cover the 1,760,000 motor vehicles licensed for 1934, together with vehicles for which registrations were obtained in the previous two years but were not renewed.

Bureau officials emphasize that under the new policy it will be physically impossible to prepare and mail all applications within the next week or so. They estimate that the last batch of renewal forms cannot be mailed out until late this month and urge owners not to become impatient if they do not receive their applications immediately.

Owners who have moved since they obtained 1934 license plates are urged to make certain that in returning the renewal forms, they write their new address on the large section of the form. This will permit the bureau to make the necessary change in address while issuing the 1935 registration and will insure immediate receipt of the new license plates.

The Christian At Prayer

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Romans 12:12—"Continuing steadfastly in prayer."

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Oct. 21 is Matt. 6:5-15; Ephesians 3:14-21, the Golden Text being Rom. 12:12, "Continuing steadfastly in prayer.)

Dr. ALVIN E. BELL

Coleridge said of prayer "The act of praying in its most perfect form is the very highest energy of which the human mind is capable."

The Master's Precept on Prayer

The disciples must often have thought of their Master's prayer life as was said of his teaching, "No man prayeth as this man." Accordingly they came to him with the request, "Lord, teach us to pray." In response to this request he gave them the model prayer we call "the Lord's Prayer" which he had earlier embodied in his Sermon on the Mount. We may well study it as the Master's precept on prayer. It may be regarded as an ideal "table on contents" for every true prayer, for herein we find the true essentials of prayer, viz adoration, supplication, confession, intercession and praise. In this prayer we find set forth successively the relation of Father and Child." Our Father who art in Heaven, hallowed be thy name," the Sovereign-subject relation: "the kingdom come," the Master-servant relation: 'thy will be precept: "For this cause I bow my knees unto the Father, from whom every family in heaven and on earth is named." There follows a prayer for plentitude, which embodies the most stupendous request imaginable, viz, "that ye may be filled unto all the fullness of God." What greater petition could be dreamed of than this? It was so great that in preparation for it, Paul felt the need of the Holy Spirit's powerfu reinforcement: "that he would grant you, according to the riches of his glory, that ye may be strengthened with power through his Spirit in the inward man." He also felt the need of Christ's preparatory illumination: "that Christ may dwell in your hearts through faith, to the end that ye may be strong to apprehend —and to know the love of Christ that passeth knowledge." All this preparation and illumination was to lead to the consummation of their being filled with the divine plentitude: "that ye may be filled unto all the fullness of God." Achieving this one must say, "Non plus ultra," No more beyond."

The Christian's Practice of Prayer

If the Lord's Prayer is the Master's precept on prayer then Ephesians 3:14-21 represents the disciple's practice of prayer in its highest form. What John 17 is to the gospels this one of Paul's prison prayers is to Paul's epistles.

In it is the reverent approach in prayer that reflects the Master's done" the Benefactor-beggar relation: "Give us this day our daily bread"; the Banker-bankrupt relation: "Forgive us our debts"; the Saviour-sinner relation: "Bring us not into temptation, but deliver us from the evil one." This descending scale is a real school in reverence. The Master's precept on prayer given us here "seeks first the kingdom of God and his righteousness" six of its seven petitions being for spiritual gifts and one for material benefits. It calls for faith to address him as "Our Father"; it inspires us with hope to know that he is "in heaven' and has a kingdom coming upon earth: it demands unselfish and unlimited love to include all mankind in the "our" "us" and "we" of this model prayer. Following this precept on prayer we will safely avoid the perils of hypocritical pretense and heathenish profusion against which the Master warned his disciples.

AROUND CITY HALL

Police chronology for 24 hours ending at 3:30 p. m. October 18, 22 arrests on charges as follows: Violation of traffic regulations, 14; exceeding speed limit, 7; and drunkenness, 1.

Due to four house entries in the Seventh Ward city detectives and patrolmen are maintaining a sharp vigil in the hope of apprehending the person or persons responsible. Although entry was made to four residences the total cash loot secured amounted to $6.35. Should the party or parties be captured they will discover that crime doesn't pay.

City police are watching for a gang of boys whom are said to be pulling one of the worst stunts that a mind could hatch. It is said they have waited at the Boyles avenue bridge for automobiles to pass beneath the span and then throw flaming newspapers at the automobile. If the boys are caught and the stunt can be tied to them they cah expect no leniency.

All members of city council are furnished monthly with a report of the financial condition of the city. The reports are compiled in the office of the Finance Director, Albert A. Hoyland. During the past few months Hoyland warned against the expenditure of unnecessary monies, in the hope of being able to pay salaries in cash.

Mayor Mayne remarked yesterday that "two weeks from today I'll be tired." He was looking forward to the hunting season. Annually on the first day of the season he secures his trusty shotgun and tramps into the fields hereabouts. As yet he has not returned without a bunny. The city's chief executive has always been a lover of outdoor life.

Says Sentiment Trend Is Against "New Deal"

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19—Public sentiment is turning against the new deal and Roosevelt politics in general, Henry P. Fletcher, chairman of the Republican National Committee, asserted today, citing the latest Literary Digest poll to substantiate his statement.

"The new deal, as was expected, is sinking fast," said Fletcher. "It's unsound foundation of quack economics made this inevitable. In spite of crack-down threats, of the Tammanyized use of government funds to aid its political candidates, public sentiment is running strongly against the new deal.

"This is the information contained in the latest poll of the Literary Digest. It shows 17 states voting a majority opposed to President Roosevelt's acts and policies. This is a change from an earlier poll showing 47 states approving these policies "on the whole."

"The new deal has tried to prime the business pump with a perfectly staggering out-pouring of the taxpayer's money and at the same time has tied down the pump handle by destroying the people's confidence in the integrity of our money and discouraging business.

"The poll shows that the people are fed up with ballyhoo. They want results. They are not getting results and they know that they can't get them from a dishonest and fluctuating dollar and the crazy patch-work of the thousand and one bureaus and agencies which the new deal has set up to control our lives."

Mrs. Ella Black Says "Public Disgusted With Present Liquor Setup"

(International News Service)

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Oct. 19.—Declaring the general public "is disgusted' with the liquor setup, Mrs. Ella Boucher Black, president of the Pennsylvania Womens Christion Temperance Union, today mapped out a fight to restore prohibition.

Addressing approximately 3 0 0 delegates at the annual convention of the union, Mrs. Black said:

"Until we can again have national prohibition, we shall dry up as best as we can by local option, here a little, there a little, and leave to God the punishment of those responsible for conditions we cannot control."

Freighter Asks For Help, Member Of Crew Is Ill

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 19—Radio pleas for further medical advice were flashed here today from the Dollar liner freighter Stanley Dollar, 800 miles at sea. Aboard the ship in a critical condition is Chief Engineer Ross, who apparently suffered a paralytic stroke which has weakened his heart and made the victim susceptible to pneumonia.

For the last three days Dr. M. J. White, commanding officer of the Marine hospital, has been making a grim fight—via the ether waves—to save Ross' life.

Ross' condition became worse today and the freighter flashed a call intercepted by the coast guard here, asking for help from any nearby vessel with a doctor aboard.

Plane Designer Gives Out Facts

Igor Sikorsky, Tells Federal Aviation Commission About New War Planes

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—A new type of aerial warfare, with giant airplanes dropping a barrage of bombs over industrial areas, battleships, and even against land troops, was pictured to the Federal Aviation commission today by Igor Sikorsky, Bridgeport, Conn., plane manufacturer.

An enemy flotilla of big bombers, operating from mid-ocean, he said, could create havoc in a great industrial area such as New York.

Could Wreak Havoc

"Only one group would create a state of turmoil and the loss of several thousand lives," he said. "Each airplane would carry perhaps 100 bombs of 200 pounds each. Each ship would cover a line one mile long. Eighteen such lines across Manhattan would create tremendous loss.

"The best defense is more ships of the same type. They would have to stop the enemy in mid-ocean, because enemy planes would operate from airplane carriers or a naval squadron 1,000 miles off shore."

Air attack in the future on battleships, he said, would be made by a fleet of airplanes covering a specified area, rather than each airplane aiming individually at the target.

"The battleship would be certain to be put out of commission," he said.

King, Queen And Prince, Inspect Air Derby Planes

Royal Sponsorship Given To 21 Planes In Race For Melbourne

(International News Service)

MILDENHALL AIRPORT, Eng., Oct. 19.—The London to Melbourne air race, the most spectacular mass flight in history was given virtual royal sponsorship today when King George, Queen Mary and the Prince of Wales inspected the 21 planes which will start in the epic venture tomorrow.

The Prince of Wales inspected the 18 planes from Britain and other nations and the three from the United States with keen interest, witnessing an aerial acrobatic display by Johnny Wright of the United States and accepting a model of the plane Col. Roscoe Turner will use.

The visit of the king and queen was a surprise one. They motored over from Newmarket, where they have been attending the race meeting, arriving here late in the afternoon.

Gasoline War Is Spreading Fast

Gasoline War Which Started In New Jersey Has Spread Into Pennsylvania

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 19—The gasoline war which has been raging in New Jersey today spread to Pennsylvania, Delaware, Tennessee and Maryland as important steps were taken to end the demoralized situation in refined products.

Overnight developments included the entrance of President Roosevelt into the crisis and the beginning of a strong peace movement in New Jersey where directors of the independent garage, oil and allied dealers association agreed on a stabilization proposal and planned to present it to the major companies for approval.

Relief Mining Left To State

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—State relief mining of coal will be left to the state to decide, Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, said today.

He said he had only read in the newspapers of the proposed Pennsylvania plan by James A. Gorman. He is leaving the project to the state administrator to pass on, he said.

St. Columbian was one of the most learned and eloquent of the many missionaries whom Ireland sent to the continent during the Dark Ages.

Clairton High Will Bring Light And Fast Team, Game Starts At 2:30 P. M.

SATURDAY afternoon at 2:30 o'clock New Castle high school "Red Hurricane" football team will trot out on the greenward of Taggart stadium for a grid battle with a light and fast Clairton high eleven. It will be a Class AA conference engagement. New Castle high hopes to be able to chalk up the third major victory of the season. The gates will open at 1:30 p. m.

Locals Seek Victory

New Castle high, fresh from the 9 to 6 defeat of Washington high last week, will be rarin' to go tomorrow afternoon. The "jinx" has been chased. The defeat by Johnstown high has been forgotten.

Coach Phil Bridenbaugh does not contemplate any changes in the New Castle lineup for the Clairton game unless forced to do so by injuries. It is not likely that Frank Crisci, the right tackle, will be able to start, due to a bad leg, and if Crisci does not start, the assignment will fall to Fred Shellogg. Another doubtful starter is Cox, the big colored fullback, who may be replaced by Alex Shellogg.

Light And Fast

Clairton high will have a light and fast backfield composed of Pegrin, J. George, Lasch and Bailey. Coach Woodman has been training his boys diligently all week for the New Castle game and hopes to have them on edge for their most important battle.

The Clairton high band will accompany the team to New Castle and together with the great New Castle high band will furnish inspiring music for the fans before the game and during intermission at the first half.

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner has made an appeal to the fans to treat the Clairton visitors with courtesy. It is always a reflection on the town in the manner in which football crowds behave.

New Castle had very fine treatment at Washington last Saturday, why—because New Castle fans made the Washington fans feel at home when they played here last year. Give the Clairton team and crowd that follows them a big hearty welcome. Make them want to come back to New Castle.

The fans are asked to take notice of the starting time (2:30 p. m.) for the game. The Johnstown game was started at 3 o'clock, to accommodate the Johnstown fans.

In event of good weather the stands should be rather well packed tomorrow, as quite a number from Clairton will come to New Castle for the grid battle.

CROTON BUCS TO PLAY

The Croton Bucs will play the Wabash Bears Sunday at the Seventh ward field. Croton would like to play Pearson street, Long avenue, Dewey Avenue Stars and others. For games call 2578-J and ask either for Bill or Frank.

Ellwood City Junior High Football Team Hands Washington 6 To 0 Defeat

Ellwood City Junior High School football team handed the George Washington Junor High gridders a 6 to 0 defeat yesterday afternoon at the Washington High Field. A long forward pass to the Ellwood City right end in the second period gave the visitors their victory.

The Washington High team had the ball on the Ellwood City one-yard line three different times, but could not put it over for a touchdown.

Washington's next home game will be with Franklin High on Thursday afternoon, October 25.

Shenango-Bessemer In Battle Today

The county championship football title will be at stake today in the grid battle that is taking place at Bessemer High school athletic field.

The game got under way at 3 o'clock. Shenango high, with Coach Ed Raney at the helm, was confident of taking the measure of the Bessemerites. Coach Fredericks had the Bessemer high team on "edge" for the important contest.

NIGHT BATTLES WILL BE GOOD

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 19. — The football season swept into interesting, thrilling and difficult stages in Pennsylvania today.

On every hand we find coaches and experts with a pessimistic look and rather cautious about venturing predictions. It now is a case of "dog-eat-dog" because the day of the setup contests has passed. Teams now must stand or fall on their merits.

But these battles between teams more equal in strength and cunning are answers to sport fans' dreams. Now the enthusiastic fan can praise his idols, sing his Alma Mater, and give vent to those feelings which are most conspicuous during the gridiron season.

Good Games Tonight

Collegiate activities in Pennsylvania get off to a hilarious start tonight when the Haskell Indians, famous in days gone by and far from forgotten now, clash with Duquesne at Pittsburgh. The "Night Riders" of Duquesne are out for additional glory and the Indians seek more scalps. But the Haskells will fail to pin the Indian sign on the Dukes. It should be a good battle.

Seeking their second victory to balance the season's record, the Presidents of W. & J. oppose Geneva at Beaver Falls. Since a spectacular performance in the initial game against Carnegie Tech, the Covenanters have not been impressive. Tonight will be more than dark for them.

West Virginia-Temple

A hard-fighting group of huskies from West Virginia University defeated only once, will perform under the arc lights of Philadelphia against Temple. Although tied, the Temple gridders under (Pop) Warner have been undefeated this season. Power will meet power in the tussle that will be close, so close, in fact, that anybody's guess as to the victor is as good as mine.

Another neck and neck struggle takes place between Albright and Muhlenberg at Allentown. It is difficult to select he best here but I'm stringing along with Albright.

Pitt vs. Minnesota

The gridiron feast comes Saturday. It should be a banner day with the spotlight once again shining on Pittsburgh.

Here Pitt's Golden Panthers, aiming for an unblemished record and national honors, will be thrown against Minnesota. Both teams are undefeated and untied and on paper the Gophers appear to hold an edge. They offer a veteran team that beat Pitt last year and some of the country's best ball toters. I predict scoring by both teams and the gods of football will decide the classic.

After two dismal starts, Harvey Harmon's Pennsylvania cohorts ought to get going against Rutgers. The score will not be big but Penn should crash the winning column.

Villanova plays host to Detroit, a Michigan foe that outdistanced W. & J. But Harry Stuhldreher's boys are good and they are given the edge.

Tech vs. Notre Dame

Lacking the spark and fight of old, Howard Harpster's Carnegie Tech eleven faces the rejuvenated Notre Dame Ramblers at South Bend. Always a "jink" for the "Irish", the Tartans, even though inspired by the presence of Harpster, have a tough assignment. Tech uses the Notre Dame system but so did Purdue—unsuccessfully. I expect the Ramblers to display some of their dash of a by-gone day and win.

Bucknell goes into the anthracite region to battle St. Thomas at Scranton. The "Tommies" are good but Bucknell will flash too much power to be stopped.

Thiel-Westminster

Perhaps one of the best games along the eastern boundary line takes place when Lehigh and Penn State clash at Bethlehem. Although not the best in the country, both teams are strong and from past performances appear to be evenly matched. A tie would not surprise me.

The Thiel-Westminster tussle appears to be outstanding among the smaller colleges. Both have good teams and the game should be an important factor in deciding the unofficial winner of the Class B crown.

MALIZIA MIDGETS WIN

Grovers-Bethany Battle Saturday

Grove City Expects Tough Battle With Bethany Eleven, In Second Game

GROVE CITY, Oct. 19.—The best Bethany team to face Grove City in more than a decade will furnish the competition for the Crimson here Saturday in the third game of the campaign, and Coach Bill Amos is freely predicting that his Grovers are due for their first defeat of the year.

Badly battered by a rugged Slippery Rock line last week, the Grovers have been handicapped preparing for Bethany. With Gross and Soich definitely on the bench, and many of the first-stringers nursing painful bruises, Amos has had to go easy this week, despite the necessity of improving the blocking. He has been grooming Hank Johns of Sharon for the right end job, replacing Soich, while Howard Wilson is to start at Gross' halfback post.

Grovers Have Edge

On the strength of the records, Grove City has been successful in winning over Bethany, rolling up a point total of 238 to 64, in winning eleven games and losing only three. In 1921 and 1922, Bethany defeated the Grovers by the same scores, 14-0, and back in 1914, topped Grove City by a 23-9 count. In 1923, Grove City turned the tables, 16-6, and repeated the following year, 13-0. No games were scheduled until 1930, when Grove City won, 48-0, and in '31 the victory went to the Grovers by the same score. In 1932, Grove City's victory was 26-0, and last fall, playing on the best football they presented during the entire 1933 season, Grove City won by a 38-0 score.

Coach John Knight has a big, veteran team this season, featuring Mel Mumper, 185-pound fullback. The team played Waynesburg on even terms last Saturday, but lost when Rabs Currie broke away for two touchdown runs. Grove City will be out-weighed, both in the line and backfield, and face a hard assignment in keeping the slate clean for the year.

Snyder Winner In Detroit Marathon

Alfred Snyder of New Castle, champion long distance runner, captured the 20 mile marathon at Detroit Tuesday finishing first in a field of 242 starters, among them the best in the United States. Snyder took the lead coming in the Grand River road and finished about one-quarter of a mile ahead of the field. Second place went to Percy Whyre of Canada.

The marathon ended in front of the Hotel Detroit-Leland at the AAU headquarters.

The human race has proved itself a forgetful pupil.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Del McCoy, 21, drove Mary Victoria to victory in the 2:22 pace at the Washington county fair track yesterday. The race went four heats, Mary Victoria taking the last two. It was McCoy's twenty-third win this season. Patricia Dean took the 2:16 trot. The time for both races were 2:15½ and 2:16, respectively.

As Pitt and Minnesota prepare for their game Saturday at Pittsburgh and many would hand the mythical title of the east to the Panthers, Coach Fritz Crisler of Princeton wants the awarding of any championships, real or mythical, held up until the fans see what the Tigers do.

Haskell Indians and Duquesne clash at Pittsburgh tonight. The kickoff will occur at 8:15 p. m. Duquesne will play without the services of Jim Fillingham, Charleroi. The lad's mother passed away Wednesday.

Scholastic difficulties and injuries will keep eight of the Butler high school varsity on the bench tomorrow when Beaver Falls plays Butler.

Bridging a gap of 42 years, Princeton and Pennsylvania will resume football relations in 1936, it was announced today.

Delaware still retains the whipping post.

Thiel-Westminster Battle On Saturday At New Wilmington

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Oct. 19.—Western Pennsylvania's small-college football classic takes place here tomorrow when Coach Jack Stoeber's Thiel college eleven clashes with Coach Bill Gilbane's Westminster college team in a feature of the Westminster alumni homecoming day.

The Lutherans have been the sensation of the district since their stinging defeat of a favored Geneva team two weks ago, and on paper are favored to win the classic and thus push themselves one more notch closer to the district title. The Titans, on the other hand, have come through four games, two of which have been with larger foes, and feel that the experience will aid them in stopping Thiel.

See Huge Crowd.

Advance indications late Thursday were that more than 1500 alumni and former students, 200 Thiel students, and a large crowd of fans from Lawrence and Mercer counties would be on hand for the game, which begins at 2:30. Westminster's five fraternities and seven sororities are all having special luncheons and dinners to honor alumni.

Coaches Bill and Tom Gilbane will probably shuffle the lineup somewhat for the important contest, probably starting Bob Arrowsmith at quarter, with Dave Mintz ready to enter at the signal-calling berth when needed. Ray Sweeney and Jack Laraway will probably be at left and right halfback, and Bill Staples will be at fullback.

In place of Dudley, stellar guard, who broke his leg in the Holbrook game last Saturday, Coach Jack Stoeber of Thiel will start Gazetos, a veteran 190-pounder. The other Thiel linemen, with the exception of Casey and C. Snyder, two frosh, are all veterans.

Star Wingman.

Strimer, Thiel right end, is one of the best wingmen in the district and will have to be watched closely by the Titans. The Thiel backfield, with E. Snyder at quarter, Tomechko at left half, Stanford at right half and Clark at fullback, is one of the best balanced set of ball carriers among the smaller colleges.

Bunny Austen and Dick Watt will probably get the call to start at end for Westminster, although Jim Strasberg will certainly be in the game before it is over. Red Wilson, Sharon product, will also see action at the terminal.

Lou Franklin, shifted from center, will probably be at a tackle along with Merrill Straw or Bob Harder. Bob Scarbrough or Don Helmick will play center. Hal Burry and Walt Young have the starting guard assignments for the Titans.

Lineups:

Westminster		Thiel
Watt	L.E.	Ruehle
Franklin	L.T.	Casey
Young	L.G.	George
Helmick	C.	Seiberling
Burry	R.G.	Gazetos
Straw	R.T.	Snyder
Austen	R.E.	Strimer
Arrowsmith	Q.B.	E. Snyder
Sweeney	L.H.	Tomechko
Laraway	R.H.	Stanford
Staples	F.B.	Clark

Referee—William C. Evans, Lebanon Valley; Umpire, Dr. A. A. Cutler, Pitt. Linesman, E. A. Stahl, Pitt. Game starts at 2:30.

Union And Mars Playing Today

Shortly after 2:30 o'clock this afternoon the Union High School football team and Mars High gridders started their annual battle at the new Union High athletic field adjoining the Union school. Coach Davey Boyd had the Unionites on their toes for a good showing today against the Butler countains.

Mars High lost to Union last year 7 to 0 and were here today to try and get revenge.

NEW CASTLE HIGH AND CLAIRTON TO PLAY SATURDAY

Class AA Teams Ready To Battle

Clairton High Will Bring Light And Fast Team, Game Starts At 2:30 P. M.

SATURDAY afternoon at 2:30 o'clock New Castle high school "Red Hurricane" football team will trot out on the greenward of Taggart stadium for a grid battle with a light and fast Clairton high eleven. It will be a Class AA conference engagement. New Castle high hopes to be able to chalk up the third major victory of the season. The gates will open at 1:30 p. m.

Locals Seek Victory

New Castle high, fresh from the 9 to 6 defeat of Washington high last week, will be rarin' to go tomorrow afternoon. The "jinx" has been chased. The defeat by Johnstown high has been forgotten.

Coach Phil Bridenbaugh does not contemplate any changes in the New Castle lineup for the Clairton game unless forced to do so by injuries. It is not likely that Frank Crisci, the right tackle, will be able to start, due to a bad leg, and if Crisci does not start, the assignment will fall to Fred Shellogg. Another doubtful starter is Cox, the big colored fullback, who may be replaced by Alex Shellogg.

Light And Fast

Clairton high will have a light and fast backfield composed of Pegrin, J. George, Lasch and Bailey. Coach Woodman has been training his boys diligently all week for the New Castle game and hopes to have them on edge for their most important battle.

The Clairton high band will accompany the team to New Castle and together with the great New Castle high band will furnish inspiring music for the fans before the game and during intermission at the first half.

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner has made an appeal to the fans to treat the Clairton visitors with courtesy. It is always a reflection on the town in the manner in which football crowds behave.

New Castle had very fine treatment at Washington last Saturday, why—because New Castle fans made the Washington fans feel at home when they played here last year. Give the Clairton team and crowd that follows them a big hearty welcome. Make them want to come back to New Castle.

The fans are asked to take notice of the starting time (2:30 p. m.) for the game. The Johnstown game was started at 3 o'clock, to accommodate the Johnstown fans.

In event of good weather the stands should be rather well packed tomorrow, as quite a number from Clairton will come to New Castle for the grid battle.

CROTON BUCS TO PLAY

The Croton Bucs will play the Wabash Bears Sunday at the Seventh ward field. Croton would like to play Pearson street, Long avenue, Dewey Avenue Stars and others. For games call 2578-J and ask either for Bill or Frank.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 19. — The football season swept into interesting, thrilling and difficult stages in Pennsylvania today.

On every hand we find coaches and experts with a pessimistic look and rather cautious about venturing predictions. It now is a case of "dog-eat-dog" because the day of the setup contests has passed. Teams now must stand or fall on their merits.

But these battles between teams more equal in strength and cunning are answers to sport fans' dreams. Now the enthusiastic fan can praise his idols, sing his Alma Mater, and give vent to those feelings which are most conspicuous during the gridiron season.

Good Games Tonight

Collegiate activities in Pennsylvania get off to a hilarious start tonight when the Haskell Indians, famous in days gone by and far from forgotten now, clash with Duquesne at Pittsburgh. The "Night Riders" of Duquesne are out for additional glory and the Indians seek more scalps. But the Haskells will fail to pin the Indian sign on the Dukes. It should be a good battle.

Seeking their second victory to balance the season's record, the Presidents of W. & J. oppose Geneva at Beaver Falls. Since a spectacular performance in the initial game against Carnegie Tech, the Covenanters have not been impressive. Tonight will be more than dark for them.

West Virginia-Temple

A hard-fighting group of huskies from West Virginia University defeated only once, will perform under the arc lights of Philadelphia against Temple. Although tied, the Temple gridders under (Pop) Warner have been undefeated this season. Power will meet power in the tussle that will be close, so close, in fact, that anybody's guess as to the victor is as good as mine.

Another neck and neck struggle takes place between Albright and Muhlenberg at Allentown. It is difficult to select he best here but I'm stringing along with Albright.

Pitt vs. Minnesota

The gridiron feast comes Saturday. It should be a banner day with the spotlight once again shining on Pittsburgh.

Here Pitt's Golden Panthers, aiming for an unblemished record and national honors, will be thrown against Minnesota. Both teams are undefeated and untied and on paper the Gophers appear to hold an edge. They offer a veteran team that beat Pitt last year and some of the country's best ball toters. I predict scoring by both teams and the gods of football will decide the classic.

After two dismal starts, Harvey Harmon's Pennsylvania cohorts ought to get going against Rutgers. The score will not be big but Penn should crash the winning column.

Villanova plays host to Detroit, a Michigan foe that outdistanced W. & J. But Harry Stuhldreher's boys are good and they are given the edge.

Tech vs. Notre Dame

Lacking the spark and fight of old, Howard Harpster's Carnegie Tech eleven faces the rejuvenated Notre Dame Ramblers at South Bend. Always a "jink" for the "Irish", the Tartans, even though inspired by the presence of Harpster, have a tough assignment. Tech uses the Notre Dame system but so did Purdue—unsuccessfully. I expect the Ramblers to display some of their dash of a by-gone day and win.

Bucknell goes into the anthracite region to battle St. Thomas at Scranton. The "Tommies" are good but Bucknell will flash too much power to be stopped.

Thiel-Westminster

Perhaps one of the best games along the eastern boundary line takes place when Lehigh and Penn State clash at Bethlehem. Although not the best in the country, both teams are strong and from past performances appear to be evenly matched. A tie would not surprise me.

The Thiel-Westminster tussle appears to be outstanding among the smaller colleges. Both have good teams and the game should be an important factor in deciding the unofficial winner of the Class B crown.

MALIZIA MIDGETS WIN

Thiel-Westminster Battle On Saturday At New Wilmington

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Oct. 19. —Western Pennsylvania's small-college football classic takes place here tomorrow when Coach Jack Stoeber's Thiel college eleven clashes with Coach Bill Gilbane's Westminster college team in a feature of the Westminster alumni homecoming day.

The Lutherans have been the sensation of the district since their stinging defeat of a favored Geneva team two weks ago, and on paper are favored to win the classic and thus push themselves one more notch closer to the district title. The Titans, on the other hand, have come through four games, two of which have been with larger foes, and feel that the experience will aid them in stopping Thiel.

See Huge Crowd.

Advance indications late Thursday were that more than 1500 alumni and former students, 200 Thiel students, and a large crowd of fans from Lawrence and Mercer counties would be on hand for the game, which begins at 2:30. Westminster's five fraternities and seven sororities are all having special luncheons and dinners to honor alumni.

Coaches Bill and Tom Gilbane will probably shuffle the lineup somewhat for the important contest, probably starting Bob Arrowsmith at quarter, with Dave Mintz ready to enter at the signal-calling berth when needed. Ray Sweeney and Jack Laraway will probably be at left and right halfback, and Bill Staples will be at fullback.

In place of Dudley, stellar guard, who broke his leg in the Holbrook game last Saturday, Coach Jack Stoeber of Thiel will start Gazetos, a veteran 190-pounder. The other Thiel linemen, with the exception of Casey and C. Snyder, two frosh, are all veterans.

Star Wingman.

Strimer, Thiel right end, is one of the best wingmen in the district and will have to be watched closely by the Titans. The Thiel backfield, with E. Snyder at quarter, Tomechko at left half, Stanford at right half and Clark at fullback, is one of the best balanced set of ball carriers among the smaller colleges.

Bunny Austen and Dick Watt will probably get the call to start at end for Westminster, although Bim Strasberg will certainly be in the game before it is over. Red Wilson, Sharon product, will also see action at the terminal.

Lou Franklin, shifted from center, will probably be at a tackle along with Merrill Straw or Bob Harder. Bob Scarbrough or Don Helmick will play center. Hal Burry and Walt Young have the starting guard assignments for the Titans.

Lineups:

Westminster		Thiel
Watt	L.E.	Ruehle
Franklin	L.T.	Casey
Young	L.G.	George
Helmick	C	Selberling
Burry	R.G.	Gazetos
Straw	R.T.	Snyder
Austen	R.E.	Strimer
Arrowsmith	Q.B.	E. Snyder
Sweeney	L.H.	Tomechko
Laraway	R.H.	Stanford
Staples	F.B.	Clark

Referee—William C. Evans, Lebanon Valley; Umpire, Dr. A. A. Cutler, Pitt. Linesman, E. A. Stahl, Pitt. Game starts at 2:30.

Union And Mars Playing Today

Shortly after 2:30 o'clock this afternoon the Union High School football team and Mars High gridders started their annual battle at the new Union High athletic field adjoining the Union school. Coach Davey Boyd had the Unionites on their toes for a good showing today against the Butler countains.

Mars High lost to Union last year 7 to 0 and were here today to try and get revenge.

Grovers-Bethany Battle Saturday

Grove City Expects Tough Battle With Bethany Eleven, Is Second Game

GROVE CITY, Oct. 19.—The best Bethany team to face Grove City in more than a decade will furnish the competition for the Crimson here Saturday in the third game of the campaign, and Coach Bill Amos is freely predicting that his Grovers are due for their first defeat of the year.

Badly battered by a rugged Slippery Rock line last week, the Grovers have been handicapped preparing for Bethany. With Gross and Soich definitely on the bench, and many of the first-stringers nursing painful bruises. Amos has had to go easy this week despite the necessity of improving the blocking. He has been grooming Hank Johns of Sharon for the right end job, replacing Soich, while Howard Wilson is to start at Gross' halfback post.

Grovers Have Edge

On the strength of the records, Grove City has been successful in winning over Bethany, rolling up a point total of 238 to 64, in winning eleven games and losing only three. In 1921 and 1922, Bethany defeated the Grovers by the same scores, 14-0, and back in 1914, topped Grove City by a 23-0 count. In 1923, Grove City turned the tables, 16-6, and repeated the following year, 13-0. No games were scheduled until 1930, when Grove City won, 48-0, and in '31 the victory went to the Grovers by the same score. In 1932, Grove City's victory was 26-0, and last fall, playing on the best football they presented during the entire 1933 season, Grove City won by a 38-0 score.

Coach John Knight has a big, veteran team this season, featuring Mel Mumper, 185-pound fullback. The team played Waynesburg on even terms last Saturday, but lost when Rabs Currie broke away for two touchdown runs. Grove City will be out-weighed, both in the line and backfield, and face a hard assignment in keeping the slate clean for the year.

Snyder Winner In Detroit Marathon

Alfred Snyder of New Castle, champion long distance runner, captured the 20 mile marathon at Detroit Tuesday finishing first in a field of 242 starters, among them the best in the United States. Snyder took the lead coming in the Grand River road and finished about one-quarter of a mile ahead of the field. Second place went to Percy Whyre of Canada.

The marathon ended in front of the Hotel Detroit-Leland at the AAU headuarters.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Del McCoy, 21, drove Mary Victoria to victory in the 2:22 pace at the Washington county fair track yesterday. The race went four heats, Mary Victoria taking the last two. It was McCoy's twenty-third win this season. Patricia Dean took the 2:16 trot. The time for both races were 2:15½ and 2:16, respectively.

As Pitt and Minnesota prepare for their game Saturday at Pittsburgh and many would hand the mythical title of the east to the Panthers, Coach Fritz Crisler of Princeton wants the awarding of any championships, real or mythical, held up until the fans see what the Tigers do.

Haskell Indians and Duquesne clash at Pittsburgh tonight. The kickoff will occur at 8:15 p. m. Duquesne will play without the services of Jim Fillingham, Charleroi. The lad's mother passed away Wednesday.

Scholastic difficulties and injuries will keep eight of the Butler high school varsity on the bench tomorrow when Beaver Falls plays Butler.

Bridging a gap of 42 years, Princeton and Pennsylvania will resume football relations in 1936, it was announced today.

Delaware still retains the whipping post.

APPLICATIONS NOW IN MAILS

HARRISBURG, Oct. 19.—Motorists who want their 1935 license plates early will be able to get them soon under a new policy of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles.

The first 500,000 applications for 1935 tags will be mailed out this week and thereafter a daily average of more than 100,000 will be maintained.

Through a new procedure being tried this year, the license plates will be sold as rapidly as the applications, correctly filled out and accompanied by the proper checks or money orders, are returned.

A total of 2,200,000 applications for 1934 tags are being prepared by the Graphotype Section of the Bureau. These cover the 1,760,000 motor vehicles licensed for 1934, together with vehicles for which registrations were obtained in the previous two years but were not renewed.

Bureau officials emphasize that under the new policy it will be physically impossible to prepare and mail all applications within the next week or so. They estimate that the last batch of renewal forms cannot be mailed out until late this month and urge owners not to become impatient if they do not receive their applications immediately.

Owners who have moved since they obtained 1934 license plates are urged to make certain that in returning the renewal forms, they write their new address on the large section of the form. This will permit the bureau to make the necessary change in address while issuing the 1935 registration and will insure immediate receipt of the new license plates.

The Christian At Prayer

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Romans 12:12—"Continuing steadfastly in prayer."

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Oct. 21 is Matt. 6:5-15; Ephesians 3:14-21, the Golden Text being Rom. 12:12, "Continuing steadfastly in prayer.")

Dr. ALVIN E. BELL

Coleridge said of prayer "The act of praying in its most perfect form is the very highest energy of which the human mind is capable."

The Master's Precept on Prayer

The disciples must often have thought of their Master's prayer life as was said of his teaching, "No man prayeth as this man." Accordingly they came to him with the request, "Lord, teach us to pray." In response to this request he gave them the model prayer we call "the Lord's Prayer" which he had earlier embodied in his Sermon on the Mount. We may well study it as the Master's precept on prayer. It may be regarded as an ideal "table on contents" for every true prayer, for herein we find the true essentials of prayer, viz adoration, supplication, confession, intercession and praise. In this prayer we find set forth successively the relation of Father and Child." Our Father who art in Heaven, hallowed be thy name," the Sovereign-subject relation: "the kingdom come," the Master-servant relation: "thy will be precept: "For this cause I bow my knees unto the Father, from whom every family in heaven and on earth is named." There follows a prayer for plentitude, which embodies the most stupendous request imaginable, viz, "that ye may be filled unto all the fuliness of God." What greater petition could be dreamed of than this? It was so great that in preparation for it, Paul felt the need of the Holy Spirit's powerfu reinforcement: "that he would grant you, according to the riches of his glory, that ye may be strengthened with power through his Spirit in the inward man." He also felt the need of Christ's preparatory illumination: "that Christ may dwell in your hearts through faith, to the end that ye may be strong to apprehend —and to know the love of Christ that passeth knowledge." All this preparation and illumination was to lead to the consummation of their being filled with the divine plentitude: "that ye may be filled unto all the fullness of God." Achieving this, one must say, "Non plus ultra." No more beyond."

done" the Benefactor-beggar relation: "Give us this day our daily bread"; the Banker-bankrupt relation: "Forgive us our debts"; the Saviour-sinner relation: "Bring us not into temptation, but deliver us from the evil one." This descending scale is a real school in reverence. The Master's precept on prayer given us here "seeks first the kingdom of God and his righteousness" six of its seven petitions being for spiritual gifts and one for material benefits. It calls for faith to address him as "Our Father"; it inspires us with hope to know that he is "in heaven' and has a kingdom coming upon earth: it demands unselfish and unlimited love to include all mankind in the "our" "us" and "we" of this model prayer. Following this precept on prayer we will safely avoid the perils of hypocritical pretense and heathenish profusion against which the Master warned his disciples.

The Christian's Practice of Prayer

If the Lord's Prayer is the Master's precept on prayer then Ephesians 3:14-21 represents the disciple's practice of prayer in its highest form. What John 17 is to the gospels this one of Paul's prison prayers is to Paul's epistles.

In it is the reverent approach in prayer that reflects the Master's

Police chronology for 24 hours ending at 3:30 p. m. October 18, 23 arrests on charges as follows: Violation of traffic regulations, 14; exceeding speed limit, 7; and drunkenness, 1.

Due to four house entries in the Seventh Ward city detectives and patrolmen are maintaining a sharp vigil in the hope of apprehending the person or persons responsible. Although entry was made to four residences the total cash loot secured amounted to $6.35. Should the party or parties be captured they will discover that crime doesn't pay.

City police are watching for a gang of boys whom are said to be pulling one of the worst stunts that a mind could hatch. It is said they have waited at the Boyles avenue bridge for automobiles to pass beneath the span and then throw flaming newspapers at the automobile. If the boys are caught and the stunt can be tied to them they cah expect no leniency.

All members of city council are furnished monthly with a report of the financial condition of the city. The reports are compiled in the office of the Finance Director, Albert A. Hoyland. During the past few months Hoyland warned against the expenditure of unnecessary monies, in the hope of being able to pay salaries in cash.

Mayor Mayne remarked yesterday that "two weeks from today I'll be tired." He was looking forward to the hunting season. Annually on the first day of the season he secures his trusty shotgun and tramps into the fields hereabouts. As yet he has not returned without a bunny. The city's chief executive has always been a lover of outdoor life.

Geneva Meets W. & J. Tonight

Homecoming Game Brings Recollections Of Memorable Battle 26 Years Ago

GAME SCHEDULED IN REEVES STADIUM

(Special To The News)

BEAVER FALLS, Oct. 19.—In renewing football relationships with W. & J. on Geneva's Homecoming Day the time worn question of "Who tackled Joe Thompson" is again being brought into circulation. It seems that 26 years ago a powerful Geneva team accompanied by a special train of Geneva rooters paid a visit to the W. & J. stronghold to engage in a friendly game of football. The train was delayed enroute and the game was not started until late afternoon. It appeared as if W. & J. had the better part of the scoring argument until almost time for the final whistle. Identification of the players was very difficult and night was falling rapidly. Suddenly the Covenanters came to life and Joe Thompson, stellar player and captain of the team broke into the clear and was off for the touchdown that would have given the decision to Geneva. Apparently out of nowhere came an enemy, who tackled Joe and as quickly disappeared into the dark. The game was subsequently won by W. & J. but Genevans are constantly asking the question, "Who tackled Joe Thompson?"

This enthusiasm which the old timers are bringing back to the Geneva Campus plus the pep being generated by the current student body has strengthened the courage of the local team and they will be out to upset the pre-game dope tonight. With all the cripples in first class condition coach Beede will be able to present the strongest starting lineup of the season. The determination which has been manifested by the squad during the final days of practice this week is just proof that W. & J. will be in for a full evening of hard football.

Local W. & J. Alumni will have a special section of the stadium reserved for this encounter. The 60 piece W. & J. band will parade from their headquarters in the Brodhead Hotel to the field where they will entertain before the game and at half time. The parade is scheduled to start promptly at 7:00 p. m.

The starting lineups:—

SPEEDER IS FINED

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 19.—Henry K. Armstrong, 35, who gave his residence as New Castle, was fined $5 and costs by Municipal Judge H. C. Hoffman, for speeding.

Let your topcoat have plenty of style or let well enough alone.

Don't you realize that any good Indian blanket can keep you warm in a rumble seat and that if heat is all you're looking for, you can carry a hot water bottle to your next football game?

That topcoat of yours has got to have STYLE . . . tons of it . . . enough to make blonde heads turn . . . enough to make you feel that you've had your money's worth back the first week.

Here it is . . . in the fronts . . . the belts . . . the sweep to the skirt and the plaits in the back. These topcoats are loaded for bear with STYLE and they're gunning for the young men who demand it.

Minnesota Threatens for National Gridiron Honors

Fordham-St. Mary's Will Play At New York City, Michigan-Georgia Tech

INTERSECTIONAL GAMES FEATURE

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Intersectional football, a heady but dubious draught made up of two parts misinformation, one part misgiving and a dash of bitters, will have its big fling of the year tomorrow on a dozen fields throughout the land, with 300,000 reveling in the show. The headache will follow on Sunday.

Intersectional Games

To be exact, nobody knows anything about intersectional football, just as nobody knows, except for the vinegar, anything about the champagne cocktail. Anyhow, tomorrow will be visiting day among the best people, as the following list of ranking intersectional meetings will show:

Pittsburgh vs Minnesota at Pittsburgh; Fordham vs St. Mary's at New York; Ohio State vs Colgate at Columbus; Notre Dame vs Carnegie Tech at South Bend; Michigan vs Georgia Tech at Ann Arbor; Army vs Sewanee at West Point; Villanova vs Detroit at Philadelphia; Manhattan vs Michigan State at New York; Syracuse vs Ohio Wesleyan at Syracuse; Creighton vs Rice at Omaha.

U. S. C. Vs Oregon State

The west coast, certain sections of the east, the south, the south-west and Big Six will give the sectional angle a fairly heavy play, inspite of the visiting back and forth. The coast games of outstanding merit will involve California with U. C. L. A.; San Francisco with Stanford; U. S. C. with Oregon State and Idaho with Oregon. Also, a bit off the line, Denver with Utah. I'll take California, Stanford, U. S. C., Oregon and Utah. However, look out for an upset with Stanford. Not to change the subject too pointedly, I give Iowa State a chance against Iowa and Creighton a chance with Rice. The latter has been traveling about a little too much for its own good.

In the south, a few of the key games name Vanderbilt against Auburn; Tulane against Georgia and Duke against Davidson. The latter made it close against Duke last year but doesn't figure now. Vanderbilt against Auburn represents the top and bottom of the southeastern conference. I'll take the top. I'm funny that way. Tulane figures a little better than Georgia in the latter's first conference game.

Chicago And Indiana

In the southwest, the only conference game is Texas A. and M., vs Texas Christian, with the later looking the part of the only possible winner. In non-conference games, Southern Methodist ought to be better than Oklahoma A. and M. and Texas seems to have an edge on Centenary.

The Big Ten will feature unbeaten Chicago against Indiana and Purdue against Wisconsin. Wisconsin and Chicago look the part. In the Big Six, Kansas State plays Kansas and Oklahoma plays Nebraska and I don't know what to do about either ball game, except that I'll take Nebraska on general principles.

3,458 DEPORTEES

(International News Service)

NEW YORK—In the last twelve months 3,458 persons have been deported to their homelands via New York. Some of these were anxious to leave, and others left because the government was anxious that they live somewhere else. Some were criminals, some were deemed likely to become criminals and others were unable to support themselves.

The important question is not whether we are going Left but what will be left.

Dempsey Baby Girl Is Being Guarded

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Fear of kidnappers today led Jack Dempsey, ex-heavyweight champion and his wife, the former Hannah Williams to declare that their infant daughter, Jacqueline will not be exploited or publicized in any way.

Reporters and cameramen were stopped in their tracks when they sought an "interview" with the infant.

"Publication of photographs," declared Mrs. Dempsey, "might arouse the greed of a 'snatch syndicate', or might induce some moron to grab the baby."

Tubers To Meet Sharpsville Hi

Great Battle In Prospect For Saturday Afternoon At Sharpsville

ELLWOOD TO BE UNDERDOGS IN GAME

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 19—Coach "Ganzy" Benedict's Ellwood City gridders will take their third jaunt away from home Saturday afternoon when they invade Sharpsville for their sixth game of the season.

One of the greatest battles of the year is in prospect for the Benedictmen when they stack up against Sharpsville's powerful and high scoring machine. This is the only time since the New Castle game that the Blue and White is entering the game as the underdog. Due to the fact that Sharpsville's team is virtually the same which defeated the locals 6-0 last year, and to date have four victories and one tie, and an uncrossed goal line, it is no wonder that the Tubers with one victory, one defeat, and three ties, are installed as the underdog.

Coach Benedict and his assistant Mike Ferrare have been working hard all week with their proteges in devising a defense to stop Sharpsville's hard running backs, Covert, Lucas, Pasco and Johnson. Lucas and Johnson are the chief scoring threats, and have been running wild against their opponents. The locals have brushed up on their aerial game and hope to make more effective use of it than they have in the past. There seems to have been a marked improvement in their running attack this week. Considerable zest and determination was shown on the practice field. Much time has been spent with working on power plays and developing a scoring punch. The workouts this week have shown an improvement. The locals are determined to make this evident tomorrow. Coach Benedict will have his whole varsity squad available for the game.

Ellwood will be up against a tough proposition tomorrow. They will be up against an inspired and determined eleven. It is Home Coming Day for Sharpsville, at which time a new athletic field will be dedicated. The Sharpsville team will play like demons in order to make this occasion a memorable. And this can be done no other way, but by accomplishing a victory.

The Ellwood High school band will have an important part in the ceremonies of the day and are making the long trip upon special request of Sharpsville officials.

Probable line-up:

Geneva Meets W. & J. Tonight

Homecoming Game Brings Recollections Of Memorable Battle 26 Years Ago

GAME SCHEDULED IN REEVES STADIUM

(Special To The News)

BEAVER FALLS, Oct. 19.—In renewing football relationships with W. & J. on Geneva's Homecoming Day the time worn question of "Who tackled Joe Thompson" is again being brought into circulation. It seems that 26 years ago a powerful Geneva team accompanied by a special train of Geneva rooters paid a visit to the W. & J. stronghold to engage in a friendly game of football. The train was delayed enroute and the game was not started until late afternoon. It appeared as if W. & J. had the better part of the scoring argument until almost time for the final whistle. Identification of the players was very difficult and night was falling rapidly. Suddenly the Covenanters came to life and Joe Thompson, stellar player and captain of the team broke into the clear and was off for the touchdown that would have given the decision to Geneva. Apparently out of nowhere came an enemy, who tackled Joe and as quickly disappeared into the dark. The game was subsequently won by W. & J. but Genevans are constantly asking the question, "Who tackled Joe Thompson?"

This enthusiasm which the old timers are bringing back to the Geneva Campus plus the pep being generated by the current student body has strengthened the courage of the local team and they will be out to upset the pre-game dope tonight. With all the cripples in first class condition coach Beede will be able to present the strongest starting lineup of the season. The determination which has been manifested by the squad during the final days of practice this week is just proof that W. & J. will be in for a full evening of hard football.

Local W. & J. Alumni will have a special section of the stadium reserved for this encounter. The 60 piece W. & J. band will parade from their headquarters in the Brodhead Hotel to the field where they will entertain before the game and at half time. The parade is scheduled to start promptly at 7:00 p. m.

The starting lineups:—

SPEEDER IS FINED

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 19.—Henry K. Armstrong, 35, who gave his residence as New Castle, was fined $5 and costs by Municipal Judge H. C. Hoffman, for speeding.

Let your topcoat have plenty of style or let well enough alone.

Don't you realize that any good Indian blanket can keep you warm in a rumble seat and that if heat is all you're looking for, you can carry a hot water bottle to your next football game?

That topcoat of yours has got to have STYLE . . . tons of it . . . enough to make blonde heads turn . . . enough to make you feel that you've had your money's worth back the first week.

Here it is . . . in the fronts . . . the belts . . . the sweep to the skirt and the plaits in the back. These topcoats are loaded for bear with STYLE and they're gunning for the young men who demand it.

Minnesota Threatens for National Gridiron Honors

Fordham-St. Mary's Will Play At New York City, Michigan-Georgia Tech

INTERSECTIONAL GAMES FEATURE

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Intersectional football, a heady but dubious draught made up of two parts misinformation, one part misgiving and a dash of bitters, will have its big fling of the year tomorrow on a dozen fields throughout the land, with 300,000 reveling in the show. The headache will follow on Sunday.

Intersectional Games

To be exact, nobody knows anything about intersectional football, just as nobody knows, except for the vinegar, anything about the champagne cocktail. Anyhow, tomorrow will be visiting day among the best people, as the following list of ranking intersectional meetings will show:

Pittsburgh vs Minnesota at Pittsburgh; Fordham vs St. Mary's at New York; Ohio State vs Colgate at Columbus; Notre Dame vs Carnegie Tech at South Bend; Michigan vs Georgia Tech at Ann Arbor; Army vs Sewanee at West Point; Villanova vs Detroit at Philadelphia; Manhattan vs Michigan State at New York; Syracuse vs Ohio Wesleyan at Syracuse; Creighton vs Rice at Omaha.

U. S. C. Vs Oregon State

The west coast, certain sections of the east, the south, the south-west and Big Six will give the sectional angle a fairly heavy play, inspite of the visiting back and forth. The coast games of outstanding merit will involve California with U. C. L. A.; San Francisco with Stanford; U. S. C. with Oregon State and Idaho with Oregon. Also, a bit off the line, Denver with Utah. I'll take California, Stanford, U. S. C., Oregon and Utah. However, look out for an upset with Stanford. Not to change the subject too pointedly, I give Iowa State a chance against Iowa and Creighton a chance with Rice. The latter has been traveling about a little too much for its own good.

In the south, a few of the key games name Vanderbilt against Auburn; Tulane against Georgia and Duke against Davidson. The latter made it close against Duke last year but doesn't figure now. Vanderbilt against Auburn represents the top and bottom of the southeastern conference. I'll take the top. I'm funny that way. Tulane figures a little better than Georgia in the latter's first conference game.

Chicago And Indiana

In the southwest, the only conference game is Texas A. and M., vs Texas Christian, with the later looking the part of the only possible winner. In non-conference games, Southern Methodist ought to be better than Oklahoma A. and M. and Texas seems to have an edge on Centenary.

The Big Ten will feature unbeaten Chicago against Indiana and Purdue against Wisconsin. Wisconsin and Chicago look the part. In the Big Six, Kansas State plays Kansas and Oklahoma plays Nebraska and I don't know what to do about either ball game, except that I'll take Nebraska on general principles.

3,458 DEPORTEES

(International News Service)

NEW YORK—In the last twelve months 3,458 persons have been deported to their homelands via New York. Some of these were anxious to leave, and others left because the government was anxious that they live somewhere else. Some were criminals, some were deemed likely to become criminals and others were unable to support themselves.

The important question is not whether we are going Left but what will be left.

Dempsey Baby Girl Is Being Guarded

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Fear of kidnappers today led Jack Dempsey, ex-heavyweight champion and his wife, the former Hannah Williams to declare that their infant daughter, Jacqueline will not be exploited or publicized in any way.

Reporters and cameramen were stopped in their tracks when they sought an "interview" with the infant.

"Publication of photographs," declared Mrs. Dempsey, "might arouse the greed of a 'snatch syndicate', or might induce some moron to grab the baby."

Tubers To Meet Sharpsville Hi

ELLWOOD TO BE UNDERDOGS IN GAME

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 19—Coach "Ganzy" Benedict's Ellwood City gridders will take their third jaunt away from home Saturday afternoon when they invade Sharpsville for their sixth game of the season.

One of the greatest battles of the year is in prospect for the Benedictmen when they stack up against Sharpsville's powerful and high scoring machine. This is the only time since the New Castle game that the Blue and White is entering the game as the underdog. Due to the fact that Sharpsville's team is virtually the same which defeated the locals 6-0 last year, and to date have four victories and one tie, and an uncrossed goal line, it is no wonder that the Tubers with one victory, one defeat, and three ties, are installed as the underdog.

Coach Benedict and his assistant Mike Ferrare have been working hard all week with their proteges in devising a defense to stop Sharpsville's hard running backs, Covert, Lucas, Pasco and Johnson. Lucas and Johnson are the chief scoring threats, and have been running wild against their opponents. The locals have brushed up on their aerial game and hope to make more effective use of it than they have in the past. There seems to have been a marked improvement in their running attack this week. Considerable zest and determination was shown on the practice field. Much time has been spent with working on power plays and developing a scoring punch. The workouts this week have shown an improvement. The locals are determined to make this evident tomorrow. Coach Benedict will have his whole varsity squad available for the game.

Ellwood will be up against a tough proposition tomorrow. They will be up against an inspired and determined eleven. It is Home Coming Day for Sharpsville, at which time a new athletic field will be dedicated. The Sharpsville team will play like demons in order to make this occasion a memorable. And this can be done no other way, but by accomplishing a victory.

The Ellwood High school band will have an important part in the ceremonies of the day and are making the long trip upon special request of Sharpsville officials.

NEW CASTLE HIGH AND CLAIRTON TO PLAY SATURDAY

Class AA Teams Ready To Battle

Clairton High Will Bring Light And Fast Team, Game Starts At 2:30 P. M.

SATURDAY afternoon at 2:30 o'clock New Castle high school "Red Hurricane" football team will trot out on the greenward of Taggart stadium for a grid battle with a light and fast Clairton high eleven. It will be a Class AA conference engagement. New Castle high hopes to be able to chalk up the third major victory of the season. The gates will open at 1:30 p. m.

Locals Seek Victory

New Castle high, fresh from the 9 to 6 defeat of Washington high last week, will be rarin' to go tomorrow afternoon. The "jinx" has been chased. The defeat by Johnstown high has been forgotten.

Coach Phil Bridenbaugh does not contemplate any changes in the New Castle lineup for the Clairton game unless forced to do so by injuries. It is not likely that Frank Crisci, the right tackle, will be able to start, due to a bad leg, and if Crisci does not start, the assignment will fall to Fred Shellogg. Another doubtful starter is Cox, the big colored fullback, who may be replaced by Alex Shellogg.

Light And Fast

Clairton high will have a light and fast backfield composed of Pegrin, J. George, Lasch and Bailey. Coach Woodman has been training his boys diligently all week for the New Castle game and hopes to have them on edge for their most important battle.

The Clairton high band will accompany the team to New Castle and together with the great New Castle high band will furnish inspiring music for the fans before the game and during intermission at the first half.

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner has made an appeal to the fans to treat the Clairton visitors with courtesy. It is always a reflection on the town in the manner in which football crowds behave.

New Castle had very fine treatment at Washington last Saturday, why—because New Castle fans made the Washington fans feel at home when they played here last year. Give the Clairton team and crowd that follows them a big hearty welcome. Make them want to come back to New Castle.

The fans are asked to take notice of the starting time (2:30 p. m.) for the game. The Johnstown game was started at 3 o'clock, to accommodate the Johnstown fans.

In event of good weather the stands should be rather well packed tomorrow, as quite a number from Clairton will come to New Castle for the grid battle.

CROTON BUCS TO PLAY

The Croton Bucs will play the Wabash Bears Sunday at the Seventh ward field. Croton would like to play Pearson street, Long avenue, Dewey Avenue Stars and others. For games call 2578-J and ask either for Bill or Frank.

Ellwood Juniors Trip Washington

Ellwood City Junior High Football Team Hands Washington 6 To 0 Defeat

Ellwood City Junior High School football team handed the George Washington Junior High gridders a 6 to 0 defeat yesterday afternoon at the Washington High Field. A long forward pass to the Ellwood City right end in the second period gave the visitors their victory.

The Washington High team had the ball on the Ellwood City one-yard line three different times, but could not put it over for a touchdown.

Washington's next home game will be with Franklin High on Thursday afternoon, October 25.

Shenango-Bessemer In Battle Today

The county championship football title will be at stake today in the grid battle that is taking place at Bessemer High school athletic field.

The game got under way at 3 o'clock. Shenango high, with Coach Ed Raney at the helm, was confident of taking the measure of the Bessemerites. Coach Fredericks had the Bessemer high team on "edge" for the important contest.

NIGHT BATTLES WILL BE GOOD

All-American Halfback in 1932

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 19. — The football season swept into interesting, thrilling and difficult stages in Pennsylvania today.

On every hand we find coaches and experts with a pessimistic look and rather cautious about venturing predictions. It now is a case of "dog-eat-dog" because the day of the setup contests has passed. Teams now must stand or fall on their merits.

But these battles between teams more equal in strength and cunning are answers to sport fans' dreams. Now the enthusiastic fan can praise his idols, sing his Alma Mater, and give vent to those feelings which are most conspicuous during the gridiron season.

Good Games Tonight

Collegiate activities in Pennsylvania get off to a hilarious start tonight when the Haskell Indians, famous in days gone by and far from forgotten now, clash with Duquesne at Pittsburgh. The "Night Riders" of Duquesne are out for additional glory and the Indians seek more scalps. But the Haskells will fail to pin the Indian sign on the Dukes. It should be a good battle.

Seeking their second victory to balance the season's record, the Presidents of W. & J. oppose Geneva at Beaver Falls. Since a spectacular perrormance in the initial game against Carnegie Tech, the Covenanters have not been impressive. Tonight will be more than dark for them.

West Virginia-Temple

A hard-fighting group of huskies from West Virginia University defeated only once, will perform under the arc lights of Philadelphia against Temple. Although tied, the Temple gridders under (Pop) Warner have been undefeated this season. Power will meet power in the tussle that will be close, so close, in fact, that anybody's guess as to the victor is as good as mine.

Another neck and neck struggle takes place between Albright and Muhlenberg at Allentown. It is difficult to select he best here but I'm stringing along with Albright.

Pitt vs. Minnesota

The gridiron feast comes Saturday. It should be a banner day with the spotlight once again shining on Pittsburgh.

Here Pitt's Golden Panthers, aiming for an unblemished record and national honors, will be thrown against Minnesota. Both teams are undefeated and untied and on paper the Gophers appear to hold an edge. They offer a veteran team that beat Pitt last year and some of the country's best ball toters. I predict scoring by both teams and the gods of football will decide the classic.

After two dismal starts, Harvey Harmon's Pennsylvania cohorts ought to get going against Rutgers. The score will not be big but Penn should crash the winning column.

Villanova plays host to Detroit, a Michigan foe that outdistanced W. & J. But Harry Stuhldreher's boys are good and they are given the edge.

Tech vs. Notre Dame

Lacking the spark and fight of old, Howard Harpster's Carnegie Tech eleven faces the rejuvenated Notre Dame Ramblers at South Bend. Always a "jink" for the "Irish", the Tartans, even though inspired by the presence of Harpster, have a tough assignment. Tech uses the Notre Dame system but so did Purdue—unsuccessfully. I expect the Ramblers to display some of their dash of a by-gone day and win.

Bucknell goes into the anthracite region to battle St. Thomas at Scranton. The "Tommies" are good but Bucknell will flash too much power to be stopped.

Thiel-Westminster

Perhaps one of the best games along the eastern boundary line takes place when Lehigh and Penn State clash at Bethlehem. Although not the best in the country, both teams are strong and from past performances appear to be evenly matched. A tie would not surprise me.

The Thiel-Westminster tussle appears to be outstanding among the smaller colleges. Both have good teams and the game should be an important factor in deciding the unofficial winner of the Class B crown.

MALIZIA MIDGETS WIN

Grovers-Bethany Battle Saturday

Grove City Expects Tough Battle With Bethany Eleven, Is Second Game

GROVE CITY, Oct. 19.—The best Bethany team to face Grove City in more than a decade will furnish the competition for the Orangon here Saturday in the third game of the campaign, and Coach Bill Amos is freely predicting that his Grovers are due for their first defeat of the year.

Badly battered by a rugged Slippery Rock line last week, the Grovers have been handicapped preparing for Bethany. With Gross and Soich definitely on the bench, and many of the first-stringers nursing painful bruises. Amos has had to go easy this week, despite the necessity of improving the blocking. He has been grooming Hank Johns of Sharon for the right end job, replacing Soich, while Howard Wilson is to start at Gross' halfback post.

Grovers Have Edge

On the strength of the records, Grove City has been successful in winning over Bethany, rolling up a point total of 238 to 64, in winning eleven games and losing only three. In 1921 and 1922, Bethany defeated the Grovers by the same scores, 14-0, and back in 1914, topped Grove City by a 23-0 count. In 1923, Grove City turned the tables, 16-6, and repeated the following year, 13-0. No games were scheduled until 1930, when Grove City won, 48-0, and in '31 the victory went to the Grovers by the same score. In 1932, Grove City's victory was 26-0, and last fall, playing on the best football they presented during the entire 1933 season, Grove City won by a 38-0 score.

Coach John Knight has a big, veteran team this season, featuring Mel Mumper, 185-pound fullback. The team played Waynesburg on even terms last Saturday, but lost when Rabs Currie broke away for two touchdown runs. Grove City will be out-weighed, both in the line and backfield, and face a hard assignment in keeping the slate clean for the year.

Snyder Winner In Detroit Marathon

Alfred Snyder of New Castle, champion long distance runner, captured the 20 mile marathon at Detroit Tuesday finishing first in a field of 242 starters, among them the best in the United States. Snyder took the lead coming in the Grand River road and finished about one-quarter of a mile ahead of the field. Second place went to Percy Whyre of Canada.

The marathon ended in front of the Hotel Detroit-Leland at the AAU headquarters.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Del McCoy, 21, drove Mary Victoria to victory in the 2:22 pace at the Washington county fair track yesterday. The race went four heats, Mary Victoria taking the last two. It was McCoy's twenty-third win this season. Patricia Dean took the 2:16 trot. The time for both races were 2:15½ and 2:16, respectively.

As Pitt and Minnesota prepare for their game Saturday at Pittsburgh and many would hand the mythical title of the east to the Panthers, Coach Fritz Crisler of Princeton wants the awarding of any championships, real or mythical, held up until the fans see what the Tigers do.

Haskell Indians and Duquesne clash at Pittsburgh tonight. The kickoff will occur at 8:15 p. m. Duquesne will play without the services of Jim Fillingham, Charleroi. The lad's mother passed away Wednesday.

Scholastic difficulties and injuries will keep eight of the Butler high school varsity on the bench tomorrow when Beaver Falls plays Butler.

Bridging a gap of 42 years, Princeton and Pennsylvania will resume football relations in 1936, it was announced today.

Delaware still retains the whipping post.

Thiel-Westminster Battle On Saturday At New Wilmington

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Oct. 19.—Western Pennsylvania's small-college football classic takes place here tomorrow when Coach Jack Stoeber's Thiel college eleven clashes with Coach Bill Gilbane's Westminster college team in a feature of the Westminster alumni homecoming day.

The Lutherans have been the sensation of the district since their stinging defeat of a favored Geneva team two weks ago, and on paper are favored to win the classic and thus push themselves one more notch closer to the district title. The Titans, on the other hand, have come through four games, two of which have been with larger foes, and feel that the experience will aid them in stopping Thiel.

See Huge Crowd.

Advance indications late Thursday were that more than 1500 alumni and former students, 200 Thiel students, and a large crowd of fans from Lawrence and Mercer counties would be on hand for the game, which begins at 2:30. Westminster's five fraternities and seven sororities are all having special luncheons and dinners to honor alumni.

Coaches Bill and Tom Gilbane will probably shuffle the lineup somewhat for the important contest, probably starting Bob Arrowsmith at quarter, with Dave Mintz ready to enter at the signal-calling berth when needed. Ray Sweeney and Jack Laraway will probably be at left and right halfback, and Bill Staples will be at fullback.

In place of Dudley, stellar guard, who broke his leg in the Holbrook game last Saturday, Coach Jack Stoeber of Thiel will start Gazetos, a veteran 190-pounder. The other Thiel linemen, with the exception of Casey and C. Snyder, two frosh, are all veterans.

Star Wingman.

Strimer, Thiel right end, is one of the best wingmen in the district and will have to be watched closely by the Titans. The Thiel backfield, with E. Snyder at quarter, Tomechko at left half, Stanford at right half and Clark at fullback, is one of the best balanced set of ball carriers among the smaller colleges.

Bunny Austen and Dick Watt will probably get the call to start at end for Westminster, although Bim Strasberg will certainly be in the game before it is over. Red Wilson, Sharon product, will also see action at the terminal.

Lou Franklin, shifted from center, will probably be at a tackle along with Merrill Straw or Bob Harder. Bob Scarbrough or Don Helmick will play center. Hal Burry and Walt Young have the starting guard assignments for the Titans.

Lineups:

Westminster		Thiel
Watt	L E.	Ruehle
Franklin	L T.	Casey
Young	L G.	George
Helmick	C	Selberling
Burry	R G.	Gazetos
Straw	R T.	Snyder
Austen	R E.	Strimer
Arrowsmith	Q B.	E. Snyder
Sweeney	L H.	Tomechko
Laraway	R H.	Stanford
Staples	F B.	Clark

Referee—William C. Evans, Lebanon Valley; Umpire, Dr. A. A. Cutler, Pitt. Linesman, E. A. Stahl, Pitt. Game starts at 2:30.

Union And Mars Playing Today

Shortly after 2:30 o'clock this afternoon the Union High School football team and Mars High gridders started their annual battle at the new Union High athletic field adjoining the Union school. Coach Davey Boyd had the Unionites on their toes for a good showing today against the Butler countains.

Mars High lost to Union last year 7 to 0 and were here today to try and get revenge.

Geneva Meets W. & J. Tonight

Homecoming Game Brings Recollections Of Memorable Battle 26 Years Ago

GAME SCHEDULED IN REEVES STADIUM

(Special To The News)

BEAVER FALLS, Oct. 19.—In renewing football relationships with W. & J. on Geneva's Homecoming Day the time worn question of "Who tackled Joe Thompson" is again being brought into circulation. It seems that 26 years ago a powerful Geneva team accompanied by a special train of Geneva rooters paid a visit to the W. & J. stronghold to engage in a friendly game of football. The train was delayed enroute and the game was not started until late afternoon. It appeared as if W. & J. had the better part of the scoring argument until almost time for the final whistle. Identification of the players was very difficult and night was falling rapidly. Suddenly the Covenanters came to life and Joe Thompson, stellar player and captain of the team broke into the clear and was off for the touchdown that would have given the decision to Geneva. Apparently out of nowhere came an enemy, who tackled Joe and as quickly disappeared into the dark. The game was subsequently won by W. & J. but Genevans are constantly asking the question, "Who tackled Joe Thompson?"

This enthusiasm which the old timers are bringing back to the Geneva Campus plus the pep being generated by the current student body has strengthened the courage of the local team and they will be out to upset the pre-game dope tonight. With all the cripples in first class condition coach Beede will be able to present the strongest starting lineup of the season. The determination which has been manifested by the squad during the final days of practice this week is just proof that W. & J. will be in for a full evening of hard football.

Local W. & J. Alumni will have a special section of the stadium reserved for this encounter. The 60 piece W. & J. band will parade from their headquarters in the Brodhead Hotel to the field where they will entertain before the game and at half time. The parade is scheduled to start promptly at 7:00 p. m.

The starting lineups:

SPEEDER IS FINED

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 19.—Henry K. Armstrong, 35, who gave his residence as New Castle, was fined $5 and costs by Municipal Judge H. C. Hoffman, for speeding.

Let your topcoat have plenty of style or let well enough alone.

Don't you realize that any good Indian blanket can keep you warm in a rumble seat and that if heat is all you're looking for, you can carry a hot water bottle to your next football game?

That topcoat of yours has got to have STYLE . . . tons of it . . . enough to make blonde heads turn . . . enough to make you feel that you've had your money's worth back the first week.

Here it is . . . in the fronts . . . the belts . . . the sweep to the skirt and the plaits in the back. These topcoats are loaded for bear with STYLE and they're gunning for the young men who demand it.

Minnesota Threatens for National Gridiron Honors

Factors in Minnesota's powerful football force which threatened to win national gridiron honors after early season victories, are pictured. Francis "Pug" Lund, sensational backfield star, is the fellow who seems to be kicking. Art Clarkson, about to pass, can toss the football with either hand or kick it with either foot. Glenn Seidel, below, is quarterback of the Gopher juggernaut.

Fordham-St. Mary's Will Play At New York City, Michigan-Georgia Tech

INTERSECTIONAL GAMES FEATURE

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Intersectional football, a heady but dubious draught made up of two parts misinformation, one part misgiving and a dash of bitters, will have its big fling of the year tomorrow on a dozen fields throughout the land, with 300,000 reveling in the show. The headache will follow on Sunday.

Intersectional Games

To be exact, nobody knows anything about intersectional football, just as nobody knows, except for the vinegar, anything about the champagne cocktail. Anyhow, tomorrow will be visiting day among the best people, as the following list of ranking intersectional meetings will show:

Pittsburgh vs Minnesota at Pittsburgh; Fordham vs St. Mary's at New York; Ohio State vs Colgate at Columbus; Notre Dame vs Carnegie Tech, at South Bend; Michigan vs Georgia Tech at Ann Arbor; Army vs Sewanee at West Point; Villanova vs Detroit at Philadelphia; Manhattan vs Michigan State at New York; Syracuse vs Ohio Wesleyan at Syracuse; Creighton vs Rice at Omaha.

U. S. C. Vs Oregon State

The west coast, certain sections of the east, the south, the south-west and Big Six will give the sectional angle a fairly heavy play, inspite of the visiting back and forth. The coast games of outstanding merit will involve California with U. C. L. A.; San Francisco with Stanford; U. S. C. with Oregon State and Idaho with Oregon. Also, a bit off the line, Denver with Utah. I'll take California, Stanford, U. S. C., Oregon and Utah. However, look out for an upset with Stanford. Not to change the subject too pointedly, I give Iowa State a chance against Iowa and Creighton a chance with Rice. The latter has been traveling about a little too much for its own good.

In the south, a few of the key games name Vanderbilt against Auburn; Tulane against Georgia and Duke against Davidson. The latter made it close against Duke last year but doesn't figure now. Vanderbilt against Auburn represents the top and bottom of the southeastern conference. I'll take the top. I'm funny that way. Tulane figures a little better than Georgia in the latter's first conference game.

Chicago And Indiana

In the southwest, the only conference game is Texas A. and M., vs Texas Christian, with the later looking the part of the only possible winner. In non-conference games, Southern Methodist ought to be better than Oklahoma A. and M. and Texas seems to have an edge on Centenary.

The Big Ten will feature unbeaten Chicago against Indiana and Purdue against Wisconsin. Wisconsin and Chicago look the part. In the Big Six, Kansas State plays Kansas and Oklahoma plays Nebraska and I don't know what to do about either ball game, except that I'll take Nebraska on general principles.

3,458 DEPORTEES

(International News Service)

NEW YORK—In the last twelve months 3,458 persons have been deported to their homelands via New York. Some of these were anxious to leave, and others left because the government was anxious that they live somewhere else. Some were criminals, some were deemed likely to become criminals and others were unable to support themselves.

The important question is not whether we are going Left but what will be left.

Dempsey Baby Girl Is Being Guarded

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Fear of kidnappers today led Jack Dempsey, ex-heavyweight champion and his wife, the former Hannah Williams to declare that their infant daughter, Jacqueline will not be exploited or publicized in any way.

Reporters and cameramen were stopped in their tracks when they sought an "interview" with the infant.

"Publication of photographs," declared Mrs. Dempsey, "might arouse the greed of a 'snatch syndicate', or might induce some moron to grab the baby."

Tubers To Meet Sharpsville Hi

ELLWOOD TO BE UNDERDOGS IN GAME

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 19—Coach "Ganzy" Benedict's Ellwood City gridders will take their third jaunt away from home Saturday afternoon when they invade Sharpsville for their sixth game of the season.

One of the greatest battles of the year is in prospect for the Benedictmen when they stack up against Sharpsville's powerful and high scoring machine. This is the only time since the New Castle game that the Blue and White is entering the game as the underdog. Due to the fact that Sharpsville's team is virtually the same which defeated the locals 6-0 last year, and to date have four victories and one tie, and an uncrossed goal line, it is no wonder that the Tubers with one victory, one defeat, and three ties, are installed as the underdog.

Coach Benedict and his assistant Mike Ferrare have been working hard all week with their proteges in devising a defense to stop Sharpsville's hard running backs, Covert, Lucas, Pasco and Johnson. Lucas and Johnson are the chief scoring threats, and have been running wild against their opponents. The locals have brushed up on their aerial game and hope to make more effective use of it than they have in the past. There seems to have been a marked improvement in their running attack this week. Considerable zest and determination was shown on the practice field. Much time has been spent with working on power plays and developing a scoring punch. The workouts this week have shown an improvement. The locals are determined to make this evident tomorrow. Coach Benedict will have his whole varsity squad available for the game.

Ellwood will be up against a tough proposition tomorrow. They will be up against an inspired and determined eleven. It is Home Coming Day for Sharpsville, at which time a new athletic field will be dedicated. The Sharpsville team will play like demons in order to make this occasion a memorable. And this can be done no other way, but by accomplishing a victory.

The Ellwood High school band will have an important part in the ceremonies of the day and are making the long trip upon special request of Sharpsville officials.

Probable line-up:

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Stocks drifted lower today with losses running to more than a point. Trading, however, continued light.

All sections of the list were depressed.

Oil stocks were firmer today with a number of fractional gains in evidence. The better tone in the oils came in the face of further gasoline price cuts.

American Can lost more than a point at the start and showed no particular rallying power. This had an adversed influence in the other industrial shares. United States Steel held steady around yesterday's closing levels.

Railroads were mixed with New York Central slightly higher Trading in the carrier shares was comparatively small.

Weakness in the grain markets unsettled the farm implement shares where International Harvester, a favorite earlier in the week sold down about half a point. J. I. Case and Deere & Co., also worked lower.

Utilities were quiet as were aviations, chemicals and specialties.

In the commodity markets wheat ruled lower while cotton was steady slightly above yesterday's close.

Body Of Baby Is Found In Plaster

New York Police Seek To Solve Crime That Is 20 Years Old

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Police were hopeful today they would be able to brush aside the mists of time and solve the death of a three-day-old baby twenty years ago.

With microscope, X-ray and other modern equipment, police department experts sought to determine whether the hands of a stranger or natural causes killed the infant before it was entombed in the plaster of the ceiling of a Brooklyn tenement.

Two theories presented themselves concerning the baby's death.

Probe Two Angles

One was that the child was born to an unwed mother, driven frantic by fear of ostracism and contempt, she may have killed the baby, perhaps by fracturing its tiny neck. Then perhaps, she may have wrapped the body in towels and brown paper, stuffed the corpse into a small cardboard box and placed it in the makeshift mausoleum of plaster and wood.

The second theory is that the baby was born dead. Temporarily demented by grief, the mother may have kept the body in the apartment in hysterical rebellion at parting with the child.

The skeleton was found by two boys making alterations in the house.

When Ohio Beauty Won "Miss America" Title Twice in Successive Years at Atlantic City

TO WIN a national beauty contest is quite an honor, but to win the same honor twice in successive years is rare, indeed. The only girl to be crowned queen of beauty as "Miss America" twice at the Atlantic City competition was Mary Catherine Campbell, of Columbus, O., who won the title in 1922 and 1923. Miss Campbell was sixteen when she copped the title the first time as "Miss Columbus". She was regarded as nearly perfect in development and form, having well-chiseled features, a fair complexion and an abundance of long, golden-brown unbobbed hair. She was five feet six inches in height.

Photographer found (1) Princess Hohenlohe; (2) Natnan Burkan; (3) Mrs. Reginald Claypoole Vanderbilt; (4) Harry Hays Morgan, Jr.; (5) Prince Hohenlohe, and (6) Lady Furness, intimate friend of the Prince of Wales, lunching in a "sword swallowers'" lunchroom near the courthouse. Prince Hohenlohe hurried to U. S. from Europe with his wife to deny stories of misconduct with Mrs. Vanderbilt told by servants. Mr. Morgan and Lady Furness are brother and sister of Mrs. Vanderbilt. (Central Press)

Stock Market Drifts Lower

Trading In New York Market Continues Light This Morning

GRAIN MARKET SHOWS WEAKNESS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Stocks drifted lower today with losses running to more than a point. Trading, however, continued light.

All sections of the list were depressed.

Oil stocks were firmer today with a number of fractional gains in evidence. The better tone in the oils came in the face of further gasoline price cuts.

American Can lost more than a point at the start and showed no particular rallying power. This had an adversed influence in the other industrial shares. United States Steel held steady around yesterday's closing levels.

Railroads were mixed with New York Central slightly higher Trading in the carrier shares was comparatively small.

Weakness in the grain markets unsettled the farm implement shares where International Harvester, a favorite earlier in the week sold down about half a point. J. I. Case and Deere & Co., also worked lower.

Utilities were quiet as were aviations, chemicals and specialties.

In the commodity markets wheat ruled lower while cotton was steady slightly above yesterday's close.

Ample Birds For Hunters This Season

Seventeen Thousand Shipped From Game Farm —Lawrence County Gets 900

PHEASANT SEASON OPENS NOVEMBER 1

When the dawn of November 1 comes to pass thousands of Pennsylvania nimrods will aim their thimble rods at ringnecked pheasants and shoot to kill. As for the pheasants it will be a case of survival the fleetest from that morning on through the bird season.

If a big pheasant kill isn't made it will not be because the Pennsylvania woods aren't well stocked. From the Jordan State Game Farm alone (Harlansburg) over 19,000 ringnecks were raised this year and 17,000 have been shipped out and released in 28 counties of Western Pennsylvania.

900 Released Here.

Lawrence county has a nice little pheasant family of its own. Game Warden Frank Coen was given a splendid allotment of 750 young birds which he released in various parts of the county during the past several months. These were in addition to the mature birds which were released here last winter and early in the spring. All in all there are nearly 900 pheasants in Lawrence county now that were not here last year.

Superintendent V. T. Warfel, of the Jordan state game farm, did a splendid job in handling the farm this year and was able to ship out an unprecedented crop of eggs and game. The thousands upon thousands of eggs were wrapped and crated out to sportsmen and game wardens during the laying season. It is probable that the largest percentage of these eggs were hatched and the birds released when hardy enough to take care of themselves.

Shipping Completed.

As far as the game farm is concerned the 1934 pheasant season is ended. Everything is now up to the hunters. However, Mr. Warfel and his men are already preparing for a bumper 1935 crop. Brooders are being cleaned out, incubators put in shape, and so on. The farm is not entirely devoid of feathered population for 3,000 ringnecks, 150 Reeves, 80 Mallard ducks and 30 or 40 fancy pheasants and some American woodcocks have board and pens reserved for the winter months.

Most of the ringnecks are being kept for the practical purpose of producing next spring's pheasant peeps. Of this number 2,000 are this year's upstarts while the remainder are two year olds. It has been discovered by game experts that the two and three year old hens lay better than the younger hens and that they produce a hardier stock of chicks.

Seventeen hundred of those at the farm are hens, 1300 males. In the late winter 1,300 hens and only 300 males will be selected for use as breeders and the balance will be released in the woods for restocking. Since there will be open season on male birds this hunting season restocking will be necessary.

The 30 Mallard ducks, (whose ancestors came to the game farm on their own hook several years ago), are contentedly nestling on the farm's artificial lake and are raising large families. Many of which Mr. Warfel and his men transplant to other lake districts. The fany pheasants and the American woodcocks are kept at the farm for display purposes only.

WHITE HOSIERY

Cold water and white suds and a dark place to dry means keeping the white silk stockings really white. They are so ugly when yellowed and this precaution should be taken. If washed after each wearing it is not difficult to get the soil out with colder water.

Of the 10 or 12 species of geese occurring in the United States, all but two or three breed in the far north and are migrants and winter visitants south of Canada.

That is, things made in Japan are cheaper if you don't count the cost of feeding jobless Americans.

New Castle Minister Heartily Commends "Green Pastures"

Here is what the minister of Trinity Episcopal church has to say of "The Green Pastures," the Pulitzer Prize Play, that is coming to the Cathedral next Monday night:

"Humor and pathos interwoven, sustained interest, a telling climax which appeals to the best in man, a faithful presentation of the simple but powerful faith of a people unite to make "The Green Pastures" the greatest modern religious drama. All Jewish people, Roman Catholics, and Protestants can enjoy it. Rabbi Katz, his Eminence, Cardinal Hayes, the Rev. Dr. Cadman and a host of others have delighted to commend it. Finished acting by Mr. Harrison and his people, modern scenic effects, and the beautiful unaccompanied rendition of the negro spirituals by the only company that has ever presented "The Green Pastures" may be seen in New Castle at the Scottish Rite Cathedral, Monday, Oct. 22d, 8:00 p. m. The undersigned has seen it, read the play, tried to understand it sympathetically, and most heartily commends it to all. It is a fine thing for our whole district to have it brought to New Castle. An amusing, a delightful, and a profitable evening is in store for all who will use this unique opportunity."

Ample Birds For Hunters This Season

Seventeen Thousand Shipped From Game Farm —Lawrence County Gets 900

PHEASANT SEASON OPENS NOVEMBER 1

When the dawn of November 1 comes to pass thousands of Pennsylvania nimrods will aim their nimble rods at ringnecked pheasants and shoot to kill. As for the pheasants it will be a case of survival the fleetest from that morning on through the bird season.

If a big pheasant kill isn't made it will not be because the Pennsylvania woods aren't well stocked. From the Jordan State Game Farm alone (Harlansburg) over 19,000 ringnecks were raised this year and 17,000 have been shipped out and released in 28 counties of Western Pennsylvania.

900 Released Here.

Lawrence county has a nice little pheasant family of its own. Game Warden Frank Coen was given a splendid allotment of 750 young birds which he released in various parts of the county during the past several months. These were in addition to the mature birds which were released here last winter and early in the spring. All in all there are nearly 900 pheasants in Lawrence county now that were not here last year.

Superintendent V. T. Warfel, of the Jordan state game farm, did a splendid job in handling the farm this year and was able to ship out an unprecedented crop of eggs and game. The thousands upon thousands of eggs were wrapped and crated out to sportsmen and game wardens during the laying season. It is probable that the largest percentage of these eggs were hatched and the birds released when hardy enough to take care of themselves.

Shipping Completed.

As far as the game farm is concerned the 1934 pheasant season is ended. Everything is now up to the hunters. However, Mr. Warfel and his men are already preparing for a bumper 1935 crop. Brooders are being cleaned out, incubators put in shape, and so on. The farm is not entirely devoid of feathered population for 3,000 ringnecks, 150 Reeves, 80 Mallard ducks and 30 or 40 fancy pheasants and some American woodcocks have board and pens reserved for the winter months.

Most of the ringnecks are being kept for the practical purpose of producing next spring's pheasant peeps. Of this number 2,000 are this year's upstarts while the remainder are two year olds. Stock Market Drifts Lower

Trading In New York Market Continues Light This Morning

GRAIN MARKET SHOWS WEAKNESS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Stocks drifted lower today with losses running to more than a point. Trading, however, continued light.

All sections of the list were depressed.

Oil stocks were firmer today with a number of fractional gains in evidence. The better tone in the oils came in the face of further gasoline price cuts.

American Can lost more than a point at the start and showed no particular rallying power. This had an adversed influence in the other industrial shares. United States Steel held steady around yesterday's closing levels.

Railroads were mixed with New York Central slightly higher Trading in the carrier shares was comparatively small.

Weakness in the grain markets unsettled the farm implement shares where International Harvester, a favorite earlier in the week sold down about half a point. J. I. Case and Deere & Co., also worked lower.

Utilities were quiet as were aviations, chemicals and specialties.

In the commodity markets wheat ruled lower while cotton was steady slightly above yesterday's close.

When your hollyhocks have flourished their last bloom on the stalk, cut the plant back, leaving only three or four healthy leaves. This will often cause the plant to stool out at the bottom, forming plants several feet away that will furnish flowers the following years.

Body Of Baby Is Found In Plaster

New York Police Seek To Solve Crime That Is 20 Years Old

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Police were hopeful today they would be able to brush aside the mists of time and solve the death of a three-day-old baby twenty years ago.

With microscope, X-ray and other modern equipment, police department experts sought to determine whether the hands of a stranger or natural causes killed the infant before it was entombed in the plaster of the ceiling of a Brooklyn tenement.

Two theories presented themselves concerning the baby's death.

Probe Two Angles

One was that the child was born to an unwed mother, driven frantic by fear of ostracism and contempt, she may have killed the baby, perhaps by fracturing its tiny neck. Then perhaps, she may have wrapped the body in towels and brown paper, stuffed the corpse into a small cardboard box and placed it in the makeshift mausoleum of plaster and wood.

The second theory is that the baby was born dead. Temporarily demented by grief, the mother may have kept the body in the apartment in hysterical rebellion at parting with the child.

The skeleton was found by two boys making alterations in the house.

When Ohio Beauty Won "Miss America" Title Twice in Successive Years at Atlantic City

TO WIN a national beauty contest is quite an honor, but to win the same honor twice in successive years is rare, indeed. The only girl to be crowned queen of beauty as "Miss America" twice at the Atlantic City competition was Mary Catherine Campbell, of Columbus, O., who won the title in 1922 and 1923. Miss Campbell was sixteen when she copped the title the first time as "Miss Columbus". She was regarded as nearly perfect in development and form, having well-chiseled features, a fair complexion and an abundance of long, golden-brown unbobbed hair. She was five feet six inches in height.

Vanderbilts and Royalty in Goulash Cafe

Photographer found (1) Princess Hohenlohe; (2) Nathan Burkan; (3) Mrs. Reginald Claypoole Vanderbilt; (4) Harry Hays Morgan, Jr.; (5) Prince Hohenlohe, and (6) Lady Furness, intimate friend of the Prince of Wales, lunching in a "sword swallowers'" luncheon near the courthouse. Ample Birds For Hunters This Season

PHEASANT SEASON OPENS NOVEMBER 1

When the dawn of November 1 comes to pass thousands of Pennsylvania nimrods will aim their nimble rods at ringnecked pheasants and shoot to kill. As for the pheasants it will be a case of survival the fleetest from that morning on through the bird season.

If a big pheasant kill isn't made it will not be because the Pennsylvania woods aren't well stocked. From the Jordan State Game Farm alone (Harlansburg) over 19,000 ringnecks were raised this year and 17,000 have been shipped out and released in 28 counties of Western Pennsylvania.

900 Released Here.

Lawrence county has a nice little pheasant family of its own. Game Warden Frank Coen was given a splendid allotment of 750 young birds which he released in various parts of the county during the past several months. These were in addition to the mature birds which were released here last winter and early in the spring. All in all there are nearly 900 pheasants in Lawrence county now that were not here last year.

Superintendent V. T. Warfel, of the Jordan state game farm, did a splendid job in handling the farm this year and was able to ship out an unprecedented crop of eggs and game. The thousands upon thousands of eggs were wrapped and crated out to sportsmen and game wardens during the laying season. It is probable that the largest percentage of these eggs were hatched and the birds released when hardy enough to take care of themselves.

Shipping Completed.

As far as the game farm is concerned the 1934 pheasant season is ended. Everything is now up to the hunters. However, Mr. Warfel and his men are already preparing for a bumper 1935 crop. Brooders are being cleaned out, incubators put in shape, and so on. The farm is not entirely devoid of feathered population for 3,000 ringnecks, 150 Reeves, 30 Mallard ducks and 30 or 40 fancy pheasants and some American woodcocks have board and pens reserved for the winter months.

Most of the ringnecks are being kept for the practical purpose of producing next spring's pheasant peeps. Of this number 2,000 are this year's upstarts while the remainder are two year olds. It has been discovered by game experts that the two and three year old hens lay better than the younger hens and that they produce a hardier stock of chicks.

Seventeen hundred of those at the farm are hens, 1300 males. In the late winter 1,300 hens and only 300 males will be selected for use as breeders and the balance will be released in the woods for restocking. Since there will be open season on male birds this hunting season restocking will be necessary.

The 30 Mallard ducks, (whose ancestors came to the game farm on their own hook several years ago), are contentedly nestling on the farm's artificial lake and are raising large families. Many of which Mr. Warfel and his men transplant to other lake districts. The fany pheasants and the American woodcocks are kept at the farm for display purposes only.

WHITE HOSIERY

Cold water and white suds and a dark place to dry means keeping the white silk stockings really white. They are so ugly when yellowed and this precaution should be taken. If washed after each wearing it is not difficult to get the soil out with colder water.

Of the 10 or 12 species of geese occurring in the United States, all but two or three breed in the far north and are migrants and winter visitants south of Canada.

That is, things made in Japan are cheaper if you don't count the cost of feeding jobless Americans.

New Castle Minister Heartily Commends "Green Pastures"

Here is what the minister of Trinity Episcopal church has to say of "The Green Pastures," the Pulitzer Prize Play, that is coming to the Cathedral next Monday night:

"Humor and pathos interwoven, sustained interest, a telling climax which appeals to the best in man, a faithful presentation of the simple but powerful faith of a people unite to make "The Green Pastures" the greatest modern religious drama. All Jewish people, Roman Catholics, and Protestants can enjoy it. Rabbi Katz, his Eminence, Cardinal Hayes, the Rev. Dr. Cadman and a host of others have delighted to commend it. Finished acting by Mr. Harrison and his people, modern scenic effects, and the beautiful unaccompanied rendition of the negro spirituals by the only company that has ever presented "The Green Pastures" may be seen in New Castle at the Scottish Rite Cathedral, Monday, Oct. 22d, 8:00 p. m. The undersigned has seen it, read the play, tried to understand it sympathetically, and most heartily commends it to all. It is a fine thing for our whole district to have it brought to New Castle. An amusing, a delightful, and a profitable evening is in store for all who will use this unique opportunity."
